

DEPOSED CHARLES FEARS BOLSHIEVIKISM WILL STALK IN WAKE OF FOOL FAMINE

Former Emperor Calls on America to Help Austrian People

FAITHFUL FEW WITH EX-RULER

Surroundings Are Like Pennsylvania Dutch Communities

Vienna, Nov. 25.—Declaring there is pressing need in Austria for assistance from America and the Allies, former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary insisted yesterday that the danger of Bolshevism is very great in his country.

The former emperor, his wife and five children are at Eckertsau Castle. With them are a few faithful men and women, including Count Alexander Esterhazy, former chief of court to the emperor and Naval Captain Seedorf.

The correspondent then was permitted to motor some 25 miles to the castle which is located in the center of a vast plain devoted to farming.

Eckertsau Castle is constructed of stone and is surrounded by trees. It is guarded by a few soldiers, although there are scarcely any sentinels.

As the correspondent entered the gates he was met by Captain Seedorf and conducted through a lofty hall to the second story of the castle, where he was received by Emperor Charles.

Charles, the former emperor, wears a general's uniform and apparently was in good health. He appeared to feel keenly the great misfortune which has befallen his country.

During the war one of my preoccupations was the task of obtaining food for the soldiers and people, but now, notwithstanding all my efforts, it is most distressing to find there is no food left for them.

"We have done our best, and more cannot be done if food and coal is not brought, and the situation is desperate in Vienna. Possibly that disaster from Russia which we call Bolshevism, will bring us relief, but when anyone is without food he is apt to do many unusual and violent things.
