

WOMEN DRILL FIRST GAS WELL

Contract For Derrick, Organize Company and Will Soon Begin Work

McKeesport, Pa., Dec. 30.—Women financiers have entered the natural gas field, developed during the past few months in Snake Hollow almost within the city limits, and are drilling their first well. The pioneers were Miss Isabella Milmo, assistant to the city treasurer, and Miss Irma Atwater, assistant to the city solicitor.

They heard so many stories of fortunes being made in the new development that they found a bit of land not under lease, contracted for a derrick, and organized a company. Drilling is to be commenced as soon as the plant is on the ground.

Development in the Snake Hollow field is going on with every evidence of the old time "wild-cat" oil and gas boom. Town lots one the edge of the city which three months ago were next to worthless are selling for as much as $10,000 each, and every time a new well comes in the price goes up.

A number of important wells have been brought in by companies whose business it is to search for and find natural gas. But spectacular and picturesque speculation and financing are not lacking. Stories of the success of some persons who have become rich over night have attracted others until the boom has claimed wide attention.

FEARS DEATH OF MIDDLE CLASS

Are Being "Slowly Ground to Powder" in England, Buckmaster Says

London, Dec. 30.—Lord Buckmaster formerly Lord Chancellor, declared in the House of Lords the other day that the people of "middle class" in Great Britain were being "slowly ground to powder under present conditions."

"There is a large body of people whom," he said, "for want of a better definition, I will call the middle class, the people engaged as civil servants, doctors, writers and school masters, all the people who earn relatively small incomes, say from £300 to £1,000, and who are the most thrifty and the most self-sacrificing class in the whole country."

"They are people who stint themselves sometimes of almost the necessities of life in order that they may give their sons a better chance at school and at college; they are the class which has recruited all our finest people all over the globe."

"What is the result? Every time the currency is inflated the hand of the state is put into their pockets, and from their small, hard-won earnings sums are taken away in order that other people may have more."

"These are the people who are being slowly ground to powder under the present conditions, and I say it is the class which represents the life-giving point of the nation. If that class is once destroyed it will be impossible that it should ever be replaced."

Blames Stotesbury For Blocking the Philadelphia Port

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—Richard Spillane told the members of the Board of Trade at a luncheon yesterday at the Bellevue-Stratford that the "sinister influence" that blocked the development of the port of Philadelphia by holding up the construction of a large drydock on the Delaware River was E. T. Stotesbury, a partner of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Mr. Spillane's assertion came unexpectedly at the end of the luncheon. It was based, he said, upon correspondence and information which had been given to him by Charles M. Bullentire, of Germantown, showing that Mr. Stotesbury had "vetoed" the plans of the Foundation Company, of New York, to build a large drydock on the Delaware River because he feared it would jeopardize the interests of the Cramp shipyards, in which he is a voting trustee.

Meet Foreigners on Common Ground Only Way, Declares Weber

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—A "lack of tact" on the part of many persons who take upon themselves the duty of Americanizing foreigners was assailed by S. E. Weber, superintendent of schools of Scranton, in an address before the Pennsylvania State Educational Association here yesterday. Mr. Weber asserted the only way to make true Americans out of foreigners is to meet them on common ground, instead of talking to them about the "obscure term of Americanism."

Charles H. Judd, University of Chicago, addressing the high school section, declared the schools are turning out graduates unfit to cope with the problems of the present day. "We go on teaching ancient institutions and archaic methods of government and tell our boys that with this equipment they are fitted to solve the problems of to-day," he said. "Every boy knows more about Athens and Rome than Washington or Harrisburg. Our children know nothing of what happened in this world since 1880."

Hagood Out by Refusal of Senate to Confirm Him

Washington, Dec. 30.—Norman Hagood is no longer American minister to Denmark. It is said at the State Department officials explained that the Senate had failed to confirm his nomination before the end of the special session on November 19, and that since he was not given a recess appointment by President Wilson, his commission automatically expired on that date.

Mr. Hagood, who returned from Copenhagen several days ago, was in conference to-day with Secretary Lansing, discussing the situation in Soviet Russia. It was said that the situation pictured by the former minister on the basis of information reaching him at Copenhagen did not differ materially from that described in dispatches reaching the department from other sources.

Attempt Was Made to Bribe Councilmen Is Charge of Moore

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—Mayor-elect J. Hampton Moore caused a political sensation here last night when he announced that rumors reached him to-day from two sources suggesting that three of the eleven councilmen-elect friendly to the incoming city administration had been approached with the purpose of winning them away from Mr. Moore. The mayor-elect refused to mention any names, but said he intended consulting with the district attorney to-morrow with a view to seeing that all "who go so far as bribery and corruption may be halted."

Doutrichs Clothing Reductions On All Suits and Overcoats

It is news indeed when you hear of genuine reductions such as this "Live Store" is offering. But it's part of our business policy to dispose of everything within the season for which it was bought. We don't carry merchandise over from season to season, because we realize it don't improve with age. Some merchants get the wrong conception about their stocks, especially at times like the present. They figure it's better to hold on to what they have with prices advancing as they are to-day.

But we figure differently, we bought our present stocks when they were very much lower in price than they could be purchased for today. We realize that they are worth considerably more than the prices we are asking for them, yet, in spite of all this, we are keeping our faith with the public and giving them the benefit of our early purchasing in offering these extraordinary values at our usual January Reductions.

Hart Schaffner & Marx, Kuppenheimer & Society Brand Clothes

Remember we reserve nothing. You have the finest and most widely-known brands of clothing at your disposal. We don't try to attract our customers and their friends with a few undesirable Suits and Overcoats that have been picked up from the manufacturers "at a price." That's a joke these days and the men who buy these "mistakes" which have been palmed off on the unwise merchant will regret it sooner or later. You had better play safe—Come to Doutrichs, where you can get nationally-known merchandise at lower prices than you can buy the "unknown" elsewhere.
