MAKING PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

Bishop William Bell, Restored to Health, Will Preside at Hanover

Hanover, Pa., Oct. 1.—Plans were being whipped into shape to-day for 130th annual session of the United Brethren church conference, which opens here next Wednesday, October 8. Bishop William Bell, of Washington, who has been restored to health at his ranch in Southern California, will preside at the sessions. It was announced to-day.

One of the most important questions to come before the conference will be the ministers' pension fund. This is the oldest conference of the church and has a membership of 23,641, a ministerial enrollment of 119 and 156 organized churches, a total record of 33,222 in the Sabbath schools.

A full quota of Dayntonian church officers will be present to represent various interests of the church. Pastors will present reports, who, with the conference superintendent, A. B. Stittman, will preside at the success of the annual meeting.

The Rev. A. A. Long, of York, who has been sick for several months and whose pulpit has been filled by his ministerial colleagues will not be able to return and his physician has advised him to retire for a year.

Fear Firebugs Are in Cumberland County

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 1.—Following a series of fires in various sections of the county, residents are becoming much alarmed. It is alleged that at least one was started to hide an attempt at robbery, and an opinion is growing that there may be some organization back of it. About one week ago two buildings were destroyed in Mt. Holly. At Cleversburg the elder mill and stables at the home of William Gilbert were burned. At Bolling Springs a fire which, it is claimed, was started to cover a robbery attempt destroyed a barn and other outbuildings at the home of W. S. Cornman. Attempts are claimed to have been made to enter the home of Mrs. Levi Gottshall nearby while neighbors were at the fire.

Funeral Held For Selinsgrove Attorney

Selinsgrove, Pa., Oct. 1.—The funeral of William W. Housewirth, a prominent member of the Snyder county bar, who died Sunday night, was held from 10 to 11 o'clock this afternoon. The service was attended by many of the attorneys throughout the county and was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Peiler. Burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS!

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength) and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

The Proof of the Pudding Is In the Eating

Eating what is pleasant to the eye, good to the taste, and that which is reasonable in price, combines the perfection of dining well. Why? Because the senses, our greatest gifts, are on good terms with themselves. The mind is at ease, and the purse has not been robbed. Food profiteering and the Cafeteria system of eating are like oil and water; they will not mix. That is why a family can dine here without the drudgery of housework, overcome the servant problem, and save money. When you are shopping don't hurry home, but visit The Cafeteria. Taste the puddings and you will save enough money and enough time to visit the "movie".

GAS IN CLOVER MAKES COWS SICK

Dover, Oct. 1.—Six head of cattle became seriously ill and one of them died, after they had broken into an adjoining field and ate of a rich species of clover. The stomachs of the cattle swelled to twice their normal size, due, veterinarians believe, to gas that was formed by eating of the clover. After the gas had been worked off the cattle they became well again rapidly.

Her two brothers, Charles and William Lytle, of Pittsburgh, were summoned here. Mrs. Reighard is aged 49 years and a widow. The coroner's office which investigated the accident exonerated Fred Coyston, chauffeur for Reighard.

Choked and Beat His Wife; Man Is Arrested

Wellsville, Pa., Oct. 1.—She only tried to help him put the hogs in the pen, but her husband, Charles A. Wise, Conewago township, resented interference with his pets, threw her down and choked and beat her, it is said, until she was black and blue. Mrs. Iva M. Wise so alleged in information made before Alderman Walter F. Owen, York, which caused the arrest of Wise yesterday afternoon. ALTHOUGH 100 YEARS OLD, HE WILL GUN FOR RABBITS

New Hope Centenarian Plans to Shoot Cottontails When the Season Opens; Will Seek a Hunter's License; Shot Three Rabbits During Last Year

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Although he has just passed his 100th birthday, William Kinsey, of New Hope, Pa., Bucks county's oldest living Civil War veteran, expects to take out a hunter's license this year when the rabbit season opens. The veteran is remarkably well preserved and takes a daily walk for exercise and recently made a 12-mile automobile trip to Doylestown to attend a convention of his old Civil War comrades.

Last year, at the age of 99, he shot three rabbits. When questioned as to his accuracy in marksmanship, he said, "I did not have any one hold them or tie their legs with a string and I'll take any one at a time when it comes to hitting the mark." Kinsey is known in every section of Bucks county. He was born in Upper Makefield township, of Quaker parentage, and for 75 years worked at his trade as a carpenter. He enlisted in the 104th Pennsylvania Volunteers in 1861 and served three years.

He then re-enlisted in the "Fortieth New Jersey" February 14, 1865, and was honorably discharged July 13, 1865. "I was a farmer for many years," said Mr. Kinsey, "and I am a Democrat in politics, but above all I am an American." At his recent 100th birthday five generations of the Kinsey family were present.

York Mayor Stops Advertiser Service

York, Pa., Oct. 1.—Fearing that the advertising methods of the Bible pavilion would precipitate trouble by fostering class hatred, Mayor Hugentugler directed the Rev. F. B. Gauterau to discontinue his meetings here.

The meetings were being conducted by the Seventh Day Adventists. The particular lecture to which Mayor Hugentugler objected was to have been delivered last night, by the Rev. E. A. Parsons, of Philadelphia. It was advertised as follows: "Coming war between rich and poor and its outcome as foretold by Bible prophecy, with some of the latest pictures of recent strikes."

Chestnuts Scarce in the Blue Ridge Mountains

Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 1.—The chestnut season is here, but the chestnuts have not arrived. And they will not arrive in this section of the Blue Ridge. Two things have played havoc with the little brown nut that for centuries came as the last of nature's bounties in the autumn. It rained on St. Swithin's Day, July 12, which is always fatal to a crop, and the blight of several years killed most of the bearing trees. The young trees have not come up to the bearing age.

APPLE PICKERS IN ADAMS SCARCE

Many Men and Women Have Gone to the Canning Factories

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 1.—Although the highest wages paid to farm laborers in Adams county is being paid at the present time it is difficult to secure the help needed to gather in the big crops of apples and corn, farmers say. Both crops are always good in the agricultural and horticultural section, and both coming at the same time always brings it problems to secure the necessary help. Another reason assigned for the shortage this year is the fact that many men and women who in other years went into the fields and orchards are this year working in establishments which have sprung up to help in the preserving of the fruits. In most cases four dollars per day is the price paid, and even at this price every available worker will be sought the next several weeks.
