

LOOK FOR ORDERS FROM RAILROADS

Steel Mills Place Hope for Future in Rail Business

New York, Feb. 17.—Conditions in the steel industry were considered improved last week principally because of announcements indicating that large orders for rails are pending from the railroad administration for the carriers under government control. The immediate needs of the carriers are estimated at 1,100,000 tons. Orders ranging from 500,000 to 1,000,000 tons are anticipated in the trade. Back work on 20,000 railroad cars has been ordered resumed with the result that greater activity will be seen in the railway supply industry. Sheets are in brisk demand as are tinplates. Contracts will be awarded next Tuesday by the Navy Department on bids submitted by leading companies covering equipment for the construction of new battleships. An order for 42 locomotives for shipment on account of foreign interests was reported during the week. Exports of iron and steel for the calendar year, 1918, reached a total of $1,036,022,355, against $1,241,960,102 in 1917. Continued dull conditions prevail in the pig iron market. Some slight export tonnages have been placed by foreign interests. Reductions amounting roughly to 15 per cent. have been announced in bar iron. It is anticipated that employees' wages will be correspondingly affected.

WALLACE NAMED ENVOY TO FRANCE

President Announces Choice of Sharp's Successor from Ship at Sea

On Board the U. S. S. George Washington, Feb. 17.—President Wilson has nominated Hugh C. Wallace as ambassador to France, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Graves Sharp.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Hugh Wallace has been a personal friend of President Wilson for a considerable time, and has made a close study of the international situation since the outbreak of the European war. He was in England soon after the war started in 1914, and was in consultation with Ambassador Page. Mr. Wallace also is an intimate friend of Colonel Edward M. House, a member of the American Peace Commission.

At the time the British mission, headed by A. J. Balfour, British Foreign Secretary, came to this country, soon after America entered the war, Mr. Wallace gave a private dinner for the members of the mission at his home, 1800 Massachusetts Avenue. Secretary of State Lansing and other prominent officials of the State Department were there, and it is said in official circles in Washington that many phases of the delicate situation were there discussed.

Since America's entry into the war Mr. Wallace has, it is said, been making a quiet study of international problems and has acquainted himself with the President's plans and the situation which would be faced in Europe after the war.

Disabled Soldiers To Be Trained for "Farm Mechanic"

Washington, Feb. 17.—A new profession, that of "farm mechanic" will be an outcome of the world war in the belief of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, which now is preparing to train disabled soldiers for such work.

With the scarcity of labor on the farms, the board believes there will be more extensive use in the future of farm machinery and the soldiers will be trained to handle and repair tractors and all other farm machinery.

Health Insurance Urged as Leading Reconstruction Need

New York, Feb. 17.—Health insurance laws to provide medical and cash benefits for sick wage earners and their families, and to stimulate measures of prevention, are urged as a foremost social and industrial need in the United States in the first number of a special bulletin on "Labor Laws in Reconstruction," issued today by the American Association for Labor Legislation.

"Health insurance loans," it is declared, "will remove the great fear of sickness just as workmen's compensation has gone far to banish the fear of industrial accident."

Early enactment of health insurance is urged in the bulletin by representative public officials and prominent spokesmen for employers, organized labor and the medical profession.

Alexander Lambert, president-elect of the American Medical Association, declares that "everything I have observed or learned in Europe during the past year as medical director for the Red Cross has strengthened my belief in the possibilities of health insurance for this country."

and shipping interests of Great Britain and other foreign interests will receive the same privilege from their Governments and trade schedules will be announced soon.

The agreement carries with it resumption of trade relations with Turkey and Bulgaria, with Great Britain and the allied nations of Europe are still theoretically at least, at war. It also has the effect, the importance of which pointed to as not to be overlooked, of aiding in the relief of the millions and the peoples of Russia.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The Dardanelles were thrown open to American trade interests Saturday for the first time since the world war began by action of the War Trade Board, following cable advice that an agreement had been reached by the Supreme Economic Council in Paris, which would make such a step possible without destroying the effectiveness of the blockade of the Central Powers. It is understood here that the trade
