Cane Presentation. At the Catholic Orphan's Fair, in April ast, Hon. Emerson Etheridge received the righest number of votes for a prize cane. The managers of the Fair, taking advanage of his present visit to Nashville, preented the cane to him last night, through

Miss Jane Murray, in the parlor of the Stacey House, where had assembled a umber of the most elegant ladies Nashville and many gentlemen. On pre-senting the cane, Miss Morray said: HON, EMERSON ETHERIDE-I have been ppointed by the managers of the Fair held by the St. Mary's Orphan Associa tion to present you with this cane. It is the gift of your fellow-citizens of the capicity of Tennessee, who are the true friends of the grand old republic which we therish with such fond recollection, by which is fast disappearing beneath the oft repeated blows of an unrighteons despot im. It is a pledge of what the nable cit-zens of Nashville will do on the great day which is to decide whether Tennes seans are to be freemen or slaves. Accept it as an omen of the better days in store for down-trodden Tennesseans, when the oice of an indignant people will be heard broughout the length and breadth of our dear old State. The banner of the constitution has been unfurled to the biceze; you are our standard bearer; in you our hopes tre cast : and while you are instructing the ons of Tennessee in the highest duties of freemen, the daughters of the Rock City will pour forth their earnest, heartfelt prayers for the success of the only man who can now raise the State of Tennessee from her present humiliation.

Mr. Etheridge replied as follows: Miss MURRAY: For many years my life has been all anxiety and care, chiefly because public duties have been assigned me by too partial and confiding friends But it has often happened that the greatest esponsibilities, the severest trials, were lessened by kind acts and approving words, which this occasion forcibly recalls In no struggle of my life have I ever felt so much responsibility as now; yet at no period have I been cheered by approval more ratifying than that which is implied by our kind words, and the lovely presence which I stand. To plead for public liberty is enough to arouse the noblest attributes of mind and heart; the encouragement of woman sufficient to make tranquil the days in which imbition will be felt no more. The beautiful gift will be preserved as a sacred thing this occasion cherished among those to which memory will ever fondly cling.

After the presentation, Mr. Etheridge as introduced to the ladies present, and ent some moments in pleasant conversaon with them. It was evident that in is earnest labors for the cause of law and order he has the smiles and prayers of his The cane is a splendid ebony with a gold

CONJUGAL INFELICITY AND A GAY BUTCHER BOY. Mysterious Disappearance and Reappearance of an Unappreciated Wife-Divorce, Shooting, and Muni-

A certain divorce suit, the names of the arties to which must for the nonce remain mwritten and unsung, was to have been ried in the Circuit Court on Friday Iast, Everything conducive to the speedy termination of the process of severance seemed progressing as well as could be desired by the most belligerent couple that ever saw roomsticks moving or listened to the bubbling of overheated water on a washingliamson and Davidson, the balance of the day. The dignified attorney had disputched liquor manufacturing establishments being a note to his client, the charming betterhalf who had sought freedom from housements of the revenue law in the method of hold cares by appealing to the law, and manufacture. The single distillery now she was to have been at his office sometime

Soon after the sending of the message back drove up to the corner of Cedar street and the Square, and the lovely client alighted, but did not proceed to her lawyer. In fact, she mysteriously disappeared a few moments later, and not a trace of her could anywhere be found, though a dear brother was on the point of raving and tearing his hair at her loss. In his rage and attacked Jenkins with a knife, cutting and grief, he went to the station-house on the Square and demanded the arrest of the the brachial artery, and wounding him back driver, charging him with the abduction of his sister. As the hackman, parties use of age. It is said that they had however, had been doing nothing outside of his legitimate business, and was not mischief, he was not molested. The brother was by no means put out by this and he relaxed not a whit of his vigsum of $2500 to appear for trial on the 8th | itance. Persevering, he at last got hold of of June next. Young White is a son of a clue, and about dark Saturday night stationed himself near the corner of Cherry and Broad streets. He had not long to wait. AN UNGRATEFUL WRETCH. - About four In a few moments the identical hackman of Cedar street and the Square drove up, and a gay and gallant young butcher step-ping to the door of the vehicle, was in the act of assisting the missing, divorce-seeking belle Donnell, living near the magazine, on | wife, who had so mysteriously disappeared the McNairy road. After remaining there | the day previous, to alight, when the sharp report of a pistol suddenly brought the and about a month ago she was taken with | whole party up standing. The vengeful bullet whistled through the wool of the unfortunate backman, but left him unharmed, and the interference of the police prevented arther demonstrations. The woman was conveyed to the house of her brother, where she now is, while that affectionate relative of hers was arrested and vesterday paid a fine of $50 and costs n the Recorder's Court, for his careless-

BRIDGE SWEFT AWAY,-The railroad oridge over Drake's creek, Kentucky, on he Louisville and Nashville railroad, twenty-six miles from this point, was swept away on Sunday by the freshet following the heavy storm of Saturday night. It was carried a distance of sixty feet, but a trans fer of passengers of the morning trains was nade, and very little delay resulted. The structure has been replaced and trains are igain running on time The bridges on the Nashville and Chatanonga road received no damage from the adden rise of streams.

THE NASHVILLE CUSTOM-HOUSE,-The resident has ordered that the building of the Nashville Custom-house be forthwith proceeded with, and Major James R. Wilett, late of Gen. Thomas' staff, and now of the enterprising firm of Willett, Kiddell & Co., of this city, has been appointed superintendent. The building will be second mly to the capitol in capacity and magficence, and will be used for a Customhouse, Postoffice, Federal Court rooms, and various Federal offices. It is to be fireproof, and constructed of home materials. The plan is now being drawn up, and the work of building will shortly commence.

THE WHEAT CROP. -So far we have heard no unfavorable reports in regard to the wheat crop in this county. But not so from Summer. The Gallatin Examiner of he 25th inst. says: "We have very serious fears that, after all the flattering promises of a large wheat crop in this county we will be disappointed. The continued cool weather has had a blighting effect upon it, and from nearly every portion of the country we hear of rust. The growth for lmost a month, has nearly suspended, and many fields begin to look yellow, as though BEING EXCLUSIVELY IN THE HAT AND they were nearly ready for harvesting. It will be a sore loss to our people to have the city.

Do JUSTICE TO NATURE. - It is ingratitude nature not to preserve and keep in splendid order a good set of teeth. Nothing can be easier. All that is needed is to brush them briskly night and morning with purifying Sozabont. It will make the month a perfumed palace.

TO THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL .- Your atention is respectfully called to the daily arrival by express, of custom-made Boots and Shoes, at the Nashville Shoe Store, 74 North College street. mich. 26-3m. M. MORGANSTERN.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL PIC-NIC ON SATURDAY.-One of the most joyous crowds we have seen, filed out of the First Presbyterian Church on Saturday morning, with flying banners, to the strains of a fine brass band. The occaion had been looked forward to with great interest by the children, and much preparation had been made to make it a happy day. But the lowering clouds hung the hills with a mournful fringe of rain; and as it was too damp to have the pic-niein the woods, the school children took a nice ride down as far as Kingston Springs, Bailt, Ordway & Co. and then returned to the city and assemb in the spacious halls of the old Academy, and had their dinner spread. Though the rain prevented the rural sports antici-puted, yet it was altogether a pleasant affair
