

DELEGATES ARE ARRIVING FOR LODGE SESSION

Knights of St. George to Open Convention With Parade

Delegates began arriving to-day for the seventh annual directorate meeting of the G. R. C., Knights of St. George, which will be opened in this city to-morrow.

To-morrow's program will open with a parade following the arrival of Lebanon Cadets belonging to the order.

The object of the meeting is to carry out the constitutional requirements by holding this annual session at which the delegates will have submitted to them the annual reports of the supreme president, supreme secretary, supreme treasurer, supreme medical examiner, supreme board of managers, Knights of St. George Cadets, the various district committees, auditors' report and much other business that will be interesting and have a great bearing on the future of the organization.

Among the immediate problems to be discussed will be the improvement of the sick, accident and disability fund of the order, and adding to it an endowment or extended sick fund protection of the age of 65, it will make it still more attractive than heretofore.

It is to the great credit of the order that over 20,000 volunteered in the service of the Army and Navy, of whom eighty-nine have brought the supreme sacrifice and that the order and members as a whole were active in every line of war activity in the Red Cross, United War Workers campaign, the various selling campaigns for thrift and saving stamps and that they invested a quarter million dollars of our surplus funds in United States government Liberty Loan bonds.

A splendid auxiliary organization is to be found in the Knights of St. George Cadets, of which a company exists in Harrisburg, one at Steelton, another at Lebanon. These boys are taught the lessons of patriotism and loyalty to their country and to the flag and improved morally, physically and given the proper cadet training that will be of great benefit for their future well being.

MIKE DONLIN MAKES PLEA FOR RETIRED BALLPLAYER

Bancroft Last of Real Veterans of Game Having Active Connection With Sport; Interesting Incidents in Career of Infielder

When Mike Donlin was here recently as an actor, he complained that there was "no heart" in professional baseball as there is in theatrical profession, where they take care of old and indigent actors.

In 1879 Banny organized the Hop Bitters team of Rochester, N. Y. took it to New Orleans, and then moved to Cuba, where he helped wonderfully in introducing the game to those parts.

In 1880 Bancroft went to Worcester, taking with him Arthur Irwin, who later became renowned as captain and short fielder of the world's champion Providence team.

In 1881 and 1882 Bancroft managed the Detroit National League team, and in 1884 assembled the Providence National League team, which that year won the first world championship from the Metropolitan of New York.

As a manager of baseball teams in the early days, Bancroft had many a strange experience. On one occasion he booked an exhibition game for the old time Troy team, in a little city in Massachusetts, called Berkeley.

When the Berkeley manager asked for terms, Bancroft wired back $0.20, meaning, of course, 20 per cent for the Troy team and 20 per cent for the Berkeley.

On another occasion Bancroft, in the winter time, got up a benefit for a charitable fund in New Bedford. On that occasion he got George Wright, who later became famous as an exhibition on a rowing machine, while he had Sam Wright, George's brother, swinging clubs.

At the same time, he had Harry Stovey do a negro impersonation and Curly Foley sing songs, while he introduced George Gore and Jim Mutrie to take part in a ten mile walk.

The team which he took to Cuba in 1879 included Foley and Nichols, pitchers; Bennett and Bushong, catchers; Sullivan, first base; Arthur Whitney, third base; Arthur Quinn, short field; Wood, left, and Knight, right field.

On this New Bedford team Jim Mutrie, afterward the Giants' manager, officiated as pitcher, and shortstop, and was paid $60 per month for his services.

For the same team "Banny" engaged Harry Stovey, afterward a great star, at $50 per month, while George Washington Bradley was paid the top salary of $100 per month. Reilly, Gore, Roger Connor and the outfielders all received $50 per month.

FORETOLD EFFORTS AT DOMINEERING

Washington, May 24.—In connection with the fact that President Wilson will demand that the Senate ratify the treaty of Versailles plus the covenant for a league of nations without crossing a "U" or dotting an "i," certain expressions from the book of Mr. Wilson on Congressional government are noteworthy.

"His only power of compelling compliance on the part of the Senate lies in his initiative in negotiation, which affords him a chance to get the country into such scrapes, as pledged in the view of the world to certain courses of action, that the Senate hesitates to bring about the appearance of dishonor which would follow its refusal to ratify the rash promises or to support the indiscreet threats of the Secretary of State."

Elizabethville, Pa., May 24.—Promotion exercises were held this evening in the Enola auditorium for the pupils of the East Pennsboro township eighth grade pupils who will be promoted this year.

George Shumberger, principal, delivered the address to the class and presented the diplomas. Gertrude Barrow played a piano solo.

UNION SUITS NOT TWINS

Washington, May 24.—The Treasury Department held to-day that "union suit" is one garment. That means that union suits that sell for $5 or more must pay a sales tax. Merchants have evaded the tax by holding that a union suit is "two garments"—upper and lower—and returning a tax on $10 or more.

MAJESTIC High Class Vaudeville Nevens and Gordon in "A Holland Honey-moon" "At Half Past Two," a comedy with music; Helen Miller, xylophonist; two other standard acts.

COLONIAL THEATRE To-day — Tom Moore in "One of the Finest." Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday — Alice Joyce in "The Third Degree."

VICTORIA THEATRE To-day — Theda Bara in "Cleopatra" Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday — "The Midnight Patrol" and Charlie Chaplin in "The Bank."

REGENT To-day — Motion Pictures of Harrisburg's Welcome Home Parade to the Heroes of the Twenty-eighth Division. Vivian Martin in "You Never Saw Such a Girl" Marguerite Clark in "Three Men and a Girl."

Five standard Keith acts are now showing at the Majestic. They are the Curzon Sisters, the Aerial Butterflies, who perform some sensational feats on the rings; Helen Miller, attractive young woman in an excellent xylophone offering; Nevens and Gordon presenting a pleasing singing and dancing novelty called "A Holland Honey-moon"; Gray and Parker in songs and monologues; and a prettily staged and well presented musical comedy offering entitled "At Half Past Two."

The first half of next week — the famous Ja Da Trio, one of whom is the writer of the well-known song hit of the same name, is one of the big features on the bill. Another is a musical comedy "girl" act with eight people entitled "Ladies Day." Three other acts are included on the bill.

Imagine athletic Tom Moore standing at the corner of Third and Market streets, directing traffic. Yet if he had a traffic policeman in his latest film release "One of the Finest" which shows at the Colonial Theatre for the last time to-day.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Alice Joyce will be shown in "The Third Degree." For those who do not know what the third degree is we might add — it is a system whereby policemen or detectives can usually make a man confess to a crime, through a series of grilling questions.

In this picture a young lad is the one ensnared by this system. It makes a wonderful play.

Vivian Martin appears in "You Never Saw Such a Girl" at the Regent Theatre to-day. The general idea of the story is the presentation of a resourceful young girl who works her way out of a difficult situation. But the story itself is delightfully whimsical and full of comedy, but even more so, of love and romantic adventure.

That haters of women have no place in society and that their professions are insincere, is adequately proved by Marguerite Clark in her splendid characterization of the role of Sylvia Weston, in her latest Paramount photoplay, "Three Men and a Girl," which will be shown the first two days of next week.

Cleopatra, the Queen of Roman Empire days who was so charming, she could get whatever she heart desired, is still living. And it is through the efforts of Theda Bara, the famous screen favorite that this feat is possible.

Incidentally to-day is your last chance to see Theda Bara portray the character of Cleopatra at the Victoria Theatre. This picture drew in unusually large crowds yesterday and to-day.

REGENT THEATRE TODAY ONLY Vivian Martin in "You Never Saw Such a Girl" Also Movies of the Parade Welcoming the Boys of the 28th Division and a Paramount-Drew Comedy "Harold, the Last of the Saxons"

THE BACH FESTIVAL AT LEHIGH UNIVERSITY Dr. J. Fred Wolfe, conductor of the Bethlehem Bach Choir reports that he is greatly pleased with the progress of the singers in preparation for the festival which will be held at Lehigh University, June 1-7. The entire chorus seems to be devoting itself to the work with more enthusiasm and energy than ever before.

The choir now includes a number of soldiers who have returned from service. They are perfectly at home in the "Mighty B Minor" which has been the annual second-day offering of the Bethlehem singers since the choir was founded in 1900. The soldiers are, however, requiring special study in learning the super-bass part that will be rendered on the first day of the festival. These are: Friday, "The Lord is a Sun and Shield" and "With My Cross-Staff Gladly Wander"; "O each Me Lord My Days to Thee"; "The Lord is a Sun and Shield"; Friday, 8 p. m., "Bide With Us"; "Strike, Oh Strike, Long-Looked-For"; "Thou Guide of Israel"; and "O, Light Everlasting."

Due to train schedules, the time for the festival will be postponed from the Bethlehem Bach Festival on Saturday, June 1, will be 4.30 p. m. instead of 5 p. m. as originally planned. The festival will be held at Lehigh University, Philadelphia, and points east and west to take more than 100,000 people.

PEEPS BEHIND THE SCENES Eight actors and actresses from the Lehigh University Dramatic Society are the interest of the Salvation Army drive at noon, through several unique features.

First they secured a truck, had a piano placed on it, then Miss Helen Miller, a southern belle, who plays the xylophone along. They went to the Salvation Army headquarters in the Gilbert building and sold doughnuts at $1 each.

For each $25 contributed Miss Miller played a solo.

Could you have the opportunity of talking to various actors, who are in their dressing rooms making up you would hear some peculiar stories of how they entered vaudeville.

This morning, Simon Myers, the blarney orator in "Half Past Two" was telling of his troubles in trying to land a job in vaudeville.

He hailed from Alabama and had played vaudeville below the Mason-Dixon line for a number of years. He had come to play New York. He went to Broadway, but it kept him so busy dodging the street cops that he had no time to even ask for a job the first two weeks.

Tired of looking for a Broadway job he packed his trunk and was about to leave when he met "Bob" Manchester, one of the first men who ever entered vaudeville. Bob gave him a job. It was only a minor job to start with but within three weeks Myers had made such a hit on the White trail, he was booked as a headliner.

While some don't claim to be the best comedian on the stage he does claim to be the best fisherman in the business.

And to prove it he has agreed to spend a week of his vacation this year with Art McWaters, of McWaters and Tyson, merely for the sake of showing McWaters he doesn't know how to catch big fish.

HISTORICAL CELEBRATION New Cumberland, Pa., May 24.—On Thursday evening a citizens meeting was held at the office of the Susquehanna Woolen Mill, when it was decided to take part in the historical celebration at Carlisle, July 3 and 4. Heavy Hail and Rain Storms Do Great Damage in York County Farm District

Goldsboro, Pa., May 24.—Two persons were injured, one of them seriously and nine head of livestock perished, as a result of storm which passed over York county, at an early hour on Thursday evening.

Three buildings were struck by bolts, but only one fire was reported.

Deneville Pfeiffer, 84 years old, is in a critical condition, as a result of burns, his clothes igniting when he attempted to outen the blaze in the hay mow in the barn on his farm, a short distance west of town, after it had been struck by lightning. The aged man was at the barn when the bolt struck it. He ran to the haymow to extinguish the blaze which followed. He was soon enveloped in flames. He ran from the barn, his clothing in flames. David Yinger, who was passing at the time, with the assistance of Mr. Pfeiffer's daughter, tore the clothing from his body, probably saving his life. He is badly burned, however. With the barn, which was totally destroyed, were burned eight head of livestock, three hogs and five cattle; also a bushel of oats.

Mrs. Gertrude Courdeway, of Fort Wayne, Ind., visiting at the home of her cousin, Harvey Spangler, at Roundtown, near here, was severely injured by being struck by a bolt of lightning. Mrs. Courdeway was in the act of lowering a window when the bolt came through the window. She started back, and catching hold of a wooden bed, having a spring mattress which was electrified, Mrs. Courdeway's right leg came in contact with the spring. The shoe was ripped from her foot and her clothing was torn in shreds. Considerable damage was done to the Spangler home.

At Glen Rock the barn of Charles Snyder was struck by a bolt. A calf that was tied near where the bolt entered was killed.

Considerable damage was done to the crops and fields in the vicinity of Wellsville and Dover. Entire gardens were wiped out by the heavy rains of the past few days. Hail accompanied the storm on Thursday night, and pellets the size of a walnut are said to have fallen at some places.

Between Spring Grove and Hanover, the fields were almost covered with hail, which fell for a period of fully fifteen minutes, damaging fruit considerably, it is reported.
