Disappointment of Mothers With Sons on Battlelines Pathetic to See When Public Learned It Was Buncoed

Secretary Lansing Disregarded Despite the repeated protests of Washington and bonafide dispatches from London and Paris, the sensation-seeking paper continued to run off edition after edition with flaring headlines

Pathos in Disappointment There was a pathetic side to the impromptu celebration. Hundreds of mothers whose sons are valiantly fighting for their country and whose brave deeds by day and night steadily are forcing the barbarian to his knees and inspiring peace within a short time gave thanks to heaven for the cessation of hostilities.

Thousands of dollars were lost by Harrisburg businessmen. Shop after shop was emptied of patrons and in many cases the clerks were dismissed so that they might participate in the demonstration.

The Harrisburg Telegraph printed as rapidly as possible editions containing authorized statements showing the falsity of the peace rumors.

A Yellow Journal Hoax

THE outrageous peace report hoax perpetrated upon the public by the McCormick evening newspaper in Harrisburg and other newspapers of the yellow Hearst type throughout the country was based upon dispatches of the United Press, a news jobbing association, the reliability of which has been frequently in question.

The Harrisburg Telegraph gave the people the truth. The Telegraph is served by The Associated Press—the oldest, largest and most reliable news-gathering association in the world.

PARIS WILD WITH JOY OVER FALL OF SEDAN

Thronging Cafes, Crowds Sing the "Marseillaise;" Drink to Eternal France, the Allies, Clemenceau and Foch

Paris, Nov. 8.—One hundred days ago the Germans were thirty-five miles from Paris. To-day they are begging peace. The conviction is universal that, whether the German delegation signs articles of capitulation or not, Germany is beaten.

The Allied advance, particularly the exploit of the Americans in capturing Sedan, shows clearly that continuation of hostilities by Germany can lead only to a military debacle in the near future.

Last night the people crowded the newspaper bulletin boards until a late hour, undiscouraged by the rain. When the news of Sedan was flashed there was an outburst of cheers. Joy and enthusiasm increased as yesterday waned.
