

SERVICE NAMES ARE ON REVISED RECORD

Chamber of Commerce Makes Public Men Who Were Not Reported on List Published at Time of Celebration

The following is a list of the service men whose names have been reported to the offices of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce since the compilation of the list of thirty-one hundred names published Monday afternoon. The committee realizes that there may be still other soldiers, sailors, and marines whose war histories are not possessed by the memorial committee. The only way these names can be secured, however, is for the men themselves, or their relatives and friends, to report them to the Chamber offices.

These names also will be placed in the pylons of the State's memorial bridge across the railroad tracks east of the Capitol. The memorial committee will use them in raising their subscriptions of twenty dollars for each service man, and therefore a one hundred per cent. complete list is needed.

Encouraging Bolshevism. Everything that falsely encourages unrest also encourages bolshevism. Misunderstanding of American industrial organization, and of its benefits to mankind, leads to unrest, dissatisfaction, and radicalism. For example, the Federal Trade Commission tells the public that the large packers had an agreed price for lard substitute (made of cotton-seed oil). It reproduces letters taken from the files of one of the packers, showing that such agreed price existed. But it failed to mention that the agreed price was determined at the request of and in co-operation with the Food Administration! Even the Department of Justice, in its unjust attempt to create prejudice against the packers, has made public these same letters, with no explanation. How long must this kind of misrepresentation continue? In so far as it is believed, it not only breeds discontent, but results in injustice to our industry.

Are Steel Strike Leaders Patriots or Bolshevists? "We are going to socialize the basic industries of the United States. This is the beginning of the fight. We are going to have representatives on the board of directors of the Steel Corporation," declared John Fitzpatrick, Chairman of the Committee of Twenty-four, representing the twenty-four separate American Federation of Labor unions participating in the steel strike. T. J. Vind, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor in the Chicago district, made even a more defiant cry when he declared that "The strike won't stop until steelworkers become the lawmakers at Washington." While many editorial writers outside the labor press take these and other statements of the strike leaders as an indication that they aim at nothing less than industrial revolution, The New Majority, of Chicago, organ of the Labor party, counters with a charge of "high treason" against Judge Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, because he denied the strikers "their constitutional rights of free speech, press and assemblage," and it affirms, "he has set himself and his steel trust up in defiance of the Government and Constitution of the United States, as superior to them." Concerning the union demand for increased wages, the labor leaders admit, according to a correspondent of the New York Tribune, that the wages to employes in the steel industry have increased about one hundred per cent. in the last four years, but "even this increase has not sufficed to improve their originally wretched conditions. They tell of human beings living like cattle in miserable shacks and hovels. The answer of the employers to this contention is that with the foreigners in the mills and furnaces the rate of pay has nothing to do with the standard of living, as the purpose of this class of laborers is not to live well, but to live as poorly as possible in order to save as much money as possible, usually with the intention of returning to Europe when a certain size stake has been attained." The employers support their contention by pointing to a scale of wages ranging from $3.50 to $6.00 a day for unskilled help, and from $7.00 to $80.00 a day for skilled help.
