

SENSATIONAL VICTORY OVER LEBANON KEEPS TECH IN RACE FOR BASKETBALL PENNANT

Tom Marshall Pays Tribute to Roosevelt, the Sportsman

In the sport world, in the passing of Theodore Roosevelt has lost an enthusiastic, endorsing and promoting friend. He was an advocate of clean, manly sports, especially this apply to the athletic of all kinds. He was manly happy, when occupying a side seat or when engaged in a fight about demonstrating the art of defense with him it was a give take proposition, accepting and giving out the best he had in the box. Most selected boxer was the one who he selected as his adversary; he was disposed to offer match himself as in a social boxing instruction. Donaldson, a noted boxing instructor, he lost the sight of one eye, but his youth he of necessity espoused the sport in almost every line, thus crossing into a robust preference of good, by attention to outdoor athletics. Tennis was one sport upon which he specialized. When President Roosevelt's "Tennis Cabinet" at the White House became famous, two of the leading lights were Major General Franklin Bell and Leonard Wood. "Don" was a noted boxing instructor, he lost the sight of one eye, but his youth he of necessity espoused the sport in almost every line, thus crossing into a robust preference of good, by attention to outdoor athletics.

SNOODLES

By Hungerford

Baseball to Thrive at Chocolate Town

Hershey, Pa., March 1.—Hershey chocolate makers are going to play baseball with much vim and vigor, according to followers of the national game here. "With the approach of warm weather making it possible to play outdoors activities, officials of the Hershey Men's Club are turning their attention to baseball and are quietly and effectively making their plans for the coming season," says a prominent athlete.

Tech Trims Lebanon and Keeps in Pennant Race

Only a small percentage of the Capital City knows anything about the value of sports as a community center activity. They are the hard-boiled, staid members of our neighborhood who help little in bringing folks together in social enjoyment. This is no knock, but an effort to awaken more interest in mass sports, the kind which has been introduced by the enterprising Y. M. C. A. Chestnut street auditorium last night entertained perhaps 1,500 persons, and it was pleasing to notice some of the city's prominent men who realize what Tech is doing as a community center agency. The audience, of course, was made up mostly of young folks, and it is worth noting that the conduct of all was dignified, clean and yet enthusiastic. The tremendous and undiluted joy last evening when the local heroes finally began winning from the very crafty Lebanon lads would have cured a dyspeptic or a melancholy martyr. If you have never patronized the public schools wholesome pastimes make a start and show you are awake to the spirit of the day.

Wake Up, Harrisburg!

Only a small percentage of the Capital City knows anything about the value of sports as a community center activity. They are the hard-boiled, staid members of our neighborhood who help little in bringing folks together in social enjoyment. This is no knock, but an effort to awaken more interest in mass sports, the kind which has been introduced by the enterprising Y. M. C. A. Chestnut street auditorium last night entertained perhaps 1,500 persons, and it was pleasing to notice some of the city's prominent men who realize what Tech is doing as a community center agency. The audience, of course, was made up mostly of young folks, and it is worth noting that the conduct of all was dignified, clean and yet enthusiastic. The tremendous and undiluted joy last evening when the local heroes finally began winning from the very crafty Lebanon lads would have cured a dyspeptic or a melancholy martyr. If you have never patronized the public schools wholesome pastimes make a start and show you are awake to the spirit of the day.

AROUND THE BASES

Baltimore, March 1.—George Chaney, of Baltimore, easily defeated Chic Simler, of Scranton, Pa., here last night in a twelve-round bout, the Scranton lad narrowly escaping a knockout. The Princeton game will be played as usual two weeks before the Yale game, Harvard going to Princeton for this contest on November 8. Brown University and Boston College probably will again appear on the list, but the dates they will fill are at present uncertain. The four other teams that will meet Harvard have not yet been decided on, it is said.

INTER-CLASS GAMES

Basketball games between the four classes at Central have been on the move this year, more than ever before, and snappy games have been played at Chestnut Street Auditorium during the last few afternoons. Yesterday afternoon the Sophomore girls' team played two games, one with the Seniors and the other with the Freshmen. The first game with the Seniors was full of pep, and, although the Sophs put up a good scrap, the Seniors walked off with the game, 23-0. The two lineups were:

LEAGUE STANDING

Table with columns: Team, W, L, Pct. Reading 4 1 .800, Lebanon 3 2 .600, Steelton 2 4 .333, Allentown 2 5 .285, York 1 6 .183

TECH TRIMS LEBANON

Only a small percentage of the Capital City knows anything about the value of sports as a community center activity. They are the hard-boiled, staid members of our neighborhood who help little in bringing folks together in social enjoyment. This is no knock, but an effort to awaken more interest in mass sports, the kind which has been introduced by the enterprising Y. M. C. A. Chestnut street auditorium last night entertained perhaps 1,500 persons, and it was pleasing to notice some of the city's prominent men who realize what Tech is doing as a community center agency. The audience, of course, was made up mostly of young folks, and it is worth noting that the conduct of all was dignified, clean and yet enthusiastic. The tremendous and undiluted joy last evening when the local heroes finally began winning from the very crafty Lebanon lads would have cured a dyspeptic or a melancholy martyr. If you have never patronized the public schools wholesome pastimes make a start and show you are awake to the spirit of the day.

WAKE UP, HARRISBURG!

Only a small percentage of the Capital City knows anything about the value of sports as a community center activity. They are the hard-boiled, staid members of our neighborhood who help little in bringing folks together in social enjoyment. This is no knock, but an effort to awaken more interest in mass sports, the kind which has been introduced by the enterprising Y. M. C. A. Chestnut street auditorium last night entertained perhaps 1,500 persons, and it was pleasing to notice some of the city's prominent men who realize what Tech is doing as a community center agency. The audience, of course, was made up mostly of young folks, and it is worth noting that the conduct of all was dignified, clean and yet enthusiastic. The tremendous and undiluted joy last evening when the local heroes finally began winning from the very crafty Lebanon lads would have cured a dyspeptic or a melancholy martyr. If you have never patronized the public schools wholesome pastimes make a start and show you are awake to the spirit of the day.

WILHELM WINS CLOSE GAME

Thursday evening the Covens of the Harrisburg Sunday League, were defeated in a closely-contested game by Newville. During the first ten minutes the Covens piled up a total of 10-3 on Newville. Suddenly Newville got together and began to post their score. When the half ended the Covens were still leading 10-3. During the second half Newville broke away from their opponents and began to pile up a large score, but Harrisburg rallied and score became tied, 27-27, with six minutes of play left. Suddenly the Covens forged ahead, Newville was on the job, and game ended 34-33 in Newville's favor. Bennett starred for the Covens, while Bigler and Shaner led a very good game for Newville.

PITT CLAIMS A PEERLESS SCORE IN BASKETBALL

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1.—A seven-year basketball record which will bear comparison with that of any college team is that of Pittsburgh since Dr. George M. Flint became coach of its floor team. In this time 87 victories have been recorded against only 42 defeats, giving a record of 67.5 on the percentage basis. Among the victims of the Panthers have been Yale, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, West Point, Rutgers, Lafayette, Penn State, Colgate, Swarthmore, Syracuse and others of the leading five of the country.

Suburban Notes

On account of evangelistic services being held at Rockville by the Rev. J. D. Gottschall and in Progress by the Rev. James Wagner it is necessary to hold the services in both the United Brethren Church and Church of God on Sunday morning.

GORDON FORD'S TEAM OUT FOR VICTORY OVER HANCOCK TONIGHT

Winners of an American League pennant, the speedy Hancock five of Philadelphia were to be the foe to-night at Chestnut street hall, and as they swung hard on the Independents' jaw only a short time ago, the feeling was keen for revenge. Manager Ford was counting on "Burr Hess" Hagerly getting here on time from where he works down near Philadelphia. The rest of the line-up sure to be on the job. Hancock stars were veterans who were conspicuous in the Eastern League, among them Powell and Trautwein.

THREE AIRPLANES IN FLIGHT

York Haven, Pa., March 1.—Residents of the borough were given a treat shortly before noon yesterday to see three airplanes pass over the town. One of the machines, which were traveling in the direction of Harrisburg, alighted on Lancaster county soil, immediately opposite York Haven.

MCCAHAN-GUSS WEDDING

Mifflintown, Pa., March 1.—Lester Milton McCahan, son of W. B. McCahan, and Miss Vera Edna Guss, daughter of Samuel Guss, both of Licking Creek, were married at the Mifflintown Lutheran Church parsonage by the pastor, the Rev. T. E. Shearer.

Advertisement for J. B. Montgomery's Long Flame Furnace Coal. Text: 'More Heat at Less Cost Long Flame Furnace Coal Not an Experiment—a Fact Our Patrons Unasked Tell Us' Includes phone number 600 and address Third and Chestnut Sts.

Advertisement for 'Ten Years of Trapshooting Show Tremendous Advance'. Includes a table comparing trapshooting statistics in 1909 and 1918, showing a significant increase in participation and revenue.

MISSING SOLDIER SAFE

Columbia, Pa., March 1.—Charles D. Gamberling, wounded in action in France, whose whereabouts for a long time was wrapped in mystery, has arrived from overseas, and his widowed mother was overjoyed to learn that he would soon be able to return to his home in Columbia. She received a telegram yesterday announcing his safe arrival.

ANNVILLE

Mrs. Anthony Wanta and daughter Gloria, have returned to Annaville after spending several weeks at Lindenhurst, New York, as guests of the former's parents.

FRATERNITY BANQUET

Newport, Pa., March 1.—Nu Chapter, Phi Epsilon Kappa fraternity, held a banquet in its rooms in the Centennial building on Wednesday evening in celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

FOREIGN MISSION SERVICE

Hummelstown, March 1.—A foreign mission service will be rendered by the Sunday school of Zion Lutheran Church to-morrow evening in the parish house at 7.45 o'clock. Tim recitations will be interesting and instructive.

Large advertisement for 'The Peace Time Quality of King Oscar Cigars'. Text: 'The Peace Time Quality of King Oscar Cigars will be remembered long after the price, which conditions compel us to charge, has been forgotten. John C. Herman & Co. Makers 7c—worth it.'