

VIRGINIA SHAAH GIVES A DANCE

Gay Japanese Parasols and Lanterns Make Colorful Decorations

Guests of Miss Virginia Shaah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Shaah, of Camp Hill, had the merriest kind of a party last evening at their home in Camp Hill. Varicolored Japanese parasols and lanterns were used in decorating the porch with summer flowers, and the colored favors were Japanese parade favors. Supper was served out of doors with the table garlanded with flowers and a centerpiece of flowers and tiny electric lights. In attendance were Miss Dorothy Vickery, Miss Virginia Rhenn, Miss Gene Moses, Miss Betty Patterson, Miss Marian Nell, Miss Gretchen Deen, Miss Louise Cook, Miss Dorothy Bushnell, Miss Margaret Assey, Miss Minerva Baker, John Virginia Shaah, Morley Deen, Donald Wickersham, Edward Deen, Donald Brinker, James Patterson, Charles Alden, James Mulhouse, Hugh Harrison, John A. Fritchey and David Gilbert.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wood, of 2001 Harris street, have gone to the White Sulphur Springs, Va., for a stay of several weeks.

Spending Honeymoon In The Mountains

MRS. NORMAN CHESTON JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cheston Jones who were married in this city last week went by automobile to Blue Ridge Summit where they are spending the honeymoon in the mountains. The bride before her marriage was Miss Katharine Muma, and the ceremony was performed in the Christ Lutheran church, by the Rev. Thomas Reisch. The couple will make their home in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Jones, recently released from service in the U. S. Navy, is connected with the U. S. Treasury.

Dr. E. W. Hunt Becomes Bucknell's New President

Lewisburg, Pa., June 25.—Bucknell University's sixty-ninth commencement ended yesterday with the presentation of 148 degrees to graduates and the conferring of three honorary degrees.

Bucknell's new president, Dr. Emory W. Hunt, was introduced with impressive ceremony by Dr. George M. Phillips, of West Chester. Following the inaugural address of President Hunt, Prof. Enoch Perrine gave the address of greeting to the new executive on behalf of the faculty. Dr. Milton G. Evans, of Chester, welcomed President Hunt on behalf of the alumni, and Miss Alice F. Ferris, of Philadelphia, greeted him for the undergraduates.

The Worley-Thompson Wedding Is Underway

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Thompson, of 208 South street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Caroline Elizabeth Thompson, to Samuel John Worley, of this city. The ceremony was performed yesterday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock in the Methodist Church of Breckler, Pa., by the Rev. John Morgan.

Festoons of greenery and clusters of wild flowers made effective decorations. The bride wore a dainty wedding gown of white crepe de chine with white picture hat and a corsage bouquet of bride roses. Miss Anna Thompson was maid of honor and Robert Worley was best man for his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Billings, of Pittsburgh, are stopping for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Melchior, Market street.

Miss Edna Kay and Miss Sara Mary Kay went home to Baltimore to-day, after a week's visit among relatives here.

Mrs. Phillip Aldinger and small daughter, of York, were recent guests of her mother, Mrs. Jerome Koons, of Boas street.

GIVES SUPPER AT PENN-HARRIS

Entertains in Compliment to Cast of "The Laughing Cure" Last Evening

Members of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Epworth League presented "The Laughing Cure" last evening at the church before a record-breaking audience. The mirth-provoking farce was interpreted most ably by a cast of nine people and the audience was in a state of constant merriment throughout the entire performance. Great credit is due John F. O'Neill for his work in directing the production and Mrs. Elmer E. Lawton for her invaluable services.

At the completion of the event, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Boll entertained the cast and several others at a supper of 18 covers at the Penn-Harris. Festoons of pink rambler roses and crystal vases holding masses of Lady Gay ranunculus graced the table. Placards bearing clever descriptions of the guests afforded much merriment, and in several instances the question was raised as to "who was who?" The favors for the women were old-fashioned nosegays of rosebuds, larkspur and Scott daisies, in paper frills, and each man received a rosebud boutonniere. But the surprise of the evening came when the host presented each guest with a picture of "The Laughing Cure" cast. Music was furnished by a saxophone and piano.

The guests were Miss Martha A. Lawton, Miss Ruth E. Towson, Miss Harriet Stoner, Miss Madeline S. Paul, Carl Stoner, Robert Crist, John Todd, all members of the cast; Miss Marion Towson, chairman of the guest list; the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bagnell, Mr. and Mrs. John F. O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Lawton, Mr. and Mrs. John Holla Miller and W. Ray Chapman.

Scouts to Parade in Honor of World Peace

The signing of the peace which will mark the conclusion of the World War, will be celebrated in Harrisburg by Boy Scouts in an impressive manner. The news flash from Versailles telling that signatures have actually been affixed to the Treaty, are now being awaited by the Scouts as the signal for the start of their celebration.

Arrangements for the event are in the hands of Scout Commissioner W. H. Henderson. He has announced that a parade of the Scouts will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening, provided news of the signing of the Treaty is received in the city before 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At the conclusion of the parade, short exercises will be held about a huge bonfire, which will be started at Fourth and State streets, directly back of the Capitol. The general public is invited to attend the exercises about the bonfire.

The parade, which will be for the Scouts alone, will form at Third and State streets, and move in Third to North, to Sixth, to Forster, to Second, to Market, to Fourth, to State. Men from the Army Recruiting Station will assist Mr. German in his work.

Would Sell Army Stores to Local Commission

Thousands of pounds of roast beef, bacon, corned beef and corned beef hash, together with many cans of tomatoes and corn are in storage at the Army reserve depot at New Cumberland, according to a communication received by Mayor Keister.

Mayor Keister is asked in the communication to learn the sentiment in Harrisburg on the proposition of having a commission of prominent citizens organized with substantial financial backing, to bid on carload lots of this material and in turn to sell it to the general public. It is pointed out that this material could be sold to the people of Harrisburg at a much lower rate than it is in stores and still would yield a profit to the members of the commission.

Harrisburg Academy to Hold Summer School

Announcement was issued to-day that the annual summer session of the Harrisburg Academy will open on July 7, and continue until August 15. Courses will be offered in grade, high school and college subjects, the classes of both boys and girls. The masters in charge will be Howard R. Omwake, senior master, languages; Arthur K. Kunkel, history and English; Henry Elmore Smith, former instructor in the Academy, who is returning after two years' army service, mathematics.

There Are Months Of Service Left In That Old Suit

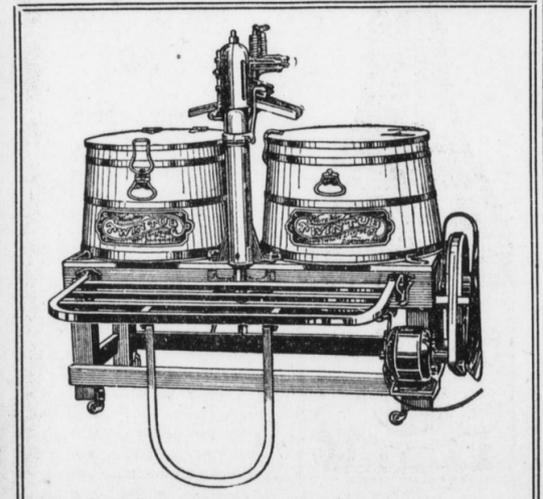

And surely it pays nowadays to get every ounce of wear out of a garment.

During June and July my alteration room will be engaged chiefly in the alteration of dresses. This will allow my men tailors some spare time, and in order to hold my force together, and keep my tailors busy, I'll refurbish that suit of yours, if you want, at actual cost. All that I ask is that you do not hurry me in the work.

It's remarkable what can be done by an expert in remodeling an old suit. A couple of inches added to or subtracted from the skirt, a change in the trimming, a cleansing and pressing and there's a new suit which will render months of service. My prices will surprise you. For I'll make no profit. Remember, though, only suits—and give me ample time.
