Red Cross Asks Clothes For Allies Relief Work

Harrisburg can manage anything, so, although the hospital fund sale is on shortly, the people of this city will not fall down on their quota, 35 tons, of garments for relief work among the Allies. The garments are greatly needed. Mr. C. H. Hunter is chairman of the clothing campaign, and the central depot for the collection of the garments will be 200 North Second street, in the Donaldson. Virgin Lader, of the Boy Scouts, will aid Mrs. Hunter by taking charge of the collections and the different auxiliaries will have charge of the collecting of garments from their members. Whatever is good and warm and usable will be most acceptable, whether for men, women or children. The quota is large, and every person must contribute something or Harrisburg will fail this time.

National War Aid Having Get-Together Meeting

There will be a get-together meeting of the National War Aid Society in the ball room of the Penn-Harris, Tuesday evening, March 25 which promises to have many interesting features.
