

TOOK HIS LIFE, FEARING ARREST FOR BAD CHECKS

Body Found in River Identified as Fugitive From Ypsilanti Police

That W. H. Harrington, 211 East Cross street, Ypsilanti, Mich., whose badly decomposed body was found in the Susquehanna river near Washington street yesterday, committed suicide because he feared arrest, is the belief of Harrisburg police officials to-day. The body was found early yesterday morning and identified late yesterday as that of Harrington.

Letters addressed to Harrington from his wife at his Michigan home indicate that the man had been contemplating suicide for some time because he feared arrest on a false pretense charge. In the letter his wife begged him not to take his life, because she believed that checks passed by him without having sufficient funds in bank could be made good.

On April 29 local police officials received a telegram from Ann Arbor, Mich., officials asking that they place Harrington, who was a traveling salesman, under arrest on a false pretense charge. The telegram said that he had been known to have stopped at a local hotel during the early part of the month.

Investigation here revealed that he had left one of the local hotels on April 13, paying his bill at that time with a check for $50, drawn on the Ypsilanti First National Bank, which was later returned marked "no funds." Hotel employees had not seen him from that time until they identified his body late yesterday.

GUARDSMEN TO GET BIG WELCOME

homes just four years from the day the Lusitania was torpedoed by the same Boche which they fought, and it is a coincidence too that just a year ago to-day these soldiers were on their way to France to meet the Germans at that time driving on to Paris.

These boys will never forget the rousing farewell given them, when with cheers and tears, a countless throng saw them off to camp during the summer of 1917. There were more of them then, and the ranks that are to march over the streets late to-day are thinned, for the boys from Harrisburg did not shirk their duty and there are some who paid the heroic price with their lives.

These men will never be forgotten in the memory of the ones at home. They gave their lives in the cause of freedom, and the ones who are returning back to-day risked their all in the same battles, saw their comrades fall, fell wounded themselves, but came through victorious.

Reception to Be Great

That the reception which will be accorded the men from the city and vicinity will be the greatest ever held in Harrisburg is a certainty. Less than two years ago these heroes were engaged in civilian occupations at home, living in peace with their families.

Then came the ultimatum which demanded that the United States was to enter in the world war against these autocratic fiends.

The Homecoming

The calls for men to support their flag and country, protect their loved ones, go abroad and fight for victory were answered. Harrisburg's National Guard units were quickly called to arms, went to a temporary camp at Island Park and recruited their ranks to full war strength.

Weeks more of training at Camp Hancock followed, and then May 1, 1918, they left for New York to embark for France. Military regulations made it necessary to keep definite news of the departure of the men for France a secret, and the first definite news came when they reached the other side.

Soon after these same men with the other heroes of the 112th regiment, were in the most severe fighting of the war, covering themselves with glory because of their heroic and untiring fighting.

Now they are coming back.

Coming HOME

Mothers Are Anxious

What a home-coming it will be for those veterans of war-scarred France. Wives and mothers to greet them with open arms and tears of joy, a big reception from their many friends in the city, for every one is a friend to these brave men—these are the things which the boys have longed for, waited for, hoped for, prayed for.

With them they will bring a record of victorious, heroic deeds and for their sacrifices they deserve the best that the city can give them. Of course they look forward most to the first night with their loved ones, but the parade, the cheering, applauding throngs will make them feel convinced that they did not fight in vain.

Mothers Give Warning

Mere words can't tell the joy of the return of these men. There will be that great moment when father and mother will meet son, when a proud wife will see her husband, when brother and sister are together again—they will all feel that their months of patient waiting have not been in vain.

Signals announced the departure of the men from Camp Dix, where they have been for the last week. The last night in camp was quiet, according to tippling a big reception both at the station and at home tonight.

great number of international bodies of different kinds and for different purposes are created, some under the League of Nations, some to execute the Peace Treaty.

Plebescite in 15 Years

Among the former is the commission to govern the Saar basin till a plebescite is held fifteen years hence; the high commissioner of Danzig, which is created into a free city under the league, and various commissions for plebescites in Malmody, Schleswig and East Prussia.

Commissions Provided For

Among those to carry out the Peace Treaty are the reparations, military, naval, air, financial and economic commission, the international high court and military tribunals to fix responsibilities, and a series of bodies for the control of international rivers.

Problems Left For Solution

Certain problems are left for solution between the allied and associated powers, notably details of the disposition of the German fleet and cables, the former German colonies, and the values paid in reparation.

Certain other problems such as the laws of the air and the opium, arms and liquor traffic are either agreed to in detail or set for early international action.

Provisions of Preamble

The preamble names as parties of the one part the United States, the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, described as the five allied and associated powers, and Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, China, Cuba, Ecuador, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, The Hadjaz, Honduras, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Siam, Czecho-Slovakia, and Uruguay, who with the five above are described as the allied and associated powers, and on the other part, Germany.

It states that: Bearing in mind that on the request of the then Imperial German government an armistice was granted on November 11, 1918, by the five allied and associated powers in order that a treaty of peace might be concluded with her, and whereas the allied and associated powers being equally desirous that the war in which they were successively involved directly or indirectly, and which originated in the declaration of war by Austria-Hungary on July 28, 1914, against Serbia, the declaration of war by Germany against Russia on August 1, 1914, and against France on August 3, 1914, and in the invasion of Belgium, should be replaced by a firm, just and durable peace, the plenipotentiaries, (having communicated their full powers found in good and due form have agreed as follows):

From the coming into force of the present treaty the state of war will terminate. From the moment and subject to the provisions of this treaty official relations with Germany, and with each of the German states will be resumed by the allied and associated powers.

reports from the barracks, and most of the boys turned in early, evidently anxious to reach Lancaster another signal is to be given which will be about one hour before they arrive here.

Many on Way Home

The welcoming delegations will be city officials and uniformed soldiers and former soldier organizations. All citizens, except wives and mothers, with the Home Folks Victory Association, are to line the streets to greet the troops as they march by. The route of the parade will be from the station to Market street, to Front, to Forster, to Second street, at the Armory, where the relatives will be given an opportunity to take the returning heroes home. A luncheon is to be served to the men at the Armory.

Approximately 3,000 soldiers, the majority of them from the Keystone Division passed through the city late yesterday and last evening enroute to their home or to other camps. The One Hundred and Eleventh Regiment, composed largely of men from the western part of the State, went through. They will parade at Pittsburgh before being mustered out of service. There were fifteen special trains carrying the soldiers, and a number of other men who returned to this country as casuals went through on regular trains.

Badges must be worn by mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts who desire admission to the armory this afternoon. These badges may be obtained from the Home Folks Victory Association through Marshal Long, it has been announced. His address is 1113 North Front street.

Plans to provide the "Yankee Special" to carry Harrisburg relatives of men of the Keystone Division to Philadelphia to witness the great parade in that city have been abandoned. Reservations on the grandstand, however, will be made for relatives up to the number of 200.

Colonel George C. Rickards, Oil City, who commanded the One Hundred and Twelfth Regiment of the Twenty-eighth Division, in which were included a number of Harrisburg men, passed through this city last night on one of the many troop trains that were westward bound. He was well pleased with Harrisburg's plans for the reception to the home-coming men and said that all of the men will greatly appreciate any sort of welcome.

Lieutenant-Colonel Edward H. Schell, who recently returned to this country after serving months overseas as a depot quartermaster, will act as assistant chief of staff. Captain E. Laubenstein is chief of staff.

No automobiles will be permitted to park on any streets over which the welcome-home parade will pass, it was announced to-day by Chief of Police Wetzel. This is done to reduce congestion as much as possible.

LIBERATOR WITH 28TH BOYS WAITS ON FOG TO LIFT

Carries 2,507 Iron Division Men; Radio Early Announces Arrival

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, May 7.—The transport Liberator, bringing home 2,507 Iron Division soldiers, reached the Delaware Breakwater, ninety miles down the Delaware from Philadelphia, through a dense fog about 5 o'clock this morning. She is anchored in the bay outside the breakwater, and it is unlikely she will start up the river until the fog begins to lift.

Radio Announces Arrival

The Liberator announced her arrival, which was not expected until later in the day, by a radio, to the Philadelphia Navy yard at 6 a. m. The message said she had arrived and was anchored in the fog. The vessel was originally scheduled to get here Friday, but the speedup policy of the War Department in moving Twenty-eighth Division troops homeward is probably responsible for her arrival two days ahead of time.

The first wireless message from her as she neared home shores came Monday by way of Boston and was supplemented yesterday by one saying she would get in late to-day or early to-morrow.

She was not expected to dock before to-morrow and plans of the welcome home committee to greet her made last night, had to be made over this morning.

The Liberator is bringing the following Twenty-eighth Division units: Headquarters and Supply Detachment, Companies A, B, C, One Hundred and Third Field Signal Battalion, five officers, 462 men; Headquarters Medical Detachment and Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, One Hundred and Third Supply Train, seven officers, 471 men.

Sanitary Detachment, Company F, One Hundred and Third Engineers, four officers, 364 men.

Headquarters Motor Battalion, Headquarters Horse Battalion, Sanitary Detachment, Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, One Hundred and Third Ammunition Train. Twenty-eighth Division Theatrical Unit thirteen officers, 1,181 men.

Columbia Soldiers Given Reception on Return Home

Columbia, Pa., May 7.—About thirty-five members of old Company C, of Columbia, later in Company B, One Hundred and Ninth Machine Gun Battalion, arrived home Monday night from Camp Dix and were given a great ovation upon their arrival here. Chairman H. M. North Jr., Councilman J. W. Houk and Lieutenant H. B. Clepper, headed by the Metropolitan Band, led a column of nearly a thousand men, women and children, escorted by Company I, Platoon of the Reserve Militia, and they marched to the memorial tablet in the park where they were welcomed by Chairman North in behalf of the citizens. Of the number of Columbia soldiers in Company B, four, Paul D. Smith, Eddie Spiekler, L. Melville Quinn and Jacob Steiner, were killed in action, and Leo Bittner and David Steiner died in a hospital from wounds received in action.

TO OPEN Y. M. C. A.

Columbia, Pa., May 7.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Young Men's Christian Association building in this place will be formally opened on Thursday, after extensive improvements, and Superintendent William Egan, of the Philadelphia Division, will be the guest of honor.

LONG WEAR AND ECONOMY

"Last year I purchased a standard make of shoes, and in sixty days the soles were worn through. I had them re-soled with Neolin Soles—which lasted me six months in the same service that wore out the other soles in two," writes E. A. Lancaster of Lancaster & Company, jewelers, Greenville, Tenn.

Mr. Lancaster's experience with Neolin Soles is not unusual. Millions of people can testify to their long wear and economy. To reduce your shoe expense, buy Neolin-soled shoes. You can get them in many styles for every member of the family.

Neolin Soles are created by Science to be comfortable and waterproof as well as long wearing. Good repair shops carry them. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.
