PRESIDENT NAMES PEACE COMMISSIONERS PRECEDENTS IN SUCH NEGOTIATIONS.
Appointees Do Not Have to Be Ratified by Senate—Suggestions as to Personnel.
Washington, Nov. 14.—The peace commissioners of the United States, when appointed, will be responsible only to President Wilson. They will be appointed by the president without consulting the senate. The first the senate will hear of the negotiations officially will be when it is called upon by the president either to ratify or reject the treaty his commissioners have signed.

War With Great Britain.
The commissioners appointed by President Madison in 1814 to conclude peace following the war with Great Britain were not subject to ratification by the senate, and in conducting their negotiations they communicated only with the president and the secretary of state. The commissioners were John Quincy Adams, J. A. Bayard, Henry Clay and Jonathan Russell. Many documents bearing their signatures are in the possession of the senate.

No Peace Declared.
Several attempts to open negotiations between the United States and the confederacy were made during the Civil war. In each instance the commissioners were appointed by President Lincoln without the advice of the senate. President Lincoln himself, with Secretary of State Seward, acted as a commissioner, in one instance, to hear proposals from the confederacy. The war ended with the unconditional surrender of Lee's armies to Gen. Grant, and there was no peace conference at its conclusion.

Spanish-American Peace.
President McKinley, during the Spanish-American war, appointed William R. Day, secretary of state, who at once resigned, and United States Senator Edmund K. Davis, William F. Fry and George Gray and Whitelaw Reid as commissioners to conclude peace with Spain on the basis of a protocol previously signed. McKinley's commissioners were not confirmed by the senate, and they held themselves responsible to him.

shd Foch said: "I will wear this medal with pleasure and pride. In days of triumph as well as in dark and critical hours, I will never forget the tragical day last March when Gen. Pershing put at my disposal without restriction all the resources of the American army. The success won in the hard fighting by the American army is the consequence of the excellent cooperation, command and organization of the American general staff and the irreducible will to win of the American troops. The name 'Médaille' may be inscribed proudly upon the American flag. Accompanying Gen. Pershing to Marshal Foch's headquarters were Col. Boyd, Mott, Poulton, Mathews, Quackmeyer and Meyer. Marshal Foch was attacked by Gen. Weygand and Destricker. After his own decoration, Marshal Foch presented to Miss Duane, an English woman, the French war cross for heroic work in bombed hospitals near the front.

WILL NOT HINDER PEOPLE
Emperor Charles Issues Last Word to Austria.
Copenhagen, Nov. 14.—Emperor Charles of Austria on Monday, according to the Vienna correspondence bureau, issued the following proclamation: "Since my accession I have incessantly tried to rescue my peoples from this tremendous war. I have not delayed the re-establishment of constitutional rights or the opening of a way for the people to substantial national development. 'Filled with an unalterable love for my peoples, I will not, with my eyes taken closed by the government, relinquish every participation in the administration of state. Likewise, I have released the members of the Austrian government from their offices. 'May the German-Austrian people realize harmony from the new adjustment. The happiness of my peoples was my aim from the beginning. My earnest wish was that an internal peace will be able to heal the wounds of this war. (Signed) (Countersigned) "CHARLES. (Countersigned) "LAMMASCH."

Number Wounded—Trouble Thought Solved.
Havana, Wednesday, Nov. 13.—Although it was believed the general sympathetic strike called several days ago, which demanded the demands of the federated labor unions that their imprisoned leaders be set free was virtually ended when President Menocal today the convicted men their liberty. Another car coming up the street of the strike occurred in the heart of the city tonight. It resulted in the wounding of at least three policemen and an undetermined number of civilians.
A large crowd, headed by Governor Sierra, president of the federated labor unions, marched to the offices of several of the daily newspapers, whose directors took part in the conference which gained the imprisoned men their liberty. They expressed their appreciation of the work which had been done. The crowd then started towards its headquarters, but on the way it encountered a street car operated by a strikebreaker. Several men boarded the car and roughly handled the motorman. Another car coming up behind, was also attacked. Police came to the aid of two soldiers who were on guard in the second car.

The Danger of Imitations.
AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."
To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."
No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA
Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.
Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Sterling, Ill., says: "Your Castoria has been my friend for twenty years. I could not keep my children well without it. I cannot speak too highly of your wonderful remedy."
Mrs. Frank H. Cafferty, of Providence, R. I., says: "If all young mothers would use Castoria it will bring up their child. My nurse and doctor can also tell what your Castoria can do."
Howard A. Banks, of Hickory, N. C., says: "Your Castoria is the only physic we ever give our three babies. The fact that we use it promptly is probably the reason we never have to use any other."
Mrs. A. J. Nelson, of Waco, Texas, says: "Enclosed you will find a picture of 'Our little Castoria boy.' When a week old I ordered your Castoria for him, and I have never been up a night with him since."
Mrs. Eva Ott Melin, of Jersey City, N. J., says: "I attribute the present excellent condition of my baby to your Castoria which he has been using since he was three weeks old. I have not lost a night's sleep in seven months."
GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS BEARS the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
