WED IN PHILA. THIS MORNING

Miss Sara R. Dennis Becomes the Bride of Dr. Morris W. DeHart

A wedding of local interest took place this morning at 11 o'clock in the Baltimore Avenue Presbyterian Church next Tuesday evening, creating a sensation at every appearance. Mr. Charles M. Courboin, who has given many recitals throughout the country during the past three years, recently played with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra before 12,000 people on the largest organ in the world, in the Wanamaker Philadelphia store. It has been said of him that his work ranks with that of the concert pianists, there being extremely few of the great organists of to-day who can give the organ symphonies and concertos of Handel, Gullmair, Widmer and Bach without notes, as does Mr. Courboin.

PEERLESS WITH 108TH FIGHTERS DUE AT EVENING

Overdue Transport Passes Into Delaware Capes in Early Morning

Philadelphia, May 16.—The overdue transport Peerless passed in the Delaware capes at 6 a. m. to-day. Because of a heavy fog the ship was anchored at the Delaware breakwater, 90 miles down the Delaware from Philadelphia, until 9.30 when the fog cleared. The ship is due to dock in this city at about 6 p. m. to-day.

The Peerless has on board the One Hundred and Eighth Field Artillery, which was the old Second Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, the One Hundred and Eighth Machine Gun Battalion and Company M, One Hundred and Tenth Infantry.

Colonel F. T. Pusey, representing General Muir, declared positively to-day that the One Hundred and Eighth will not parade. "The men will be taken at once to Camp Dix to be mustered out," he said. "If they care to get together afterward and have a parade that will be their own affair. But there will be no holding the men in camp to march again."

Some of the One Hundred and Eighth Field Artillerymen are now in Camp Dix. They came into New York on Wednesday on the Calamaries. Many members of the old Governor's Troop are in various units of the One Hundred and Eighth.

Many out-of-town residents came here to greet the Peerless. Former Lieutenant Governor Watres, of Scranton, is here to meet his son, Major Laurence H. Watres, commander of the One Hundred and Eighth Machine Gun Battalion.

The four companies of this battalion were recruited from Scranton, Reading, Lancaster, Carbon and Schuylkill counties. They were in action on the Marne, at Grimpette woods, Exermont, Fismes, Yser river, the Argonne sector and other important points.

LONDON'S HOLY WELL

London's Holy Well may, after all, still be in existence. John Diprose, printer and historian of St. Clement's, investigated the many rival claims put forward as to its site, including Lyons Inn, the old Dog Tavern in Holywell Street, and part of the site of the Law Courts, and found no evidence to support any of them.

He suggested that the holy well might be identical with the well covered by the stone-built house in St. Clement's Churchyard looking like a burial vault above ground.—From the London Chronicle.

CANDY IS A FOOD

Why does Uncle Sam supply candy to his soldiers? Simply that his boys shall have plenty of sugar energy which their active bodies need at the end of a hard day's work or fighting. Nothing quite takes the place of sugar for that.

Does candy lessen a man's desire for alcohol? Most certainly. Doctors have long known and welfare workers in France report that men lose their craving for alcohol when they get plenty of candy. Candy supplies real energy while alcohol supplies a deceptive feeling of energy.

In buying your homemade candy at Messimer's you get the purest and best in the city.

Her Graduation

How much it means to a girl—her Graduation Day. Her relatives, her friends—all are there to see her bid good-bye to school days. And as she steps forward to receive her diploma hundreds of eyes are focused upon her. Of course she wants to look her prettiest. And so do her parents. And afterwards—at the dance—that's where her frock will be closely scrutinized by other girls and their mothers.

The girl who wears a costume from this shop need fear no criticism. And as it is a foresighted policy for a shop of this character to cultivate the jeune fille she will find my prices surprisingly low—even lower than my usual quotations.
