

CONCERT IS PLEASING ONE

Big Audience Pleased by the Philadelphia Orchestra at Orpheum Theater

By John W. Phillips
The Orpheum theater last evening had the privilege and honor of housing the greatest orchestra in America—and, the greatest orchestral conductor. The Philadelphia Orchestra's last public appearance here was some four years ago, and there was some feeling made at that time that the orchestra would not be heard in the least dimmed; but the impression conveyed by last night's concert convinced beyond a doubt that we were listening to the greatest orchestra in the country.

Much Rheumatism

Local Druggists' No-Cure-No-Fee Offer Attracts Many
If there are any rheumatic sufferers who have not availed themselves of this generous offer they should do so at once. Kennedy's Drug Store states that if Rheuma, the guaranteed prescription for rheumatism, is used, it does not give any purchaser quick and joyful relief they will gladly return the cost without any quibbling or red tape.

planned program, with magic power and skill. Mr. Stokowski has a magnetic personality, made up of dramatic force and musical vision. His greatest attribute is his poetic and dramatic which he uses with rare judgment and a keen sense of proportion.

The program opened with "The Flying Dutchman Overture," which is really a symphonic poem, woven about the most important and vital motifs of the music drama. The unspooling, mystifying sea, the approaching storm, the threatening atmosphere, contrasted with deep human emotions of pleasant simplicity, are not only depicted by tone painting, but by actual music suggestion as well. In Wagner's works—especially his later ones—more than any other, we find truth of expression in its best sense.

All the resources of the orchestra were brought into play in this magnificent and moving number, which was played with broad sweeps of tone, calling forth startling dynamic effects, and by means of the most lovely effects, now by the woodwind choir and again by the strings. A very noble and impressive number.

The orchestral prelude, "L'Après midi d'un faune," by Debussy, startlingly illustrates the difference between the French impressionists and the old German symphonic traditions. The prelude is what we call atmospheric, and suggests what is most personal to Debussy—that narrow range of moods and sensations, which we may term poetic, meditative, or romantic; and he therefore said to have atmosphere. The orchestra played this with skill and beauty, the misty chromatic quality being maintained, weaving a harmony that seems the very blossoming of the theme. The whole tone scale, which Debussy helped popularize, is also used to a great extent.

Rimsky-Korsakov's symphonic suite, "Scheherazade,"—his greatest orchestral work—is really a fine attempt at story telling. It does not depict a scene, but rather suggests it. It is in fact, rather vague in an objective way. It does, however, suggest many scenes and places and incidents. It suggests vigorous action and also beautiful oriental wisdom. The themes themselves, however—often repeated—carry pictorial suggestiveness; and the second and third movements are decidedly suggestive of Oriental scenes and incidents. The fourth movement, narrating the story of the sea and the shipwreck, is skillfully developed and scored. The story-telling motif returns again, leading into soft, charming, dreamy chords, saying plainly that the prince and princess lived happily ever after.

Three movements of the D minor concert for violin and orchestra, by Henri Vieuxtemps, were wonderfully well played by Thaddeus Rich, the soloist of the evening. Mr. Rich has grown appreciably in his art since his appearance here some four years ago. He has an easy mastery of bowing and fingering, sustained legato and a swinging tone that is entrancing in its loveliness. The recitative and cadenza figures in the opening movement were given with a mastery and style, together with a swinging technique that stamped him a first rate. The second movement, slower in tempo and religious in character, was played so well that it won the closest attention and highest approval of the audience.

The third movement, played with fine fluency and exactness, demonstrated Mr. Rich's thorough mastery of music and instrument. There was a dash and surety that was exhilarating, and conveyed unmistakably to the audience, that in Mr. Rich America has a violinist demanding international recognition.

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Stokowski, was beautifully balanced, controlled and timed, and seemed to at all times taking a special pride in giving Mr. Rich their very best support in an accompaniment that was interesting and exceedingly well played. The concert is so well planned that it is hoped to send the box forward on Tuesday of next week.

TO FILL HOLIDAY BOX
The Ladies Aid Society of Sixth Street United Brethren Church is making plans to fill a big Christmas box for the Quincey Orphanage, at Quincey, Pa. Contributions will be received throughout the week, and it is hoped to send the box forward on Tuesday of next week.

GREET SPROUL AS CANDIDATE

of him for President and of the accomplishment of his Administration. Lauded by Knox
At the conclusion of the Governor's address, Senator Knox referred to him as "young, aggressive and strong candidate for the Presidency of the United States, and that he himself would shrink in the presence of Governor Sproul, the most aggressive representative of present-day Republicanism."

Representative Thomas S. Butler, of West Chester, presided at the dinner. He said that he had noted much of his speech made before the Republican National Committee meeting and invited the Republican delegation to come to Harrisburg to be his guests.

Senator Knox, as the chief speaker, paid an earnest tribute to Governor Sproul. He said that the Republican National Committee meeting and invited the Republican delegation to come to Harrisburg to be his guests.

Chicago was selected for the next convention city, however, St. Louis, Pennsylvania gave its votes to the latter city. Tuesday, June 8, was selected as the convention date.

Two New Departments.
The committee also authorized the creation of two new departments of party organization to deal respectively with policies and general party welfare. The former, composed of selected members of the committee, other men and women representing labor, capital, the farmers and others, will go to work at once sorting out subjects to be dealt with in the 1920 platform.

The plan of Will H. Hays, the national chairman, for limitation of individual campaign contributions to $1,000, formally was approved and the committee announced some changes in the apportionment of delegates to the national convention. These changes were not of a sweeping nature, however, and affected only seven states.

Such Time to Platform
It was explained by party leaders that the purpose of the special committee on policies was to overturn the usual practice of writing the platform in a few all-night sessions of the resolutions committee at the convention. The new body, it was said, was not intended to supplant that committee, but was calculated to bring to it the result of six months of concentrated thought in which all elements of party opinion would be represented.

Two states will gain and five states will lose in the reapportionment of state representation in the national convention which was based on a detailed system of calculation adopted at the last national convention. The net result will be a reduction of seven in the number of delegates to vote in the 1920 convention, the total being 984 in place of 991 in 1916. The changes are as follows:

New York gains one, making the state's total in next year's convention 88; North Carolina gains one, making 22; Alabama loses two, making 14; Arkansas loses two, making 13; Massachusetts loses one, making 25; Tennessee loses one, making 20; and Texas loses three, making 23.

On motion of Senator Smoot, committee from Utah, the committee adopted a resolution commending the states which have ratified the national woman suffrage amendment and urging that the 14th Amendment be amended to permit women to vote in all states in 1920.

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the executive committee of the Women's Division of the National Convention, held a proxy for committeeman Sweet, of Maine, at the meeting.

Committees Named
Announcement was made of the membership of various committees, of following men being among those selected:

Committee on Policies and Platforms—Penrose, Pennsylvania.

Advisory Council Committee (consisting of both committeemen and leaders not members of the National Committee)—Penrose, Pennsylvania.

Executive Committee—John T. Rhea, Connecticut; Senator Penrose, Pennsylvania.

Committee on Publicity—General T. Coleman Dupont, Delaware.

Electric Power Plant Burns at Arendsville
Gettysburg, Dec. 11.—The electric light plant supplying Arendsville and vicinity burned to the ground yesterday. The loss will be $20,000, with only a small amount of insurance. The plant was located in the flouring mill of L. E. Myers, and the blaze is supposed to have been started from dust getting into the bearings of a machine.

CAMP CURTIN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Many visitors are registering at Camp Curtin this week. Alice Decevee spent Monday afternoon with Section 8B-2, of which Sarah Jeannette Decevee is a member.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson and son, T. Vainter, and Clarence Zeeb, of the Red Cross work, attended the lectures on Wednesday, given by Cho-Cho and Mr. and Mrs. Dahlwani.

Children of good health teacher, told two audiences filling the auditorium, to become health engineers.

The spectacular appearance of Cho-Cho in red and green and white, his perilous climb to the platform, his magic and jesting gave the children many a hearty and uproarious laugh, as he kept suggesting new hygienic goals.

Buy and use Red Cross stamps to stamp out the tuberculosis, said Cho-Cho before calling out good-by, and to the regret of the audience, went away with his escorts, Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, president of the Civic Club, Miss Gibson, executive secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society; Mrs. Stanley Backenstos, a prominent Red Cross worker; Dan D. Hammebaum, secretary of the Junior Red Cross Society.

Supervisor principals and teachers, representing school buildings Cameron, Steele, MacLay, Kelly, Hamilton, Riverside, and Oakdale, brought their pupils to hear Cho-Cho.

St. Mary's Parochial school attended. The instructors in charge were: Sister M. Flavia, Sister M. Bertha, Sister Eleanor and Sister Bertha.

Among those representing the public schools were: Miss Marian Williams, Miss Claudine Melville, Miss Helen Rinkensbach, Miss Josephine Koser, Maude Kennedy, Miss Emily Brown, Miss Laura Sloat, Miss Anna Stoner, Miss Ruth Koons, Miss Meta Wood, Miss Marie Baskin, Miss Sarah Banks, Miss Ruth Clark, Miss Doris Stauffer, Miss Katherine Koons, Miss Ellenberger, Miss Coleman, Miss Caroline Patterson, Miss Lillie Mittenmoss, Miss Stella Earley, Miss Isabella Griffith, Miss Martin Hogue, Miss LaVene Grove, Miss Rebecca Shoemaker, Miss Elizabeth Goldsmith, Miss Mary Skein, Miss Helen Barstide, Miss Josephine Koser, Miss Gertrude Pendergast, Miss Mary Crane, Miss Elsie Nixon, Miss Cora Adams, Miss Edna Mader, Miss Rebecca Shoemaker, Mrs. Piper, Miss Myrtle Bledsoe, Miss Clara, Miss Mary Bingham, Miss Nan Hemperly, Messrs. Herman Goetz and P. L. Hoeker.

A flu lecture from Arthur B. Wallace, principal of the Junior High school, in reply to a communication from Camp Curtin concerning the recent athletic contest was heard with unusual interest and appreciation.

Mr. Dahlwani, assisted by Mrs. Dahlwani, gave an instructive and interesting talk with beautiful hand-fashioned articles showing the economic, social and intellectual life of the Hindoos, who do not in any of their two hundred and fifty languages, as he said, say, "You've got my goat," when they mean, "I do not know."

Among the efficient student ushers were Dorris Fair, Vera Jacobs, Dorothy Kautz, Edna Eberle, Edna Sibers, Edward Astrich, John Kunkle, George Dettling formed part of a helpful traffic committee.

CENTRAL HIGH NOTES

Both morning and afternoon on Tuesday the school met in the assembly hall to hear N. K. Dahlwani, a native of Bombay, India, lecture on the habits and customs of his native land. Mr. Dahlwani was assisted by Mrs. Dahlwani. Both were greeted by the people of India. Mr. Dahlwani received his earlier education in Bombay, later coming to America where he attended Oberlin College in Ohio. Exceptionally interesting was his talk on the economic conditions of India and the way the people lived and what they wore, showing household utensils and wearing apparel. Mrs. Dahlwani appeared in a dark red material, handsomely interwoven with gold and silver. Mr. Dahlwani demonstrated the method of making a turban worn by tailors and spoke several languages used by the natives. At the conclusion of his lecture he sang two Indian songs.

A meeting of the C. A. O. Society was held at the home of Miss Louise Keller, 62 North Eighteenth street. Mrs. E. E. Deegan for the out and the decorations were sent and the decorations were sent and the decorations were sent.

GRANGE TO MEET
Mifflin Grange, of Cumberland county, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock, in regular session.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys Advises Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Neglect to Accumulate in Kidneys
Don't flush your kidneys with harsh makeshifts says Dr. Carey they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough.

For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshroot for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have had arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

IMPORTANT—Dr. Daniel G. Carey has been practicing physician for many years and his great prescription, "Marshroot," has cured thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles. It is not a patent medicine and is only sold through druggists in order to accommodate his patients.

GOVERNOR HAS TO SIGN MUCH

Hundreds of Commissions Prepared For the Signature of the Executive Soon

People of Pennsylvania have piled up some opportunity for Governor William C. Sproul to write his name between now and the first of the year. As a result of the election and State commissions requiring the Governor to commission certain officers of counties, there are almost 600 commissions prepared for the Governor's name and the men elected will take office in January.

In addition to this big list there have been prepared commissions for something between 1,300 and 1,400 justices of the peace who will assume their duties next month. For sure the attaches of the commission bureau of the Department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth are at work filling in the commissions. Years ago these commissions were written on parchment, but now they are lithographed on a specially made paper and the names filled in.

The State Army Board has been summoned to meet next week for consideration of bids for the new Pittsburgh Army.

Water and telephone companies continue to file notices of advances in rates with the Public Service Commission and some of them run from 5 to 15 per cent. Among the telephone companies advancing are the Erie, Berks, and Lehigh counties; Armstrong, Greene county, which abolishes free county service; South Penn., Washington county; South Lancaster, Wayne county, and Ralston.

State game wardens, who have been reporting to the office of the Commission in this city, say that many of the camps of deer hunters have broken up early all over the State because of the hunters killing the deer. In several sections the kill of deer has cleared out the animals and the hunters who did not get a chance at deer have gone to the northern counties where bear have been proving a nuisance.

Members of the State Forest Commission will resume their discussions of standardized contracts and methods of cutting timber in the State reserves to-morrow when an special meeting will be held. The question of contracts which have been left without being referred to the Commission, as has been done in past years, will also come up.

Very prompt steps are to be taken by Auditor General Charles A. Snyder to secure an appraisal of the estate of Henry C. Frick. The State and county authorities will have meetings in Pittsburgh with representatives of the dead coke and iron leader and arrange for the payment of the State's taxes which will run into the millions.

EDISON JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The boys and girls of Section 8B-2 are filled with the Christmas spirit. At the home room activity yesterday the section determined to help spread Christmas cheer among the poor children by voting that each boy and girl should bring a toy to be given to some unfortunate. The girls can not and a toy to give they will make doll dress to add to the collection. This section is working hard on the sale of Christmas Seals and have made an enviable record.

The school is working hard at the sale of Christmas Seals. From the present indications they will be able to make a good report at the end of the drive Friday. One section has sold over ten thousand seals. Mr. Davies has charge of the sale of seals for the school.

At the regular activities period yesterday Section 9B-7 gave an interesting program of stories. After they had finished the routine business of the day, the program was: "How the Robin's Breast Became Red," Mary E. Seaman; "Paddy's Dream," Banchie Filson; "The Origin of the Woodpecker," Anna Harker; an original story, "Wild Horse Dick," written by Genevieve Lingle, and read by Lucy Pike.

The school is maintaining its interest in banking, at least four sections having registered one hundred per cent. of their membership in the banking system. These sections are 9B-5, 9B-9, 8B-3 and 7B-11. The fact that the gymnasium door is not ready is preventing the coaches from starting the basketball season. The manager can not arrange his schedule until he learns when the floor will be available.

The second division had the pleasure of hearing Mr. and Mrs. Dahlwani, who are natives of India, lecture on the habits and customs of their native country to-day. These lecturers are graduates of Oberlin, and brought some very interesting information to the boys and girls of the audience. They will give their entertainment to the members of the first division to-morrow, when they assemble for the auditorium exercises.

Walter C. Platt, convicted by a Federal court jury yesterday on a charge of taking diseases cattle from Maryland into Pennsylvania, was fined $100 by Judge Charles B. Witmer. The December session was continued until next Monday when several civil cases will be heard.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair
Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

Approve Million Offer For North Penn Bank

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—Approval of the plan to dispose of the assets of the North Penn Bank to the Phoenix Trust Company for $1,000,000 was granted yesterday by Judges Ferguson and Davis, in the Court of Common Pleas, No. 3. As soon as the court approves the sale the organizers of the new company will pay ten per cent. or $100,000, and four months later they will pay 70 per cent, and the remainder during the next three months.

NEW DRIVE ON PETROGRAD

Stockholm, Dec. 11.—A new offensive against Petrograd is being planned, according to an interview with C. G.
