TRIAL OF BAPTIST. COURT GOES TO THE SCENE OF THE MURDER.

UNCONCERN OF THE PRISONER. He Prompts His Counsel as to Questions—A Number of Witnesses Examined—The Evidence Circumstantial, But Not Very Strong.

BOYDTON, VA., May 22.—(Special.)—At noon to-day Judge Homes gave notice to the officers of his court that he would take the jury and the prisoner, Baptist, with his guard, over to the scene of the tragedy near Buffalo Lithia Springs.

At 3 o'clock the entire court boarded the west-bound mail and will not return before the early morning.

The testimony of old Miss Peggy Jones, a sister of the murdered man, may be heard over at her home, while the jury is there, as she is said to be too feeble to be brought to the court-house.

There is not the least danger in taking Baptist over to his old home. He is calm and seems to be unconscious of the enormity of the crime of which he stands charged.

"COUSINS" There's an old saying that the only way to look at the faults of a pretty woman is with closed eyes. Women are oftentimes tempted to buy a pair of shoes solely for beauty's sake. When they do their eyes are closed to other faults. When comfort is sacrificed for extreme style, the consequences will be soon felt, but not seen. "Cousins" shoes are exclusive style and have that individuality of both style and comfort that is their distinguishing feature. These Famous Shoes are worn by Women, Misses, and Children.
