OVERPOWERS MAN WHO WOULD KILL

Officer Finds Herman Kappes Pressing Revolver Against Daughter's Head

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 31.—The prompt arrival of an officer at the home of Charles Kappes probably saved Miss Marie Kappes, 17 years old, of Carlisle, from being murdered. The girl was visiting at the Kappes home when her father, Herman Kappes, who lives here, appeared at the house. It is said he was intoxicated. With a revolver he frightened the members of the family into the front part of the house while he forced his daughter into a room in the rear. An officer was summoned and when he forced open the door into the room in which Kappes and the girl were, he saw the father pressing the revolver against the girl's head and threatening to shoot her. He was overpowered and driven from the house.

Carlisle to Have New Industry Operating Soon

Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 31.—Carlisle will get a new industry. The Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that it had been able with the cooperation of Caleb S. Brinton and other citizens of Carlisle to add the new industry of the Carlisle Foundry Company organized by Mr. Brinton and his associates who have purchased the plot adjoining the main line of the Cumberland Valley railroad between the Letort Spring and Spring Garden street. Machinery has been ordered together with material for the new building. Building will begin as soon as the weather permits. The improvements ordered by the new company will cost $50,000. The output of the Carlisle Foundry Company will at the outset be above five tons daily and in a large degree contracted for before the plant is in operation.

Heckton Sunday School Holds Christmas Exercises

Dauphin, Pa., Dec. 31.—One of the most interesting and attractive Sunday School Christmas exercises, entertainments was held on Sunday evening in the Methodist Church at Heckton. The church was filled and a most excellent program was given under the direction of E. Barnhart. The congregation of the United Brethren Church united in the service. The program consisted of recitations, songs, exercises, choruses and vocal and instrumental music. A beautiful Christmas tree, tastefully trimmed, was placed on the platform. The Rev. G. L. Schaffer, the pastor, and the Rev. Mr. Gotshall, pastor of the United Brethren Church, made addresses.

SANTA CLAUS GIVER OF GIFTS

Novel Entertainment Is Presented at Trinity Lutheran Church, Mechanicsburg

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Dec. 31.—Two big Christmas trees, elaborately trimmed, and several smaller ones, with a real Santa Claus to distribute gifts, were featured last evening at the novel entertainment presented in the room of Trinity Lutheran church, which was attended by members of the church, Sunday School, Mite Society, Brotherhood, Missionary societies and Lutheran League. The affair, part of the holiday celebration, was the culmination of work by the committee, of which E. C. P. Wagner is chairman, and whose ideas were carried out in the plans.

In addition to the Christmas trees the room was elaborately decorated with laurel and red bells. Underneath the trees, gifts were piled and distributed to all persons present by Santa Claus. As each person entered the door a card was handed out on which was a number. A corresponding one on a gift, daintily wrapped, gave the clue to Santa, who handed the package to the person who walked to the tree to receive it.

Previous to the gift giving, the following program was given, which represented each organization of the church:

Prayer, the Rev. H. Hall Sharp; "Joy to the World," greeting from the church, the Rev. H. Hall Sharp; song by the younger members of the Sunday School; greeting from the Sunday School by George E. Hoover, assistant superintendent; "Silent Night," by the choir; greeting from the Lutheran League, by H. H. Mercer, president; greeting from the Brotherhood by Wilbur Wertz, president; song by the Mite Society; greeting from the Missionary Society by Mrs. H. Hall Sharp, president; greeting from the Willing Helpers Missionary Society by Miss John Hurst, president; song by the children.

Following the distribution of gifts, a social time followed and ice cream was served. About 200 persons were present.

MARIETTA ACCEPTS SOLDIER MEMORIAL

Red-Letter Night in History of Borough Along Susquehanna River; Woman Presents Town Community House While Father and Son Light Hearth Fire

Herewith is shown the community home given by Marietta by Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Hiestand and their son, Gerald, in honor of their son and brother, who gave his life in the country's service, and the soldiers of three wars from Marietta. It was formally set apart last night in exercises that were attended by people from many parts of Lancaster county. The memorial hall is a handsome and spacious room with an eight-foot fireplace. The furniture is of willow, trimmed in cretonne, and the curtains, shades and hangings. The fireplace opens on the side porch as well as in the hall. A plane of the latest design stands in the northwest corner. Above the fireplace is the portrait of Lieutenant Hiestand, and on either side small electric lights in candle shape. A bronze individual tablet stands to the right, and further over is the large tablet, made by the Liberty Bronze Works, of New York, upon which are inscribed 182 names of those who were in the World War.

Marietta, Pa., Dec. 31.—Marietta received its finely-appointed Community House last night from Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Hiestand and their son, Fitzgerald, who presented the property as a memorial to their son and brother, Lieutenant Ben Hiestand, who was killed in an airplane accident at Dicks Field, Pa., on June 10, 1917. The institution is also to be a memorial for Marietta's soldiers of three wars, Civil, Spanish-American and World War.

In order to accommodate as many people who wished to attend as possible, Acri's theater was secured, where services were held, followed by the presentation of the deed and the formal opening of the house by Mrs. H. S. Hiestand in the memorial hall. Mrs. Hiestand in presenting the deed said: "We are so glad to see so many of our boys of the World War here to-night to see the dear old veterans of the Civil War, and to whom we served our country in the Spanish-American War. As we turn over the deeds of this property, which Mr. Hiestand and myself are giving in memory of our beloved son and brother, who gave his life in this past war, to stand for a memorial to him and to the other 182 boys and women who answered their country's call in the World War, we will light the fire on the hearth of this Community Home, and as we do this (Mr. Hiestand and Gerald at this time lighted the fire), let this thought be impressed upon our hearts: That this fire represents the spirit of this past war, that when it burns slowly, the spirit of service, the spirit of brotherly love, the 'making the world the better place to live in'."

"The boys who were before have left to us a burning message, 'To you from falling hands we throw the torch, be yours to hold it high,' so as we watch this fire burn now and through the coming years let it personally to us this torch, let us each one in our little community keep this spiritual fire, this spiritual torch burning alive in our hearts. To quote the words of one of the greatest men who ever lived, 'Ye have been called to liberty, but use not liberty, for an occasion to the flesh, that is not for our selfish ends, but in love serve one another for all the law is fulfilled in one word, that shall love thy neighbor as thyself.' So let us keep burning brightly and hold high the torch of love, and pass it on to our children and our children's children. 'To you, John K. Miller, as our first returned and wounded boy, representing all the men and boys in the service of our country past and present, we hand the deeds of this property, to be accepted by you for the service men, and the community of Marietta.'"

Mr. Miller, upon taking the papers, responded in a hearty and eloquent manner for the boys. The stage contained the men of the three wars, the speaker of the evening, and those who took part in lighting the torch. He related a number of incidents interesting to all. After the singing or a number of patriotic airs the assembly repaired to the Community House, where an inspection was held. This was followed by dance, Krodell's orchestra furnishing the music throughout the evening.

The beautifully lighted community tree in the hall, and the decorations, were there present people from Marietta, but from surrounding cities and towns.

MISS MORGAN IS YULETIDE BRIDE

Daughter of Dickinson College President Wedded to Russell E. McElfish

Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 31.—In the presence of members of the family, close friends and members of the faculty of Dickinson College and their wives at 6 o'clock last evening Miss Margaret H. Morgan, daughter of President and Mrs. J. H. Morgan of the college, became the bride of Russell E. McElfish, of Edgewood, Pa., at the Morgan home in West High street. Dr. Morgan officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. E. Skilleter, Methodist pastor. The best man was Palmer McElfish, brother of the groom and the bridesmaid Miss Julia Morgan, sister of the bride, both bride and groom are graduates of Dickinson college of the class of 1912.

A reception followed the ceremony and at its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. McElfish left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Edgewood, where the groom is principal of the large high school. The event was easily the leading social function of the holiday season. There were a number of attendants from out of town.

SINGLE AUDITOR LEFT ON BOARD

Adams County Court May Be Called on to Help Out Battlefield Town

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 31.—For several years Gettysburg has been having trouble in having the accounts of its borough officials audited and the court has usually been called upon to appoint men to do the work. When the war broke out two of the young men who had just been elected as auditors, Robert Blocher and Davis Kendeheart, went off to do their bit for their country, necessitating appointments to be made. When they returned they were again placed on the ticket, without opposition, together with another young soldier, Edwin Shoop, to be given their former positions at the election in November. Now when the time is about here for the work of the auditors to begin Blocher and Shoop have accepted positions at other places and Kendeheart is left alone as the only auditor.

"Tanlac" There is magic in its name, which is to-day a household word in this community, where its fame is as widespread as the bright, smiling sunshine.

"Tanlac is the result of scientific research," said the Tanlac Man. "Its ingredients are gathered from the remotest parts of the earth and compounded by skilled chemists even as mysteriously as famous mineral waters are formed. The science of man, competitive chemist skill and acquired medical lore are set at defiance in so far as imitation is concerned."

"Tanlac, has and is now proving invaluable in cases of stomach, liver and kidney troubles, as well as catarrh. As a general tonic and stomachic for half-sick, run-down, listless men and women, it builds up the system, creates a healthy appetite, promotes digestion, vitalizes the blood, and brings back color to the cheeks and the sparkle of health to the eyes." The genuine J. I. Gore Co. Tanlac is now sold here by George's Drug Store, Geo. A. Gorgas, Chas. F. Kramer, Kennedy Drug Co., W. F. Steever and all leading druggists.
