

MRS. SHACKLEFORD LAID TO REST TODAY

MANY BEAUTIFUL FLORAL PIECES OFFERED. Mrs. Mary Brabson Littleton Pays Tribute to Character of Well-Known Woman.

The last rites over the body of Mrs. Josephine Shackleford, mother of Mrs. S. S. Colyar, and one of Chattanooga's best known and best loved women, who died Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Colyar mansion on Missionary ridge, after a long illness, were held at the Colyar residence Monday afternoon at 2. Rev. W. H. Kinsolving, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, conducted the services. Mrs. W. H. Pryor sang. The interment took place in Forest Hills cemetery, and services at the grave were private.

Following is the list of those who served as active pallbearers: J. B. Johnson, F. C. Vogt, Sam Erwin, R. Preston, C. S. Littleton, W. L. L. Littleton, Honorary pallbearers: (ret.) J. C. Howell, Col. Ed. Watkins, (ret.) J. Caldwell, H. Hutcheson, (ret.) J. R. Baylor and Dr. B. F. Travis.

The floral offerings were lavish and beautiful. Mrs. Shackleford's father, John Otton, was of Virginia birth, her mother, Mrs. Louis St. Clair, of Mississippi. Her husband, Josephine's father, was of Virginia birth, her mother, Mrs. Louis St. Clair, of Mississippi. Her husband, Josephine's father, was of Virginia birth, her mother, Mrs. Louis St. Clair, of Mississippi.

The following beautiful tribute to Mrs. Shackleford is paid by Mrs. Mary Brabson Littleton, a warm personal friend of the deceased: "Mrs. Josephine Shackleford was a woman of rare and delightful personality, one known never to be forgotten. Her life was a life of service to the youth of her spirit, entering into social events and domestic concerns with vital interest and enthusiasm. No one could mistake her for other than the Southern lady of the old school, tenacious of early loyalties, true to the ideals of the old South, dedicated to duty, reverent of her father and mother, and a daughter and son-in-law and grandchildren who considered her first and foremost. Her life was a life of service to the youth of her spirit, entering into social events and domestic concerns with vital interest and enthusiasm.

Motion Picture Directory of Today's Photoplays

ALCAZAR BILLY BURKE

"The Make-Believe Wife"

She caught her fiancé with the goods all right, too, in his arms and then she left the make-believe wife. Love lived up in the storm. A Paramount Picture.

FINE ARTS "THE CHEAT"

FANNIE WARD

Her husband went broke on the street. She, a society woman, stole to get her money, and then she faced the prospect of selling her soul. But she cheated and then she cheated. You just see this great dramatic play. A Paramount Picture.

"Pot Luck in the Army"

SUPERBA "KULTUR"

GLADYS BROCKWELL

It is not a propaganda picture but history. She was Emperor Joseph's darling, but she died for democracy. A Paramount Picture.

Keith's Vaudeville RIALTO

FRANCES KENNEDY

Star of Many Musical Comedy Successes Exclusive Songs in One of the Best Acts of the Season.

WE FURNISH "ROUND THE TICKER"

NATE N. SILVERMAN Cotton, Grain, Stocks and Bonds. 20 Montague Bldg. Phone Main 6245 and Main 5226.

E. W. WAGNER & CO. and SHEPARD & GLUCK

"Group Your Debts"

If you are in debt and your income is not large enough to pay you out, let us send you the amount you need. The loan is for 12 months and you pay it back at the rate of $2.00 each week on the $100.00. This plan fits your needs as collector.

Citizens Savings & Loan Corporation

Volunteer Building. Opposite Central Bank.

RESIDENT ANNOUNCES PEACE TRIP TO CONGRESS

(Continued From Page One.) untrusting accomplishment. I have said that those of us who stayed at the front to do the work of organization and supply with the men who had been with the men who we sustained by our labors; but we can never be ashamed. It has been an honor to do the work of organization and supply with the men who had been with the men who we sustained by our labors; but we can never be ashamed.

Unselfish Patriotism.

"The patriotism, the unselfishness, the thorough-going devotion and disinterested capacity that marked the untold months, day after day, month after month, have made them fit mates and comrades of the men in the trenches and on the sea. And the men here in Washington only. They have but directed the vast achievement.

We Also Strive to Win.

"Throughout innumerable victories, on innumerable occasions, in the depths of coal mines and iron mines and copper mines, wherever the stuffs of industry were to be obtained and shipped, and the shipyards on the sea, in every labor that was needed to sustain the battle lines, men have worked with each other to do their part, and they have never lost any man-at-arms in the race and say 'we also strove to win and gave the best that was in us to make our fleets and armies sure of their triumph!'

Completed Achievements.

"These great days of completed achievement would be sadly marred if the results had never before. Besides the immense practical service they have rendered, the women of the country have been the moving spirit in the systematic economic plan which our people have voluntarily accepted to supply the suffering people of the world and the armies on every front with food and clothing. It is a fact that might serve the common cause. The details of such a story can never be written, but we carry them in our hearts. We are the kinsmen of such.

Thoughts Upon Others.

"Our thoughts have dwelt of late upon Europe, upon Asia, upon the near and the far east, very little beyond the horizon of our own country. We are not to be consoled and comforted that wait to be performed at our own doors. While we are adjusting our relations with the rest of the world, we are to be consoled and comforted that wait to be performed at our own doors.

Problems of Reconstruction.

"I have heard much counsel as to the plans that should be formed and the steps that should be taken for reconstruction, but from no quarter have I seen any general scheme of 'reconstruction' emerge which I thought it likely we could force our spirited and self-reliant countrymen to accept with due pliancy and obedience.

Conduct of War.

"While the war lasted we set up many agencies by which to direct the conduct of the country in the services it was necessary for them to render; by which to make sure of an abundant supply of the materials needed; by which to check underlings; by which to control the price of essential articles and materials; by which to restrain trade with alien enemies, make the most of the available shipping and systematic financial transactions, both public and private, so that there would be no unnecessary conflict or confusion; by which, in short, to put every material agency of the country in the hands of those who were best qualified to draw the common load and make of us one team in the accomplishment of a great task. But the moment we knew the armistice to have been signed we took the harness off.

Taxes for 1918-1920.

"For the purpose of facilitating our own domestic business readjustments nothing is more important than the immediate determination of the taxes that are to be levied for 1918-1920. The burden of taxation must be lifted from business as sound methods of financing the government will permit us to do so. It is to be of serious consequence to the country to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the country to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

Children Ory FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

No. 17093. State of Tennessee, Chancery Court of Hamilton County. Volunteered Life Insurance Co. vs. J. W. Hutton et al.

Complainant's bill having been filed to collect an alleged indebtedness, and an attachment having issued and been returned levied upon certain interests of defendant, J. W. Hutton, in Hamilton County; and it appearing from allegations in complainant's said bill, which is sworn to, that J. W. Hutton and H. D. Watts company are nonresidents of the state of Tennessee, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them.

It is ordered that publication be made for four successive weeks in The Chattanooga News, a newspaper published in Hamilton County, notifying said nonresidents to appear at the next January term of said court to be held at Chattanooga in Chattanooga on the first Monday in January next, and make defense to said bill, or the same will be taken for confessed and a decree set for hearing ex parte as to them.

This 23rd day of November, 1918. J. W. Hutton, D. C. and M. F. E. McMillin, D. C. and M.

M'CALL LOOMING AS POSSIBLE PEACE ENVOY

Gov. Samuel W. McCall, of Massachusetts, whose name has been mentioned prominently in the speculation at Washington as to who will represent the republican party on the United States peace mission, is to be looked for. Contracts made for war supplies will, indeed, be rapidly canceled and liquidated, but their immediate liquidation will make heavy drains on the treasury for the months just ahead of us. The maintenance of our forces on the other side of the sea is still necessary. A considerable proportion of those forces must remain in Europe during the period of occupation, and those which are brought home will be transported and demobilized at heavy expense for months to come.

Work of Development.

"It seems to me important, therefore, to have the attention of the public to the work of every sort should be promptly resumed in order that opportunities should be created for unemployed labor in particular and that the economic, social and moral plans should be put into effect. Our natural resources as we have hitherto lacked stimulation to undertake.

Reclamation Plans.

"I particularly direct your attention to the very practical plans which the secretary of the interior has developed in his annual report and which your committee has approved. The reclamation of arid, swamp and cut-over lands which might, if the states were willing and able to co-operate, be put to large floating residuum of labor which would not be left wholly to shift for itself.

Money Needed.

"I entirely concur with the secretary of the treasury in recommending that the two billion needed in addition to the four billions provided by existing law be obtained from the profits which have accrued and shall accrue from war contracts and distinctly war business, but that these taxes be confined to the war profits accruing in 1918 or in 1919 from business originating in war contracts. I urge your acceptance of the recommendations of the secretary that the taxes to be paid in 1920 should be reduced from six to four billions. Any arrangements less definite than these would add a considerable element of confusion to the critical period of industrial readjustment through which the country must now immediately pass and which no true friends of the national essential business interests can afford to be responsible for creating or prolonging. Clearly determined conditions, clearly and simply stated, and indispensable to the economic revival and rapid industrial development which may confidently be expected if we act now and sweep all interrogation points away.

Naval Program.

"I take for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war.

Priority of Services.

"I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and which are to be sent to regions from permanent ruins. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? Shipments of money paid by our government will not save themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they find money and it is not used to resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow—the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their heads are bowed. Their markets will not be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and repair their lost instruments of manufacture.

What Might Have Been Cost.

"If the war had continued, it would have been necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919; but that has not happened, and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $4,000,000,000. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

Children Ory FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

No. 17093. State of Tennessee, Chancery Court of Hamilton County. Volunteered Life Insurance Co. vs. J. W. Hutton et al.

Complainant's bill having been filed to collect an alleged indebtedness, and an attachment having issued and been returned levied upon certain interests of defendant, J. W. Hutton, in Hamilton County; and it appearing from allegations in complainant's said bill, which is sworn to, that J. W. Hutton and H. D. Watts company are nonresidents of the state of Tennessee, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them.

It is ordered that publication be made for four successive weeks in The Chattanooga News, a newspaper published in Hamilton County, notifying said nonresidents to appear at the next January term of said court to be held at Chattanooga in Chattanooga on the first Monday in January next, and make defense to said bill, or the same will be taken for confessed and a decree set for hearing ex parte as to them.

This 23rd day of November, 1918. J. W. Hutton, D. C. and M. F. E. McMillin, D. C. and M.

CAVALRY LEADER POPULAR HERO

GENERAL MACKENSEN

Events are marching so fast in the German revolution, which has broken out anew, that the arrival of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Berlin and his popularity, both with the soldiers and civilians, may make him the "man of the hour" for the foes of the soviet. He is the one German high field commander undefeated in the war, and many see in him the Kormiloff of Germany in the present crisis.

Exceptional Methods.

"Exceptional circumstances and exceptional methods of administration were not needed to convince us that the railways were not equal to the immense tasks of transportation imposed upon them by the rapid and continuous development of the industries of the country. We know that they were unequal to it partly because their full co-operation was rendered impossible by law and their competition made obligatory, so that it has been impossible to assign to them severally the traffic which could be best carried by their respective lines in the interest of expedition and national economy.

End of War by Treaty.

"We may hope, I believe, for the formal conclusion of the war by treaty by the time spring has come. The twenty-one months to which the present contract of the railways is limited after formal proclamation of peace shall have been made will run at the farthest, I take it for granted, only to the January of 1921. That the federal administration had planned the present law to be effective for this period. The present law does not permit the use of the revenues of the several roads for the execution of such plans except by formal contract with their directors, some of whom will consent, while some will not, and therefore does not afford sufficient authority to undertake improvements upon the scale upon which it would be necessary to undertake them. Every approach to this difficult subject matter of decision by the several roads for the protection of the country and to the owners of the railways to return to the old conditions unmodified. Those are conditions of restraint without development. There is nothing affirmative or helpful about them. What the country chiefly needs is that all its means of transportation should be developed, its railways, its waterways, its highways and its country-side roads.

No Answer Ready.

"Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railways is to leave the question unanswered, and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless the should appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce an element of a solution, namely, certainly an adequate stimulation of private initiative.

Naval Program.

"I take for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war.

Priority of Services.

"I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and which are to be sent to regions from permanent ruins. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? Shipments of money paid by our government will not save themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they find money and it is not used to resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow—the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their heads are bowed. Their markets will not be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and repair their lost instruments of manufacture.

What Might Have Been Cost.

"If the war had continued, it would have been necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919; but that has not happened, and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $4,000,000,000. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

CAVALRY LEADER POPULAR HERO

GENERAL MACKENSEN

Events are marching so fast in the German revolution, which has broken out anew, that the arrival of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Berlin and his popularity, both with the soldiers and civilians, may make him the "man of the hour" for the foes of the soviet. He is the one German high field commander undefeated in the war, and many see in him the Kormiloff of Germany in the present crisis.

Exceptional Methods.

"Exceptional circumstances and exceptional methods of administration were not needed to convince us that the railways were not equal to the immense tasks of transportation imposed upon them by the rapid and continuous development of the industries of the country. We know that they were unequal to it partly because their full co-operation was rendered impossible by law and their competition made obligatory, so that it has been impossible to assign to them severally the traffic which could be best carried by their respective lines in the interest of expedition and national economy.

End of War by Treaty.

"We may hope, I believe, for the formal conclusion of the war by treaty by the time spring has come. The twenty-one months to which the present contract of the railways is limited after formal proclamation of peace shall have been made will run at the farthest, I take it for granted, only to the January of 1921. That the federal administration had planned the present law to be effective for this period. The present law does not permit the use of the revenues of the several roads for the execution of such plans except by formal contract with their directors, some of whom will consent, while some will not, and therefore does not afford sufficient authority to undertake improvements upon the scale upon which it would be necessary to undertake them. Every approach to this difficult subject matter of decision by the several roads for the protection of the country and to the owners of the railways to return to the old conditions unmodified. Those are conditions of restraint without development. There is nothing affirmative or helpful about them. What the country chiefly needs is that all its means of transportation should be developed, its railways, its waterways, its highways and its country-side roads.

No Answer Ready.

"Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railways is to leave the question unanswered, and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless the should appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce an element of a solution, namely, certainly an adequate stimulation of private initiative.

Naval Program.

"I take for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war.

Priority of Services.

"I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and which are to be sent to regions from permanent ruins. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? Shipments of money paid by our government will not save themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they find money and it is not used to resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow—the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their heads are bowed. Their markets will not be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and repair their lost instruments of manufacture.

What Might Have Been Cost.

"If the war had continued, it would have been necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919; but that has not happened, and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $4,000,000,000. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

CAVALRY LEADER POPULAR HERO

GENERAL MACKENSEN

Events are marching so fast in the German revolution, which has broken out anew, that the arrival of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Berlin and his popularity, both with the soldiers and civilians, may make him the "man of the hour" for the foes of the soviet. He is the one German high field commander undefeated in the war, and many see in him the Kormiloff of Germany in the present crisis.

Exceptional Methods.

"Exceptional circumstances and exceptional methods of administration were not needed to convince us that the railways were not equal to the immense tasks of transportation imposed upon them by the rapid and continuous development of the industries of the country. We know that they were unequal to it partly because their full co-operation was rendered impossible by law and their competition made obligatory, so that it has been impossible to assign to them severally the traffic which could be best carried by their respective lines in the interest of expedition and national economy.

End of War by Treaty.

"We may hope, I believe, for the formal conclusion of the war by treaty by the time spring has come. The twenty-one months to which the present contract of the railways is limited after formal proclamation of peace shall have been made will run at the farthest, I take it for granted, only to the January of 1921. That the federal administration had planned the present law to be effective for this period. The present law does not permit the use of the revenues of the several roads for the execution of such plans except by formal contract with their directors, some of whom will consent, while some will not, and therefore does not afford sufficient authority to undertake improvements upon the scale upon which it would be necessary to undertake them. Every approach to this difficult subject matter of decision by the several roads for the protection of the country and to the owners of the railways to return to the old conditions unmodified. Those are conditions of restraint without development. There is nothing affirmative or helpful about them. What the country chiefly needs is that all its means of transportation should be developed, its railways, its waterways, its highways and its country-side roads.

No Answer Ready.

"Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railways is to leave the question unanswered, and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless the should appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce an element of a solution, namely, certainly an adequate stimulation of private initiative.

Naval Program.

"I take for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war.

Priority of Services.

"I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and which are to be sent to regions from permanent ruins. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? Shipments of money paid by our government will not save themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they find money and it is not used to resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow—the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their heads are bowed. Their markets will not be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and repair their lost instruments of manufacture.

What Might Have Been Cost.

"If the war had continued, it would have been necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919; but that has not happened, and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $4,000,000,000. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

CAVALRY LEADER POPULAR HERO

GENERAL MACKENSEN

Events are marching so fast in the German revolution, which has broken out anew, that the arrival of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Berlin and his popularity, both with the soldiers and civilians, may make him the "man of the hour" for the foes of the soviet. He is the one German high field commander undefeated in the war, and many see in him the Kormiloff of Germany in the present crisis.

Exceptional Methods.

"Exceptional circumstances and exceptional methods of administration were not needed to convince us that the railways were not equal to the immense tasks of transportation imposed upon them by the rapid and continuous development of the industries of the country. We know that they were unequal to it partly because their full co-operation was rendered impossible by law and their competition made obligatory, so that it has been impossible to assign to them severally the traffic which could be best carried by their respective lines in the interest of expedition and national economy.

End of War by Treaty.

"We may hope, I believe, for the formal conclusion of the war by treaty by the time spring has come. The twenty-one months to which the present contract of the railways is limited after formal proclamation of peace shall have been made will run at the farthest, I take it for granted, only to the January of 1921. That the federal administration had planned the present law to be effective for this period. The present law does not permit the use of the revenues of the several roads for the execution of such plans except by formal contract with their directors, some of whom will consent, while some will not, and therefore does not afford sufficient authority to undertake improvements upon the scale upon which it would be necessary to undertake them. Every approach to this difficult subject matter of decision by the several roads for the protection of the country and to the owners of the railways to return to the old conditions unmodified. Those are conditions of restraint without development. There is nothing affirmative or helpful about them. What the country chiefly needs is that all its means of transportation should be developed, its railways, its waterways, its highways and its country-side roads.

No Answer Ready.

"Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railways is to leave the question unanswered, and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless the should appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce an element of a solution, namely, certainly an adequate stimulation of private initiative.

Naval Program.

"I take for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committee for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the navy which we entered the war.

Priority of Services.

"I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and which are to be sent to regions from permanent ruins. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? Shipments of money paid by our government will not save themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money. If they find money and it is not used to resume their place in the industry of the world tomorrow—the very important place they held before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their heads are bowed. Their markets will not be taken by others, if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and repair their lost instruments of manufacture.

What Might Have Been Cost.

"If the war had continued, it would have been necessary to raise at least $5,000,000,000 by taxation payable in the year 1919; but that has not happened, and I agree with the secretary of the treasury that it will be safe to reduce the amount to $4,000,000,000. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer. It is to be of serious consequence to the government to delay removing all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer.

Let Your Dollars Go Double by In This Christmas Gift Giving! Give useful, sensible, practical presents—gifts that will remind the recipient daily of their value and utility. Something for the bathroom will please every member of the family every time it is used. Here is a Partial List: Bath Stools, Mirrors, Soap Dishes, Tooth Brush Holders, Tumbler Holders, Towel Bars, Medicine Cabinets, Shaving Mirrors, Glass Shelves, Bath Sprays, Bath Hooks. We Will Deliver Christmas Day. Why Not Let Us Put Your Bathroom and Plumbing In FIRST-CLASS SHAPE Before Christmas? FRED CANTRELL CO. The Live Wires Incorporated 607 Market Street