WHERE WAS CHIEF-JUSTICE MARSHALL'S FARM?

WHAT IS AN "AUCTION BY CANDLE"?

Bryan's Popular Vote—A Cattle Case and the Fence Law—Presidents Born in Virginia—Difference Between Interest and Discount.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: Can any of your readers tell where files of the Southern Religious Telegraph may be examined for the years 1855-78. This paper was published in Richmond at this date. I. X.

What is an "Auction by Candle"? Bryan's Popular Vote—A Cattle Case and the Fence Law—Presidents Born in Virginia—Difference Between Interest and Discount.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: The authors of "The Last Hymn" was Marianne Parham, of England. Very respectfully, J. P. 19 North Seventh Street.

Auction by Candle. Please inform me what is meant by a "sale by candle, or auction by wick of candle, an old method of selling by auction, still sometimes practiced, in which a small piece of candle is lighted at the beginning of a sale and the highest bid made before the wick falls is successful.—From Century Dictionary.

Bryan's Popular Vote. To the Editor of the Dispatch: Please state the number of popular votes Mr. Bryan received over McKinley. T. B. We take the following from the World Almanac: Popular vote, McKinley over Bryan, 6,834; popular vote, McKinley over all, 2,725; electoral vote, McKinley over Bryan, 270; straight Fusion vote for Bryan, 1,278; straight Populist vote for Bryan, 1,213. Total popular vote, 18,923,373.

What is Bridge Whist? Can you inform me what "Bridge whist" is, and how it is played? I recently read of a Bridge whist entertainment given by the Prince of Wales. University of Virginia. HOYLE.

None of our wish-loving friends here can give us any information on the subject, though the game was mentioned about six months ago in the New York Journal as being played by some of the clubs in New York and vicinity.

The State Debt. To the Editor of the Dispatch: Please give the amount of the State debt before the Riddieberger bill, and set up to date. X. Y. Reliance, Va.

The information sought can easily be obtained from the annual reports of the second Auditor, who has a complete set from 1853 to date. He will be glad to furnish any information desired which does not require too much of his time.

Submarine Boats During the Civil War. To the Editor of the Dispatch: Will you please inform me if there was any submarine boat used during the civil war by the Union or Confederacy in Hampton Roads? READER.

There was no submarine boat used on either the Union or Confederate side in Hampton Roads during the civil war. Upon the evacuation of Norfolk, in May, 1862, the Confederates abandoned Hampton Roads. The first submarine boat, of which we have any account was built at Mobile, Ala., in 1863.

Admiral and Presidency. To the Editor of the Dispatch: 1. If a retired admiral be elected President of the United States, does he surrender the salary as admiral; if so (2), is he again put on the retired list at the expiration of his term as President? A CITIZEN.

1. We suppose so. The President is commander in chief of the army and navy, and the two offices would be incongruous. At least, so it looks to us. 2. We should think not, unless Congress so ordered.

The Harrison's. To the Editor of the Dispatch: In the Virginia Farmers' Almanac for the year 1897 it is stated that Prince George county was represented in the House of Delegates by Benjamin Harrison and Carter B. Harrison. Were these gentlemen related to each other, or to President Benjamin Harrison, by the name of Harrison? B. B. M. Washington, D. C. Benjamin Harrison was from Brandon, and was a third cousin of Benjamin Harrison of Berkeley, Charles City, the father of William H. Harrison, who was President in 1841. Who Carter B. Harrison was we do not know.

Bankers' Rate of Interest. To the Editor of the Dispatch: Will you kindly give the solution of the following: What rate of interest does a bank receive for discounting a note payable in one year, the rate of discount being 6 per cent? Suppose the face of the note is $100.33. The bank discount, or simple interest, according to fractions and omitting days of grace, is $6.38, and the proceeds is $100. Hence, for the use of $100 for one year, the borrower pays $6.38. Then the rate of interest is 6.38-100, or 6.38 per cent. The difference between discount and interest arises from the fact that discount is calculated on the face of the note and interest on the proceeds. This difference is inconsiderable when the rate is low; but if the rate of discount is above 50 per cent, the rate of interest would be 100 per cent.

Qualification of Voters. Can a government employee, who holds his legal residence in another State, but who has lived here over a year, vote at the coming election? ALL READER.

Witness Fees and Mileage. To the Editor of the Dispatch: Please answer the following: If a man be summoned to another county as a witness for the Commonwealth, and the court adjourn for two weeks, and he be ordered to appear before the next court, but the Clerk refuses to pay him mileage, can the witness be forced to do so? Must the man be compelled to ride forty-four miles into an adjoining county without the mileage for both trips, or is he entitled to mileage on the first trip? W.A.T.

McRea's, Va. A witness is entitled to mileage (4 cents) for attending from another county, on the first day of the term, but he is only entitled to it for one day during the term. The mileage is 4 cents each way over ten miles of travel.

near his home, between daybreak and sunrise one morning. I met him on horseback, with a bag of clover-seeds for seed for him, which he was carrying to his farm, it being the time of sowing such seed. Can you or any of your readers state where Judge Marshall's farm was, near the city? Of course, every one knows that his residence was at Ninth and Marshall, where it now stands. And, again, it is stated that Jacquelin Amber, the father of Mary Willis Amber, whom the Chief Justice married, lived in the city, and that his home was between Marshall and Clay streets. Can you locate that? J. G.

The residence of Mr. Jacquelin B. Amber, if we are correctly informed, was once a large frame house, which stood on the west side of Birch street between Broad and Marshall and near to St. James church. Later he lived in the large frame house which preceded the building now on the lot diagonally opposite the Jefferson Davis mansion.

Chief Justice Marshall's farm was about three miles northeast of the city, and was just south of the Creighton road, extending to the Chickahominy river. It was bounded on the east by the Creighton estate, formerly owned by Major Edmund Christian. We do not know what was the western boundary of the Marshall farm, but it was quite a large tract of land, containing certainly as much as 700 acres.

One of Judge Marshall's daughters married General Jacquelin B. Harvie, who, by his marriage, we presume, came in possession of the land, and for many years it was known as the Harvie estate. In 1870 Dr. George Gilmer Minor, father of Judge E. C. Minor, purchased about 330 acres of the old Marshall tract (it is still owned by Dr. Minor's heirs, and is marked on the map of Richmond, Manchester, and the surrounding country as "land of G. G. Minor's heirs.")

THE LOVE OF PARSON LORD AND OTHER STORIES. By Mary and John Wilkins. Illustrated. Published by Harper & Brothers. For sale by the J. P. Bell Company, city.

The Love of Parson Lord and other stories, a collection of five Miss Wilkins' most popular stories, which are as follows: "The Love of Parson Lord," "The Tree of Knowledge," "Catherine Carr," "The Three Old Sisters," and "One Good Time."

The young author, besides displaying a pleasing style in her composition, enjoys the additional charm of being a good story-teller, and what is better still, thoroughly original. She does not resort to gothic horrors, or strained situations, but keeps close upon the track of human nature.

THE FIRST AMERICAN, HIS HOMES AND HIS HOUSEHOLDS. By Lelia Herbert. Illustrated. New York and London: Harper & Brothers, 1900. Cloth, Decorated, and with Gilt Top. Price, $2.00.

The Bell Book Company, Richmond, Va. This handsome work has four sources of interest. First, it is published by the Harpers, who are congratulated upon their rehabilitation and retention in the vast work in which they have been so long engaged; second, the character and genius of the author; third, the writer of the preface, Miss Molly Elliott Seawell, who gives us an appreciative sketch of the gifted author; and, fourth, the subject, George Washington, the great general, the far-seeing statesman, the unswerving patriot, and the magnificent Virginia gentleman.

The author deserves special commendation for her staunch Americanism and the valuable legacy which she has left to her countrywomen. Cut off, as she was, in her 30th year, just as she had finished the work before us, yet she had a field for observation and experience, both at home and abroad; had had opportunities for comparison; possessed a capacity for judging, and a mind free from prejudice and undue bias; and nobly holds on to the institutions, privileges and responsibilities of her own favored country.

Miss Herbert was an Alabamian by birth, and after the death of her mother presided over the household of her father, in Washington, whilst he was a member of President Cleveland's Cabinet. Her bright career was terminated by the slow and unsuspected effects of a fall from her horse, in September, 1877, and she died the 22d of December following. The close of her life was exceedingly touching. "She lay in her bed, seldom rising from it, but always patient, and even gay. She sang ballads very sweetly, and it was one of her father's greatest pleasures to listen to her singing the old songs he mother had loved and sung." As the months passed, "suddenly and with scarcely a day's warning, the injury to the spine flew to the brain and in less than thirty-eight hours she was no more."

Among the illustrations is a beautiful frontispiece of her. She has collected and recorded many highly interesting things in relation to the peerless "First American."

MODERN JOURNALISM AND GENERAL LITERATURE. A Self-Teaching Manual. Price $1. By Curtis Haven, Philadelphia, Pa. Journalist, Author, and Teacher of Over Twenty Years' Experience.

There are other works on these subjects by Journalists of a greater note than Mr. Haven, but they are entirely made up of mere descriptions of personal journalistic experience; whereas, Mr. Haven's book is an instructor, a feature which should especially appeal to the young man or woman without experience.

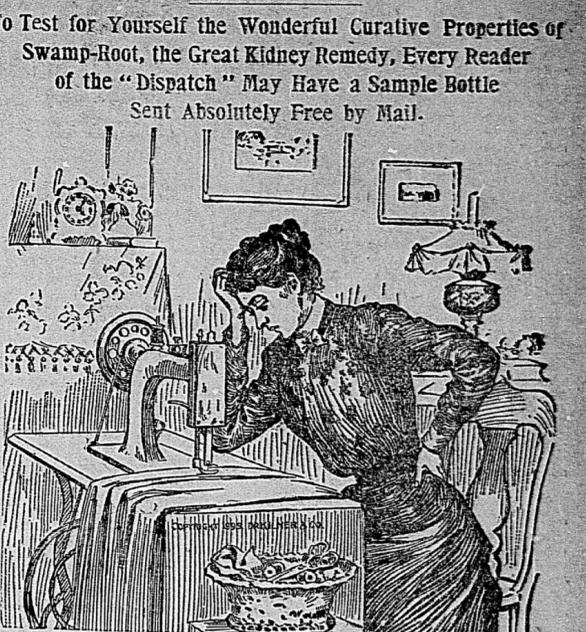

REACH'S OFFICIAL BASE-BALL GUIDE FOR 1900. Published by the J. P. Bell Company, Philadelphia. Price, 10 cents.

Bulbous. (Observations of a Philosophical Friend.) Are men and women accountable for their bulbosity? If so, how far? Our age is inquiring into everything. What is standard and normal is the first thing to look after. Then, what are departures from the good, the true, and the beautiful, and how those departures are to be prevented, and the regular promoted.

Beautiful, symmetrical, graceful bodies are joys in themselves, and delights to all about them. They commend wisdom and virtue, and honor their Creator. Absolute and perfect spheres—terres et rotundas—are ideals, and beautiful in their places. But, out of place, and as great swellings, there is hardly anything beautiful about them.

Even Faust, "so surfeit swelled, so puffed up with his greatness and wisdom, after a fashion, enjoyed for his wit and brightness—that is, his brilliancy was enjoyed regardless of its source, as phos-
