"That Is The New Silhouette"

a saleswoman explained to the attractive woman trying on a new gown. Then she added consolingly, as the customer regarded herself in the mirror with some doubt — "You'll get used to it, and you'll really like it, too."

Prophetic words! For when six or seven new models had been tried on, creations of the most distinguished dress artists, she was quite won over.

The present day silhouette styles more than ever before need a specific foundation — a good corset — properly fitted like the Redfern will be very satisfactory.
