There's no reason why a merchant should worry about his income tax report or his store records

THE average storekeeper who uses a bank check book and an up-to-date National Cash Register can get the figures which tell him how his business stands every day, and the figures he needs for his income tax report once a year.

From his check book and bills: He can get the cost of running his store, cost of merchandise bought, and a record of payments made.

From his National Cash Register: He can get a record of his store transactions:

- ① Cash Sales
- ② Charge Sales
- ③ Received on Account
- ④ Petty Cash Paid Out

These store transactions are the basis of his gross income. They total sixty per cent to ninety per cent of the details occupying his time and clerical labor. They must be made rapidly during the rush of selling. They are hard to get, hard to keep, impossible to verify, and expensive to record unless he uses a modern National Cash Register.

National Cash Register figures are the foundation for accounting systems in stores all over the world. A post card or phone call will bring you full information about the way a modern N. C. R. System will keep your store records by machinery.
