

BIGGER WOOL OUTPUT URGED

Speakers Show Need of Revival of American Sheep Industry

Philadelphia, May 1.—The revival of the American sheep industry was called imperative by speakers at the second national sheep conference under the auspices of the More-Sheep-More-Wool Association of the United States at its final sessions here yesterday.

"The government must have a larger wool supply as a part of its program of national defense," said Professor Paul T. Cherington, of Harvard. "It is no longer a question whether sheep shall be raised, but how they shall be raised. And the most effective way of increasing the sheep of this country is to have the practical sheep men take hold of the problem."

"The whole matter hinges on whether the industry will be profitable. They will not raise sheep if it is not profitable."

Professor C. S. Plumb, Ohio State University, said that the livestock industry in the United States would never obtain its legitimate place until the principle of community breeding is adopted.

Dr. J. B. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, said that the sheep industry must not be fostered at the expense of other livestock. "There is room and need, for both," he said. "It is highly important that the cost of producing sheep be kept low, so that the price will attract consumers and not repel them."

IN DRY REGIONS

"Pa. what's meant by 'fisherman's luck'?"

"Opinions differ, my son. Some men's idea of 'fisherman's luck' is having a genial old farmer hail them from the river bank and, after winking and making mysterious signs, produce a little jug of something he's willing to part with for $10, seeing it's 'you'."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

VICTORY LOAN FIGURES SLOW

Reports Show That Only $1,130,697,000 Has Been Subscribed

Washington, May 1.—The Victory Loan campaign was one-half over to-day with only one-quarter of the total officially reported subscribed. Reports to the treasury up to last night showed subscriptions of $1,130,697,000.

If the Victory Loan is to be floated successfully subscriptions of $3,750,000,000 must be gathered daily until the campaign's end May 10. At the close of the ninth day of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, the nation had subscribed $1,591,556,000, of $481,000,000 more than has been subscribed so far to the Victory Loan. The percentage of the fourth loan was 25.52 per cent, as compared with 25.12 per cent of the current loan.

Because of lagging subscriptions the U. S. S. Cranes the "Victory ship," has been running slowly down the Pacific coast. Rear Admiral Cowie, navy loan officer, yesterday directed the ship to speed up her engines, however.

Only the St. Louis district has gathered in more than half of its subscription. Reports to the treasury twenty-four hours the Minneapolis district jumped from fifth to third place in the percentage column of districts, pushing Boston one rung down the ladder.

Hampton Institute Celebrates Birthday

Hampton, Va., May 1.—Commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Hampton Institute, originally planned for the spring of 1918, was twice postponed because of the war and the influenza epidemic, began to-day with many persons prominent in the educational and public life of the nation in attendance.

To-day's program included dedication of the Robert C. Ogden Memorial auditorium, with addresses by Dr. James H. Kirkland, chancellor of Vanderbilt University; the Rev. Dr. Wilton Merie-Smith, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, New York City, and Isaac Fisher, University editor, of Fiske University. A memorial service to be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Francis Greenwood Peabody, of Cambridge, Mass., was to be held to-day in the school cemetery, where General Samuel C. Armstrong, founder of Hampton, and Dr. Hollis B. Prissell, principal of the institute from 1893 to 1917, are buried.

An Extra Large Bottle of Famo for One Dollar

For a dollar you can buy at any toilet goods counter a full 12-ounce bottle of Famo.

Many hair tonics charge more for a bottle that is one-third smaller.

This means that you can use Famo every day for little more than half of what it would cost for some preparations.

And Famo actually does what no other hair treatment will do. It attacks Seborrhea, the cause of dandruff, and stops the seborrhean flow that causes the dandruff scale.

Famo ends falling hair and itching scalp. It makes the head as sweet and clean as a baby's.

Famo contains no alcohol to cause scalp and hair dryness. It postpones grayness by making and keeping the hair healthy.

The regular daily use of Famo makes the hair soft and luxuriant and gives it a beautiful gloss and sheen.

Every one in the family should use Famo every day.

Sold at all toilet goods counters in two sizes 35 cents and $1.

Seborrhea is a metabolic increase from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The abnormal secretion forms in scales and flakes and is commonly known as dandruff. Mfd. by The Famo Co., Detroit, Mich. CROLL KELLER — C. M. FORNEY Special Famo Agents

WILSON IS BLAMED FOR FIUME ACTION

Italian Society Censures President but Proclaims Its Loyalty to the U. S.

Resolutions condemning the stand President Wilson has taken against Italy in the demand for Fiume and expressing the belief that the people of the United States would take sides with Italy if they fully understood the situation, were passed at a meeting of the Italian Social and Beneficial Society, held at the headquarters of the association, 224 South Second street, Joseph J. Parialo, the president, is one of the most energetic Victory bond salesmen in Harrisburg this week. The society has asked the Telegraph to publish the following communication:

"At a meeting of the Italian Social and Beneficial Society, held at 224 South Second street, Harrisburg, Pa., on Sunday, April 27, 1919, resolutions were adopted condemning the action of President Wilson in his stand against the claims of Italy for the possession of Fiume.

"We wish the public to understand our position with respect to the actions of the President and also wish to impress upon our fellow countrymen, who are aggrieved on account of his actions, that no blame should rest against the good people of the United States, who have always been the friends of Italy.

"The majority of the people of the United States would sympathize with the Italian position if they understood it better. Italy makes the same claim to the Italian language; their traditions sympathies and civilization are Italian and their desire is to be annexed to the Italian government.

"When Italy went into the war, she did so under the express understanding that Fiume should be bought by the friends of Italy, and this hope inspired and buoyed the Italian soldiers to no less extent than the hope of regaining Alsace-Lorraine inspired the French. The suffering of her people, the valor of her soldiers, the sacrifice of her government and the debt she paid for the repatriation of territory which had been torn from her by war.

"It is cruel and unjust after the war is won, no less by Italy's sacrifice and valor, than by any other government, that she should be deprived of her just share of the victory. The war could not have been won had not Italy entered at the time she did. The Germans would have gone into Paris had not the Italian government given credit to the word of honor that she would not attack her and thereby permitted France to release at a crucial moment three armies, and it was those armies, released from the Italian border, which turned the tide of battle when Paris was beleaguered. Nor could the Allies have withstood the fierce onslaught of the Germans and Austrians had their forces not been divided by reason of Italy's brave stand in the war.

"The broken faith of Italy and the other Allies is a poor recompense for this sacrifice and it is said. To say that a solemn agreement made between England, Italy and France should not be carried out because conditions have changed, is as bad in morality as it is in policy. Germany may with equal force, when she invaded territory, have said that she was justified in breaking her treaty with Belgium because conditions had changed since the treaty was made.

"The test of honor is the doing of a thing under your pledged promise even though it may be inconvenient to do so. As it is on the word of honor of England and France that Italy depends for the carrying out of this pact between two sovereign governments and it ought to be remembered that this pact was made before the United States entered into the war and when the danger of the Allies was greater than at any subsequent time.

"We also want the Italian people to understand that whatever of grief we may feel on account of the actions of the President, that his actions are not the actions of the people of the United States, and that their loyalty and devotion to the American flag, which is their flag, should not be diminished one iota on account of any pique or grievance they may feel on account of the actions of its President and in this crisis they should buy Victory Liberty Bonds, as these bonds are not being sold for Mr. Wilson, but for the people of the United States."

JOSEPH J. PARIALO,
President of the Italian Social and Beneficial Society.

CRUEL AND UNJUST

"It is cruel and unjust after the war is won, no less by Italy's sacrifice and valor, than by any other government, that she should be deprived of her just share of the victory. The war could not have been won had not Italy entered at the time she did. The Germans would have gone into Paris had not the Italian government given credit to the word of honor that she would not attack her and thereby permitted France to release at a crucial moment three armies, and it was those armies, released from the Italian border, which turned the tide of battle when Paris was beleaguered. SURGERY FOR BIRDS

For miles around, the neighbors and schoolboys bring in wounded birds to Dr. S. A. Arnold, who has been conducting a bird hospital on Long Island for a number of years, and anybody so desiring can take a wounded bird to him for treatment, which is supplied free.

At present Doctor Arnold has some 200 birds of different kinds in his hospital which are undergoing treatment.

When a bird is taken to Doctor Arnold with a broken wing or leg the wounded limb is placed in very small splints and the bird given a small cage of its own in which to recuperate.

Doctor Arnold has performed a number of successful operations on birds, one such operation being on the eye of a robin which had been struck by a stone thrown from some schoolboy's sling-shot — From the Boston Transcript.

WANTED THEM ON HAND

"I want a pair of the best gloves you have," said Mrs. Nurritch to the glove counter.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the polite salesman. "How long do you want them?"

"Don't get insultin', young man! I want to buy 'em, not to hire 'em."—Tit-Bits.

OH, FUDGE!

"Heard this discussion about prunes?"

"No. What's the argument?"

"The question is as to whether a prune grows on a prune tree or a prune bush."

"And the answer?"

"On neither. The prune is a plum."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

IMMUNITY

"What are you going to do about the luxury tax?"

"Nothing much. When I get through with the regular tax I won't have money enough to buy any luxuries."—Washington Star.
