AMERICAN WOUNDED CALLED "GLORIOUS"

Munitionettes Scatter Roses on Stretchers at Station in Paris Outskirts.

Paris, June 16.—"Some glorious American soldiers passed through a suburb of Paris yesterday, returning from battle," relates the Petit Parisien. "It was enough to thrill one to see those heroes pass and nothing more sublime or impressive can be imagined than the arrival of the first trains of the severely wounded bearing to hospitals in the rear those famous fighters from the Aisne front, heroes of Bovesches and of Veully. On the quays of a little discharging station in the outskirts of Paris what a cordial reception was given to all those valiant men!

"Vivent les Sammites! Glory to the Americans!" were the shouts. "Everywhere the great cars of the company of the State stopped for transfer to the ambulances bearing the initials 'U. S. A.' henceforth popular, the same cheering, the same shouts were renewed, causing touching scenes."

"Several young munitionettes who had just left a factory and were waiting for their train, saw the convoy arrive. They ran outside the station and a few minutes later there was a new eruption on the quays as they returned, out of breath, carrying in their arms bunches of roses and distributing them with a simple gesture to the Sammites on the stretchers, saying:

"Here, take them, brave soldiers, you must learn that you are admired and loved; it is for us that you have fought."

DANGER NOT PAST, PARIS IS CONVINCED

French Expect That Germany Will Put Forth Greatest Effort Very Soon.

(Copyright, 1918, by the New York World.)

Paris.—Even the most optimistic Frenchmen are not deceived by the lull which has come in the German offensive. Few even hazard the affirmation that the worst is over. The fact that the third act in the great battle drama which has just terminated was the briefest, bloodiest and least successful in stimulating but at the same time forces the conclusion that the enemy is bound to try to retrieve his setback by putting forth his maximum strength in the shortest possible time.

There is every probability, therefore, that the German Supreme Command henceforth will force the tempo rather than relax.

Nor are the troops under Gen. Foch's command spending their time idling. Indications of their alertness and readiness are seen in the British advance north of Bethune and the French gain northeast of Villers-Cotterets.

Though the main objective of the last attack—namely, the occupation of the Compiègne-Villers-Cotterets-Chateau-Thierry line as a base for a drive toward Paris—was not achieved by the enemy, the French capital fully realizes that the danger still is imminent, and therefore continues to arm and prepare for all eventualities.

The appointment of Gen. Guillaumat as Military Governor of Paris is unanimously acclaimed.

Berlin Boasts That 10,000 French Civilians Will Be Collected and Imprisoned.

Amsterdam, June 18.—When reports that 10,000 Germans have been expelled from China and interned in Australia are proved, says the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin, the German government will collect 10,000 inhabitants of French occupied districts and send them to prison until the Germans are returned to China and compensated for their losses.
