

THEY RETURN HOME.

South Carolina State Troops Quit Florence and Darlington.

ADDRESSED BY TILLMAN.

The Governor Says No Same Man Ever Expected That There Would Be Any Shooting.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 6.—Most of the State troops which have been at Florence and Darlington left this morning for the coast line road, and by night all of them had left the city for their homes, to which they are glad to get. A crowd of people was at the Union depot to watch the arrival of the troops and to hear what Governor Tillman had to say to them. The soldiers disembarked on the west side of the crossing near the penitentiary, and were drawn up in lines. This was for the purpose of hearing an address which Governor Tillman was to make. The Governor had arrived a short time before the troops had finished their baggage and watched them get into line. The usual commands in honor of the presence of the commander-in-chief were given, and then the soldiers waited at parade rest for what was to come.

Governor Tillman was escorted to an embankment a few feet from where the troops were standing. Making his first hat and looking over the militia he spoke as follows:

"Soldiers—Two trains are awaiting to hear four companies to their homes immediately. What I have to say, therefore, will be brief. I feel that it is important and necessary, and indeed, due, before dismissing you that I should return, in the name of South Carolina, thanks for your valuable services."

NO THOUGHT OF SHOOTING.

"Without a moment's notice, without a moment's hesitation, you responded to the call. When you departed for Darlington the idea prevailed in the minds of some that you were going there to shoot your fellow-citizens. You each thought only of the duty of your State. You were ordered there for the purpose of suppressing disorder and restoring law; to let those who had done wrong be dealt with by the civil courts, and to prevent a mob from doing more, and to see that the laws should be obeyed. You have fought away from your families, and I am glad to send you home with the blessing of every lover of order and peace. I thank you, fellow-citizens, and bidding you to the valuable services you have rendered to South Carolina, and in conclusion, let me say to you, that I am glad to see you home, and to see you safely home. I have no thought of shooting, and I have no thought of any shooting, and I have no thought of any shooting."

WAX CHEESE.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 6.—Present, and had checks for the companies. They were handed to the captains of the respective organizations.

It has been found that the laws of the State provide that the soldiers shall be paid $1.50 a day. In the checks which were made out today this amount was allowed. The officers, even General Bly, however, will be paid the same amount, although they claim that the State law provides that the officers shall be paid the same as officers in the United States army. If this position be correct, General Bly should receive the full pay of a major general, which would be $100 a year.

PETERSBURGS DEFEAT ALTOONA.

A spirited game, with good plays, results in a score of 6 to 4.

PETERSBURG, VA., April 6.—(Special.) The baseball season was opened in this city today by the defeat of the Altoona, of the Pennsylvania State League, by the home team. The game abounded in brilliant plays, and was witnessed by a large crowd, many of whom were ladies. The game opened with the home team at the bat, and they succeeded in making a run on the play of Batterman, a wild pitch, and a hit by Brooks. The Altoona tied the score in their half of the inning. The home boys scored again in the second inning, making their opponents. In the third inning both sides scored, while the fourth and fifth innings resulted in a blank for both sides. In the sixth inning the Altoona tied the score. In the seventh inning the Altoona took the lead, and scored the winning run in the eighth, and succeeded in winning the game.

GOOD PLAY.

Leach, the first baseman, hit for a two-bagger, and came home on Foreman's single, and Foreman came home on Kelly's single, and Kelly scored on an error by Haggerty. A wild pitch and a single by Leach, and a wild pitch and a single by Foreman, and the game was won.

THE SCORE.

Score by innings: Petersburg..... 111000020-6 Altoona..... 101001100-4 Summary: Little-Foreman and Brooks; Quarles and Brooks; Hiss-Rosee, Leach, Foreman, Quarles, and Walters; Stoln Bass-Rosee and Brooks. Triple play-Batterman. Double play-Leach and Foreman. Bases on balls-Off Quarles, 7; Foreman, 2. Hit by pitcher-Leach at Quarles. Struck out-By Quarles, 7; Foreman, 4. Passed balls-Cole, 1. Wild pitch-Quarles. Base hits-Off Quarles, 6; Off Foreman, 5. Errors-Petersburg, 2; Altoona, 4. Umpire-F. K. Clements. Time of game, 2 hours.

CHAPEL HILL REDEEMED.

The Green Mountain Boys Defeated by a Score of 12 to 3.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 6.—The University of North Carolina redeemed itself in the baseball contest with the University of Vermont today, coming out victorious by a score of 12 to 3. The game was exciting, and characterized by good playing on both on both sides. The Carolina line caught on to Cook's drop ball, and batted him all over the field. Hiss-North, Carolina, 17; Vermont, 2. Errors-North Carolina, 2; Vermont, 2. Batters-Lambert and Honeycutt; Cook and Belmont. WAKE FOREST DEFEAT OAK RIDGE.

WAKE FOREST, N. C., April 6.—(Special.) The Oak Ridge team came up today to meet the Wake Forest team, and did excellent pitching for the home team. Score by innings:

Wake Forest..... 531111940-16 Oak Ridge..... 000000000-2 Batteries: Wake Forest-Smith and Stafford; Oak Ridge-Vanagon and King. Struck out-Ly Smith, 5. Errors-Wake Forest, 2; Oak Ridge, 16. Base hits-Wake Forest, 11; Oak Ridge, 8. Home runs-Stafford, 1. The main feature of the game was the batting of Stafford. The team will play again tomorrow.

BALTIMORE WINS EASILY.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—Flood was a child in the hands of Baltimore, who won easily. Score: B. H. E. N. O. 2-1. Baltimore..... 000000102-11 Baltimore..... 000000102-11 Batteries: Flood, Weakbreiter, and LaVelle; Inks, Baker, and Robinson.

THE NEW ELECTRIC LINE.

Interesting Facts About the Proposed Road and Viaduct.

There is much talk upon the streets now over the proposition to build an elevated electric-line on Broad street, and a viaduct over either that thoroughfare or Marshall street.

The scheme is a gigantic one, and is having its effect upon politics, especially in Jefferson Ward, which is to be crossed by the big bridge. There is a great diversity of opinion as to the viaduct. Some people want it on Broad street, and others want it on Marshall, and others don't want it at all.

BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

The Street Committee will consider the petition of the Virginia Electric and Railway Company at its next meeting, which will be held Monday afternoon, April 16th. It is said that great influence will be brought to bear upon the committee by residents and property-owners of Jefferson Ward to prevent at least the Broad-street viaduct proposition from being recommended to the Council. It is the reason that those back of the enterprise drew up the application so as to ask for the viaduct privilege on either Broad or Marshall.

An officer of the company, in conversation with a Dispatch reporter last night, said that he believed the enterprise would result in untold benefit to Richmond and her citizens. He said there were two distinct factions of people here—one living on one hill, and the other on the other. This bridge would bring them into closer touch with one another both socially and in a business way.

COST ABOUT $20,000.

Continuing the speaker said that while it would cost but little more than had been estimated to build the viaduct on Marshall street as on Broad, the company would much prefer the Broad-street privilege. He thought it would be a good idea to have a double-decked bridge, having a lower floor for a driveway, to be kept in condition by the city. The rails and bridge would cost about $20,000.

It is thought that the bridge can be built at the present price of iron for about $20,000.

The Virginia Company say they will probably also drift into furnishing electric light and power, and thereby bring competition to these branches here.

WHOLESALE GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

Very Important Matters Discussed—Well Posted Members Speak.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., April 6.—This was the second day of the Convention of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association. The convention went into session at 11 o'clock. As was the case yesterday, very important matters were discussed, and well-posted members of the association addressed the convention.

Mr. T. J. Davis, of Fort Smith, a member of the Arkansas Wholesale Grocers' Association, spoke in behalf of that association. He referred to the good work done by the Arkansas association, and discussed points of interest to the whole sale trade. He was followed by Mr. L. V. Englehart, of Louisville, Ky.; John Mitchell, of Mobile, Ala.; H. H. Hobbins, of Van House, of Montgomery; Mr. C. M. Jackson, of Brooklyn, and Messrs. Conde, of Nashville, and Taylor, of Simpson, of Galveston, Tex., who made remarks in regard to the difficulties experienced in their dealings with the packing-house.

Mr. Ross, of Knoxville, Tenn., moved that the association pledge themselves not to handle the goods of manufacturers who sell directly to retail trade.

Mr. Van Drager, of Montgomery, Ala., spoke eloquently on the necessity of the members of the association standing together in the most important matters of vital importance to the members of the association.

TENNESSEE RADICALS CONFER.

Congressman Grosvenor Prefers a Republican Ticket.

CHATTAHOOGA, TENN., April 5.—The third annual convention of the Republican League of Tennessee and the first meeting of the Republican press of the State took place here yesterday. Joint meetings of the State and National Republican Leagues from all over the State, and probably five hundred delegates were present. The league remained in session all day at the court-house and elected the following officers: President, James W. Brown, of Brownsville; First Vice-President, Luke Walker, of Nashville; Second Vice-President, Tom Henson, of Memphis; Secretary, W. H. Arnold, of Nashville.

The next meeting will be held in Shelbyville, Tenn., February 1, 1895. The day was closed up with a meeting of the local party, and a brilliant procession.

Congressman Charles Grosvenor, of Ohio, delivered the annual address, predicting a Republican triumph this fall.

FLOYD IN CHARLOTTE.

His Escape From Darlington—He Feigned Death—He Has a Star.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 6.—Billy Floyd, whose flight with Rogers in Darlington a week ago today nearly precipitated civil war in South Carolina, was in Charlotte today. He escaped to Morven and Rockingham, this State, after the flight, where he has been hiding ever since. After the shooting at the Darlington depot Billy Floyd fell on his face, pretending to be dead. He was dragged on and trod upon by the surging crowd, as he lay there. A star on his head today showed where a boot had left its impression.

He was adverse to talking about the affair, but said the trouble with the hotel clerk Rogers was brought on by a reference to the hotel's refusing to entertain the spies, and in the quarrel McLeander took his part. Floyd left to-night for North.

The Industrial Armies.

MCKEESPORT, PA., April 6.—Coxey's army is camped to-night in a suburb of McKeesport. It numbers a little more than 100 men.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—General Fry's industrial army started east today on foot. The railroad refused to transport them free, and no means were found where to pay fares. The army is on very short commons.

There is a great deal of feeling against the army from the fact that the East St. Louis Water Board offered to employ 200 of them at $1.50 a day to lay water pipes, and a number of them would accept the offer.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 6.—The San Francisco regiment of the industrial army, so strong, arrived on a train from Oakland shortly after noon today. An arrangement was made with the railroad company to take them, together with the Sacramento contingent of 20, through to Oxnard this evening on a special freight train.

GREENWOODS MEN LOCKED UP.

NEW YORK, April 6.—John Davis, the alleged greatest wisecracker who was Wednesday was arrested on the complaint of Frederick Steinbrecher, of Roanoke, Va., was today committed for trial in the United States court at York.

YORKVILLE POLICE COURT, and Steinbrecher was committed to the House of Detention in $500 bail.

Seal Bill Approved.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The President received the House bill from the Senate at 5:15, and immediately gave it his approval.

Virginia News Items.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. A. T. Poole, merchant of Emporia, and Miss Ella Booth, of Barry county.

A stable belonging to C. E. Smith, at Stuart, was burned on Sunday evening. The building was next to the Baptist church, in which Rev. J. E. Hutson, noted evangelist, was holding a meeting, and the church was for some time in imminent danger. However, by heroic efforts it and adjoining buildings were saved.

The grand jury of the Hustings Court of Roanoke has indicted Miss Mattie Boyd, Robert W. McFarland, James Law, A. C. Nelson, Jesse Terry, Bertram Giddings, and Captain George Mehl, Gish for felony, the latter on three counts. He is a prominent attorney and Republican, and four years ago was the candidate of his party for State senator. There are five counts in the indictment against McFarland, all for forgery.

It has been estimated that the population of the earth doubles itself every 20 years. The action of the market consequently doubles himself much oftener than that.

FULL BLOWN and sweet as a rose—the young woman who tones up her system with Doctor Foster's Kidney and Bladder Pills is a certain cure for all the ailments peculiar to the delicate organization of women. It is perfectly safe in any condition of the system and always delicate organs to preserve their work painlessly. Women having hollow cheeks, and low spirits, when they are made miserable with disordered arrangements and weakness peculiar to their sex. Health is regained, after periods of indigestion, nervous prostration, pain and other manifestations of derangement or displacement of the womanly organs, when the "Prescription" is used.

GUARANTEE—Guarantees a CURE OR MONEY REFUND.

CLOSING TESTIMONY.

(CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.)

saw that gate until I went with my arm in his through that gate. Counsel was here objecting, but Miss Pollard finished her sentence and said "Let me say that."

She denied emphatically any improper relations with the defendant in the case of the Wesleyan College. She said he did not take her on his lap. He did not talk with her on that trip in reference to the Wesleyan College.

She said she had not known anything of George Elliot until afterward, when she was in the room in the state-house in Cincinnati when Mr. Breckinridge brought her the books, and asked her to read them. She denied that she had on that trip with her to Lexington suggested that they should go to Sarah Guest's. She denied other statements of the defendant regarding the visit to Sarah Guest, which differed from her own. Mr. Carleton then asked her if at the end of the carriage ride, when they returned to the Wesleyan College, the defendant put her in her hand.

"No, Mr. Carleton," said the witness, "I do not remember that. That is a false statement as any that even he ever made." Miss Pollard put a tremendous stress on the word "never." Then she went on to say that she could not have done it there. No man could have put her in his hand.

She denied the defendant's statement that she was when they first went to the house of Mrs. Rose, in Cincinnati.

ENGAGEMENT WITH WOOD.

Mr. Carleton referred then to the deposition of Mr. Wood, who said he had purchased for the plaintiff an engagement ring, and when they parted she threw the ring into his face. The plaintiff described Mr. Wood's attentions to her, and never saw him except in the presence of her aunt. He had asked her repeatedly to marry him, and she had said she would not marry him. Finally her aunt and others persuaded her to consent to marry him. So, when he came again, she told him she would marry him. He brought her a ring, she did not put it on, and when he came again he told her, not in an angry way, because he had done nothing to make her angry, that she did not love him, and could not marry him. She had the ring in the palm of her hand, and gave it back to him. She said that, as she had stated to Mr. Breckinridge, she was more of a business than of a romance. The defendant said that at this point the usual recess was taken.

The witness proceeded her counsel in the afternoon, remaining in the witness stand several minutes before they entered the courtroom. The defendant, however, presided both the court and the plaintiff, himself examining the great mass of testimony taken in the case. While waiting for her counsel she sat back in her chair, dropping her eyes back for the most unmeaning gaze of the thing who faced her. The defendant, however, was one who did not glance toward her.

In answer to questions from Mr. Carleton, Miss Pollard said that she did not know a Mr. Owen Tinsley, a brother of "Square Tinsley" when she was in her first marriage. She was asked as to whether such a ceremony had taken place, and the question was objected to, and the witness was not allowed to answer.

Mr. Carleton then asked her if she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

As to the defendant's denial that he had had any communication with her in the past, she said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

She said that she had not. She was asked as to whether she had any communication with her in the past, and she said she had not.

and Miss Pollard were "going to house-keeping in the fall." Judge Wilson objecting on the ground that Colonel Breckinridge had already denied that statement, he denied that Miss Pollard was ever in his room at Miss Hoyt's to his knowledge, and also that Miss Louise Lowell, the Capitol typewriter, had written a letter for him in which he made her secretary and said "Let me say that."

"That's all," said Major Shelby, and the great case of Pollard vs. Breckinridge, so far as the giving of evidence is concerned, was ended.

After an agreement that both sides should present prayers and argument for the court adjourned.

Monday the arguments to the jury will begin. The case may go to the jury on Wednesday, but probably not until Thursday. Mr. Carleton will open for the plaintiff, and Colonel Phil Thompson for the defendant. Major Hutterworth will make the closing argument for the defense, and Judge Lewis will close the case with his argument for the plaintiff.

Earthquake in Tehuantepec. NEW YORK, April 6.—A Recorder special from the City of Mexico says: Another severe earthquake shock has occurred on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. Much damage was done to towns and villages on the Pacific coast.

Humbert and Wilhelm. VENICE, April 6.—Extensive preparations are making here to celebrate the meeting in this city tomorrow of King Humbert, of Italy, and Emperor William, of Germany.

Confaguration in Austin. AUSTIN, TEX., April 6.—One entire block of business houses, a lumber-yard, and the gas-factory were consumed here at midnight. Loss, $20,000.

SILVER IN LONDON. LONDON, April 6.—Bar silver, 28 3/4 per cent.

The Wealth of Nations in Art, Architecture, and Scenic Beauty is Pictured in Glorious Imagery in "Sights and Scenes of the World," Offered by The Dispatch Co.

Marvels of Architecture.

Renowned Ruins.

Historical Apartments.

Palatial Homes.

Celebrated Churches.

Wonderful Bridges.

Ivy-Clad Abbeys.

Famous Public Squares.

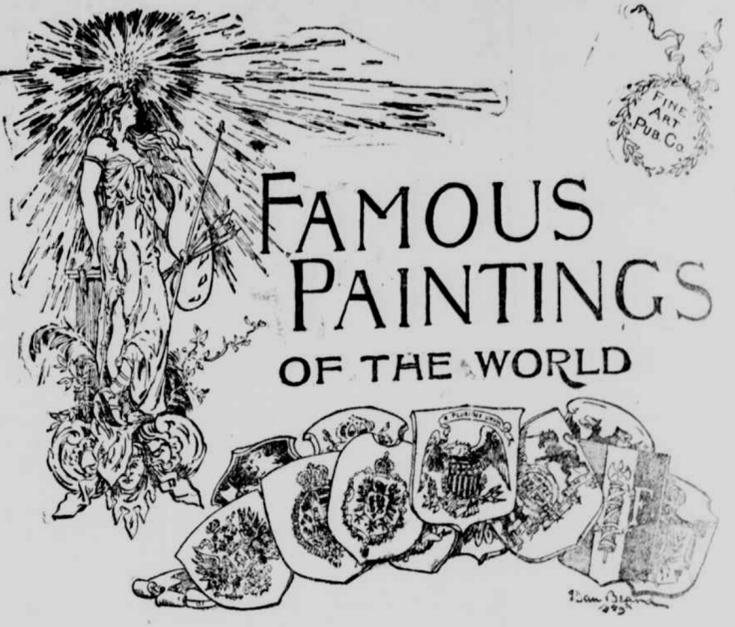

Magnificent Palaces.

Pictureque Scenes.

Historic Landmarks.

Noted Inns.

Pictureque Scenes.

Gen. Lew. Wallace, Will Carleton, John Clark Ridpath, Contributors.

The DISPATCH now offers to its subscribers the most beautiful art work ever published at a nominal cost. This is an entirely new work, every plate being made especially for it. It is called "FAMOUS PAINTINGS OF THE WORLD."

It is a collection of PHOTOGRAPHIC REPRODUCTIONS OF GREAT MODERN MASTERPIECES. It contains specimens of the great paintings of all art-producing nations, and includes ONE HUNDRED OF THE MOST NOTABLE PAINTINGS of the WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

It exemplifies the most ATTRACTIVE, INTERESTING, PURE, and INSPIRING qualities of contemporary art. It contains a superb introduction by the greatest living novelist and best-known American writer.

GENERAL LEW. WALLACE.

AMONG THE OTHER CONTRIBUTORS ARE WILL CARLETON, author of "Farm Ballads and Farm Legends," etc. DR. JOHN CLARK RIDPATH, the Historian. HORACE BRADLEY, Art Manager of Harper's Magazine. CHEVALIER ANGELO DEL NERO, Royal Special Commissioner of the World's Columbian Exposition.

Such an array of distinguished writers has never contributed to any similar publication.

"Famous Paintings of the World" should be in every American home. It contains three hundred and twenty (320) of the reproduced by the perfected half-tone process, having the appearance of the most perfect photographic prints. So large a collection of photographs of paintings could not be purchased for less than $1,000, and yet these photographic reproductions are offered to the public at the insignificant price

Gems of Modern Art,

TEN CENTS FOR EACH PORTFOLIO.

Every picture is described by the brightest and best of America's writers on art subjects. These descriptions are not technical or prolix, but bright and interesting. THE COMMITTEE OF SELECTION has approved every picture that appears in these portfolios. This is sufficient guarantee that nothing artistic will be admitted. THE COMMITTEE OF SELECTION consists of WILL CARLETON, HORACE BRADLEY, and CHEVALIER ANGELO DEL NERO.

A most careful selection of subjects has been made. Old mythological and religious pictures will have no place in these portfolios. We have selected pictures that tell a story or arouse an emotion—pictures that amuse and recreate—that instruct and inspire. The materials for this publication have been gathered out of the most FAMOUS GALLERIES and finest PRIVATE COLLECTIONS in the Old World and the New.

Attractive, Interesting, and Pleasing Subjects,

Eminent artists are represented, such as Alma Tadema, Rosa Bonheur, Bouguereaux, Constable, Dore, Detaille, Dupre, Eastlake, Gerome, Hoffmann, Hunt, Knaut, Ridgway Knight, Lombardi, Makowski, Makart, Meyer V. Bremen, Millet, Millais, de Murrillo, Schetter, Benjamin Constant, Jules Breton, Bierstadt, Beard, J. G. Brown, F. S. Church, Gifford, Whistler, Hart, Toby, Rossetti, etc.

But the minor artists and young aspirants for artistic honors—whose names are yet household words—have not been overlooked. The Committee of Selection have often chosen a meritorious and pleasing picture by a comparatively unknown artist in preference to an unattractive subject by a painter of prominence.

This magnificent art work is in itself a HOME GALLERY OF FAMOUS MASTERPIECES.

Do not fail to secure the first portfolio. This first portfolio contains sixteen reproductions of great paintings, and also the magnificent introduction by GENERAL LEW. WALLACE. All the future portfolios will contain sixteen reproductions of MASTERPIECES OF MODERN ART.

HOW TO SECURE Valuable, Interesting, Attractive Fine Art Series.

The first portfolio is now ready and it is a real gem. Any reader of the DISPATCH can obtain it by bringing or sending to the DISPATCH ART DEPARTMENT three coupons cut from three different issues of the DISPATCH and ten cents. Every reader should remember that portfolio Number One contains the superb introduction by GENERAL LEW. WALLACE, with a facsimile of his latest portrait.

The photographs for the entire series of 320 photographic reproductions of great paintings have cost the publishers more than $1,000. They will cost that part of the public who are wise enough to purchase "FAMOUS PAINTINGS OF THE WORLD" only $2. Address