

RUSSIANS MAKE PROPOSAL TO ENTER LEAGUE

London's New Labor Paper Reports Move of Present Rulers

London, March 31.—According to the new Labor paper, the Daily Herald, the Allies have received a proposal for an understanding with the present rulers of Russia, "making possible a just peace which would immediately bring Russia into the League of Nations."

Privately, confidence is expressed that the Germans will sign the treaty, though not, of course, without strenuous objection over many details. It is realized that, unless handled discreetly, out of such an incident as an attempt to land Polish troops at Danzig, a serious rupture might follow. But it is understood that the Germans are to be given assurance that these troops will be landed in small detachments only and will be immediately transferred into Poland, and that there will be no attempt to seize the city itself under the armistice, nor at all, unless a peace treaty to which the Germans subscribe deprives them of that port.

William Jessup Tells of War Work in Cairo, Egypt

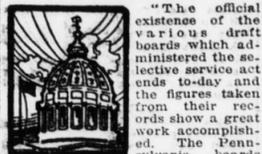

William Jessup, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Cairo, Egypt, speaking at the Pine Street Presbyterian Church yesterday morning gave an interesting narrative of his work in that country. He told of German plans for a Holy War and described the plans of the Huns to throw Egypt and England into revolt.

MUCH REALTY SOLD
Real estate transfers as April 1 approaches continue to increase and clerks at the county recorder's office during the last few days have been kept busy receiving scores of instruments. Realtors in the city believe that during the next few weeks records established earlier in the year for total sales in the city will be broken. Among the properties sold during the last few days were 219 Woodbine street, two and one-half story brick, H. C. Spangler to Ella B. Hayes, $2,000; and 2301 North Fourth street, Ella V. Charles to J. N. Whitman, $4,257.

TO AID FIGHTERS
At a meeting of the Pennsylvania Loan Brokers' Association a resolution was adopted pledging every member throughout the State to endeavor to obtain for our returning soldiers and sailors their old positions and where that is not possible to help place them in new employment. The meeting was attended by members from Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading, Erie, York, Altoona, Chester and other towns throughout the State.

MURDOCK BIDS BOARDS GOODBY

Highly Commends Members of Draft Units For Patriotic Efforts During the War

"The official existence of the various draft boards which administered the selective service act ends to-day and the figures taken from their records show a great work accomplished. The Pennsylvania State's chief draft officer, to-day, Major W. G. Murdock, the State's chief draft officer, to-day, the Major issued a formal letter thanking the members of the various boards for their work, not only in carrying out the law, but in meeting the requests for information from registrants and their families which occupied much time and required much effort in addition to regular duties and the compilation of reports. Their patriotic devotion to duty is the most highly commended."

From September, 1917, to November, 1918, 222 calls for men were made upon Pennsylvania, everyone being filled. These men went to 120 army camps, to eleven technical schools and to 163 colleges and universities having student army training corps units. Men with qualifications entirely different and representing many classes were asked for. District draft boards acted upon 271,184 industrial and agricultural claims, 55,558 appeals from classifications and 1,058 from physical examinations. The fifty-two medical advisory boards examined 67,520 doubtful cases without compensation and in busy times, while legal advisory boards aided over 2,000,000 men to fill out questionnaires. As almost thirty per cent of registration in Pennsylvania were aliens the work of everyone having to do with the draft exacting.

Major Murdock in his letter speaks of the development of a feeling of confidence in the boards from a situation where there was distrust by many persons and says that it was due to the effort of members to do their duty fairly, their self-sacrifice and "cool common sense, interpretation" of orders, notably the "work or fight"; their adherence to duty during the influenza epidemic and the inherent patriotism.

Ask Reports—Calls have been issued on all cold storage plants in Pennsylvania operating under State license to file reports of deposits as of the end of the first quarter. It is expected that the reports will show a big increase in egg holdings and some interesting situations in regard to other foods. This is the first quarter to be completed since the close of the war.

To Let Contracts—Awards of contracts for construction of the sections of primary highway for which bids were opened Friday will be made at an early day by Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler. The contractors will be required to start work at the earliest possible day.

April Meeting—The April meeting of the State Board of Pardons is announced for April 16. The list will close this week.

Many Use Lime—Extensive use of lime for fertilizer in the older agricultural regions of the State has been reported by the agents of the State Department of Agriculture who have started out on the spring sampling of fertilizers to determine whether they are complying with Pennsylvania standards. In some sections abandoned quarries and lime kilns have been revived and there is a brisk demand for the product.

Lancaster Case Up—The Public Service Commission has listed for hearing on April 23 the complaint of the Lancaster Automobile club against the Lancaster and Ephrata turnpike, which is the first of the turnpike cases to be taken up this year. The application of the Newport and Sherman's Valley Railroad, a Perry county narrow gauge line, for approval of an advance in rates is to be heard April 16.

Clocks Object—Several of the clocks in committee rooms of the Legislature in the Capitol were to-day discovered to have developed reactionary tendencies. They were turned forward in the general advance of the 700 clocks in the State House, but declined to go along. Some stopped and others balked. They were straightened out by Joseph Fyne, the State's official "clock doctor."

Make a Record—April 1 records of the State Dairy and Food Division for the issuance of oleomargarine licenses will be broken to pieces this year, it is predicted at the Capitol. The number sent out so far is far greater than known at this time of any previous year and the revenue licenses will run close to half a million dollars for the year. Last year it was over $42,000.

Increases Made—The Keystone Building and Loan Association, of Roversford, has filed notice of increase of stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. Others filed were: Concrete Products Co., Pittsburgh, $110,000 to $120,000; Union Hardware and Woodware Co., Pittsburgh, $75,000 to $80,000; Tompkins Co., Washington, $200,000 to $500,000; Triangle Tool Co., Erie, $30,000 to $60,000; Wilmot Engineering Co., Wilkes-Barre, $45,000 to $170,000; Processed Oil Corporation, Philadelphia, $25,000 to $75,000; Falls Mining Co., Scranton, $40,000 to $300,000.

Governor and Son Spoke—Governor William C. Sproul and his son, Captain John R. Sproul were speakers at the annual dinner of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity dinner at Philadelphia Saturday. Both are Swarthmore men.

Found Locusts—Several authentic specimens of the seventeen year old locust have been received here from nearby counties, having been plowed up by farmers.

Governor Says Coal Probe Sure

Governor Sproul is quoted in Philadelphia as saying there would be an investigation of the cost of coal in Pennsylvania. For two days, he said, he had been working almost constantly on the question and was convinced that an inquiry was necessary.

"It will not necessarily be an investigation by the Legislature," he said. "It is a most difficult situation and I don't want to disturb the industrial conditions of the state. I do not want to act in any way that will affect the wages of the miners. But I am convinced that the prices are too high and the solution of the problem, I think, lies with the dealers."

What the Federal Government Says of Life Insurance as a Career

The U. S. Government is trying to find occupations for discharged soldiers. In a booklet on this subject it says:

"Life Insurance has been made nearly mandatory by modern business practice. It is in harmony with the trend of modern social, civic, industrial and financial betterments. Salesmen at the outset require but a minimum of training and equipment. Opportunities for promotion to positions as superintendents and managers are constantly presented to men of ability. The average earnings of those giving their whole time are approximately $2,000 per year, but incomes are without limit as to maximum and earnings begin even during the period of preparation and study."

All that the Government says is strictly true, but not half the advantages of life insurance as a career have been enumerated.
