

REMOVE PICKETS FROM OVERLAND

Action Follows Injunction of Court Against Labor Unions

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 29.—Removal of pickets from the plant of the Willys-Overland Automobile Company continued today following a Federal court order issued Saturday which granted a permanent injunction preventing pickets of labor unions from interfering with Overland workers.

In making the order public, Judge John M. Killits declared that striking workers who have remained off the payroll since the labor disturbances of last June can no longer be classed as employees.

Judge Killits also ruled that the court could not recognize the rights of individuals to prolong labor controversy "after its substance has fled."

Labor troubles began at the Willys-Overland Company plant on May 5 when some of the employees left their work 36 minutes earlier than the usual quitting time. The plant was shut down on May 8 and again June 2 when three persons were killed and several wounded in a riot.

The United States District Court then took a hand and appointed a receiver to take charge of the plant. Operations were resumed June 13 under mandatory order of Judge Killits with a working force of 1,276.

December 29 when the motion for making permanent the injunction was filed it was shown that 13,556 persons were at work.

FINE WOOLENS IN DEMAND

Big Factor in High Prices of Clothing, Says Woolen Company Head

Boston, Dec. 29.—The insistence of the public upon cloth made from fine wools is a large factor in the present high prices of clothing, according to William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company. Mr. Wood, who recently charged that some of the merchants in Lawrence were raising prices with every increase in wages in the company mills in that city, gave his views on the cost of clothing in a statement last night.

"If our people would consent," was his conclusion, "to wear good, substantial, durable clothes made of the coarser wools, clothing could be purchased at considerably lower prices than those which now prevail."

His statement in part follows: "It is generally thought that the cost of cloth is the controlling factor in the cost of clothing, but the fact is that the cloth cost is less than half the cost of a completed suit."

"In the last five years the price of cloth in the ordinary suit of clothes has advanced a little less than the cost of labor and other materials that go into the making of the suit. The following figures show this, which I have from a manufacturer and merchant of clothing of the highest prominence in Boston.

"The cost in 1919 of the cloth for a suit of clothes of a particular grade is $13.57. The corresponding cost in 1914 was $4.28, showing an increase in the cost of cloth of $9.29.

"The 1919 cost of making this suit is $14.47. The corresponding cost in 1914 was $4.98, showing an increase in the cost of making of $9.49.

"Why have the costs and prices of clothing, so generally increased? "In the first place, war is always followed by a period of high prices. War means the destruction of the necessities of life in enormous quantities, together with the diversion of the product of industry from its usual channels. It needs no argument to show that when cloth and clothing are scarce, this scarcity always means high prices.

"Another factor of considerable effect in bringing about high prices is the high rate of taxation, both state and Federal.

"But beyond these causes which result in the general scale of high prices there are, I believe, certain factors which have affected the manufacture of cloth, particularly, and which are undoubtedly reflected in the cost of cloth and of clothing."

SCOUT THEORY OF REGAL ATTACK

Isolated Shot Aroused Officers, Who Then Got Into Fight

Dublin, Dec. 29.—An officer of the guard and one member of a band of intruders were killed yesterday in a shooting affray in Phoenix Park, a short distance from the Vice Regal Lodge. In some quarters the belief was expressed that an attack was in preparation against the lodge.

In the absence of all official information, the theory is that no raid against the Vice Regal Lodge was intended. It is supposed that an isolated shot was fired which Lieutenant and two privates went to investigate. It is not thought that they reached the person who fired the shot, but became involved in the struggle with a passerby who with the lieutenant was killed.

It is reported that a dead civilian was a laborer who had been treated at a Dublin hospital and was walking home from the park. He wore bandages on his face, the police say. No official report has been made by the police on the occurrence which will be explained at the military inquest.

The name of the civilian killed is said to be Laurence Carey, who resided at Lucan, near Phoenix Park. According to the official report of the struggle, Carey ignored the challenge to halt, and when the soldiers fired their rifles, he was shot. Carey was a drummer boy in the Lancashire regiment and won his commission of consular service in the war. His brother is still a drummer in the same regiment. Another, a major, also rose from the ranks.

Denies Mexican Claim as to Reasons for Death of Wallace

Washington, Dec. 29.—Claims of the Mexican government, as recently presented to the American embassy in Mexico City, that the killing near Tampico late in November of James Wallace, an American citizen, resulted from his failure to heed the warning of a Mexican sentry, are denied in an account of the incident which reached Washington from Aguila, Company of which Wallace was an ensign.

The Mexican foreign office charged that Wallace, while intoxicated, passed a sentry stationed at what was characterized as a "dangerous spot," and failing to halt, was shot and killed.

The Aguila Company's report, which was presented at a meeting in Tampico of oil company managers, is the first detailed account of the American's death to reach Washington.

GIRLS FOLLOW LOVERS TO SOUTH AMERICA WITH YACHT

Never in the history of American fiction has anything been more graphically told than the story of the two girls who followed their lovers to South America, as told by Richard Harding Davis in "Soldiers of Fortune," his most successful novel which has been adapted to photoplay and starts a one week engagement at the Victoria Theater today. The lovers were fortune hunters and set out to South America to attempt to strike it rich. They knew what was before them, roughing it, hiking for miles, etc., and before leaving they told their girls, but suddenly their girls appeared in South America. They had come from America to find their lovers. They made the trip in a yacht. This is only one of the interesting events told by Richard Harding Davis in his master novel.

Among the individuals entrusted with parts which are presented with the excellence which comes of experience and Evon Robinson, Alice Ramsey and Will Brown, Duke Thomas is understudying Mr. Montgomery, who, by the way, is responsible for both the production and the seasonable song numbers which run throughout the offering. "Hello 1919" is unquestionably a Broadway show at popular prices and lovers of real entertainment would do well to secure seats and witness a show that kept thousands giving vent to uncontrollable mirth wherever shown.
