VIRGINIA BAPTISTS.

LAST DAY OF THE GENERAL ASSOCIATION.

A VERY SUCCESSFUL SESSION.

The Sermon of Dr. E. Y. Mullins—The New Century Movement—Meeting in the Interest of Foreign Missions—Notes.

BRISTOL, VA., November 18.—(Special.)—The Virginia Baptist General Association closed to-day a very successful session. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne was appointed to preach the introductory sermon before the next annual meeting. The committee first recommended that the next meeting be held with the Grace-Street Baptist church, in Richmond, but it was afterwards decided to leave to the State Mission Board the selection of the place. This was done in view of the great meeting which will probably be held in Richmond in June. If the plans for this meeting are consummated, the November meeting will be held at some other place. In all probability it will go to Danville.

The pupils of nearly all the churches in Bristol and the surrounding country were present at the meeting. Dr. W. E. Hatcher, pastor of the Grace-Street Baptist church, in Richmond, and Dr. George Cooper, pastor of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, respectively, of this city. The place of honor was given to Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, in Louisville, as he was appointed to preach at 11 o'clock in the Bristol Baptist church. He was greeted by a great concourse of people, who took no note of time and listened with intense eagerness for nearly an hour.

The words of the Saviour, "What think ye of Christ?" furnished the text for this striking discourse. The speaker said that the character and claims of Christ had been subjected to the test of experience, the test of history, the test of opposition, and the test of human thought. It was this last test which the text alludes to, and this test Jesus welcomes at all times. There is sometimes a wide difference between what Christ is and what we think of Him. Christ is unchangeable, the other is constantly subjected to revision. The same is true of science, for while the theories of the scientists have through the ages been continually shifting, the great facts of science remain for ever the same.

Much is made nowadays of the phrase, "We have a right to think as we please." What does this mean? It means that no civil power can mark out the limits of our thinking; it does not mean that we may not think in accordance with truth. Jesus challenges the thought of the Pharisees and proves to them that He, the Son of David, was also David's Lord. They had only a fragment of the truth, the human side of Christ, and illogical thinking generally arises from considering only a fragment of the evidence.

Let us bring to our own time the question, "What think ye of Christ?" There are three answers that we may give. (1) We may deny the Divinity of Christ. But in this position we have a good deal to explain. We must not only explain the civil power of His disciples, but the divine, but we must explain the whole history of Christian experience. Christ has had the power to change men and to transform them into agents of salvation.

Just as the molecules of matter have the power of remaining a part in the organic matter, the dust under our feet, or of combining into organic matter, as the grass and flowers; so lives may be united, or they may be combined in Christ's fellowship. Christ has the power of combining men into societies. Jesus has given to the world all his creative ideas, and nearly all his creative personalities. The men who have moved the world have been, almost to a man, animated by the spirit of Christ. All this must be accounted for by those who deny the Divinity of Christ.

(2) We may be in the condition of suspended judgment—we may say we do not know. But in the first place this is unsatisfying, because the soul that is in but Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. They are not the same; far from it. Scott's emulsion is cod-liver oil prepared for the stomach. Let cod-liver oil alone if you need it. When your physician orders toast, do you breakfast on flour?

Pure cod-liver oil is hard to take and hard to digest. A man that can keep it down, can saw wood. He thinks he is sick; he is lazy.

We'll send you a little to try if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

doubt cannot be at peace. In the second place it is unfruitful. Reverse the engine in a Curard steamship and it will run on for four miles, but it does so at the consequence of the work done before the engines were reversed. So recent humanitarian movements which seem to be fruitful are simply running with the momentum acquired before Christ was left out of the movement.

(3) We may give the answer of the disciple and accept Christ as being all that He claimed for Himself. He is more than an example more than a teacher. He is the redeemer. We want Christ of the cradle, of the wayside, of the cross, of Olivet, of the judgment. We must accept the whole Christ. Such acceptance of Christ will be followed by forgiveness, renewal assurance, conviction. Another thing which will follow is a solution of the mystery of life and the mystery of death. No one who has buried a loved one can say that he cares much for the future.

Last, and best, when the whole Christ is accepted He will master us. He first masters us, then enables us to master ourselves, and then gives us the power to master others. He masters us not by His example, but by His love. Our affections, our conscience, our will. A mother comes to her frightened child and has but to look down into the cradle to bring a smile to the little one's face. So Christ explores and looks upon us, and we love Him.

In the afternoon a meeting was held in the interest of the "new century movement." Rev. E. C. Henning, of Richmond, presided. Addresses were made by Dr. F. R. Marshall, of Boston, giving an admirable account of the growth of the denomination, and although he made liberal use of statistics, he so skillfully marshalled his facts that he was listened to with interest and interest. He was not only universally conceded to be an unusually able and valuable addresser. The speeches of the others were also very admirable.

At night there was held a mass-meeting in the interest of foreign missions. Addresses were made by Rev. T. B. Dunaway, Jr., Dr. George Braxton Taylor, Dr. E. E. Bomar, and Rev. R. E. Chambers, who has just returned from China. Mr. Chambers gave an interesting account of the difficulties of the work, and also of its hopeful aspects. He urged the point that the anti-foreign movement in China to-day is not religious, but political, and that the leaders are not ecclesiastical officials, who care nothing for religion.

After passing a resolution of thanks to the citizens of Bristol for their hospitality, the association adjourned, with prayer by Rev. E. Y. Mullins.

SAD ACCIDENT TO A CHILD.
 Little Garland Hinton's Death—A Barn Destroyed by Fire.

WINCHESTER, VA., November 19.—(Special.)—Garland Hinton, the 3-year-old son of Mr. Lewis T. Hinton, a well-known resident of White Hall, this county, met death in a peculiar manner last night. The child's mother had taken a quantity of hot ashes from the stove and placed them in a box on the floor. The little one, while playing around the box, accidentally fell into it, and buried his head in the scalding portion of the body in the ashes. When rescued, together with the hot ashes to such an extent and had been so badly burned that death resulted in a few hours.

FIRE DUE TO A LANTERN.
 Last night, Briscoe Lowery, a tenant on Carter W. Snapp's farm, near Fawcett's Gap, this county, went into the barn with a lighted lantern to feed the stock. While ascending a ladder to the hay-mow, the lantern fell to the floor and exploded, setting the hay on fire. The barn was burned up, together with the contents. The stock was saved. The loss is $1,000, with $500 insurance.

DIED IN WASHINGTON.
 Marshall McCormick Hardesty Succumbs to Fever.

BERRYVILLE, VA., November 19.—(Special.)—A telegram was received here this morning announcing the death of Marshall McCormick Hardesty, which occurred here in the Savoy flats, where he was employed as a physician. He was the cause of his end. He was a native of Clarke, and was the youngest son of Charles R. Hardesty, of this county. Within half a year of his age, and was an exemplary young man, and remains will be brought here Wednesday morning, and after services at the home of his father, at 10:30 o'clock, his body will be interred in Green-Hill Cemetery.

THE METHODISTS.

FIFTH DAY OF THE VIRGINIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXAMINATION.

An Important Question—Unfortunate Action, Says the Bishop—The Twentieth Century Thank Offering—Rather Warm Discussion.

NORFOLK, VA., November 19.—(Special.)—Bishop Duncan called the Virginia annual conference to order at 9:30 o'clock. Religious services were conducted by Rev. Charles E. Watts. The minutes of Saturday's session were read by the secretary and approved. The Bishop called for the report of the Committee on Examination of the class of the third year, and the following members of that class were reported on:

W. T. Haynes passed an examination of character, and was admitted to the class of the fourth year. J. E. White passed his examination, and was advanced to the class of the fourth year. J. E. Ailer passed an examination of character, and was continued in the class of the third year. E. L. Pearson—Character passed, and continued in the class of the third year. He was allowed to attend Vanderbilt University.

J. B. Lavender—Character passed, and continued in the class of the third year. L. B. Shearer—Did not take the examination on account of ill health. His character was passed, and he was continued in the class of the third year. W. H. Marks—Character passed, passed his examination, and was advanced to the class of the fourth year. W. R. Evans—Character passed; stood an approved examination, and was advanced to the class of the fourth year. J. B. Langley—Character passed. He stood an approved examination, and was advanced to the class of the fourth year.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTION.
 Rev. J. E. DeShazo, chairman of the Committee on Examination, offered a resolution authorizing the committee to hold the examination of the class of the year as might be decided to be convenient; the resolution took the ground that there was not enough time during the session of the conference to conduct proper examinations. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 3. The Bishop said the action of the conference was a very unfortunate one. He did not think it could be carried out by all the members of each class had a right to be present at the examinations. He thought great confusion would result.

SPECIAL ORDER.
 The special order of the day having arrived, Dr. A. Coke Smith, president of the Board of Education, took the floor and read report No. 1 of his board, as follows:
 "The canvass for the twentieth century thank offering has already borne fruit in enlarged interest in the work of Christian education, as evidenced in the increasing collections from Sunday schools throughout our bounds. The object of this movement was never to pile up endowments that we might point to schools for our credit, but to train the young for usefulness in the Kingdom of Christ, and to rouse our people to a better estimate of this arm of power. While we rejoice in the work done, we cannot but be grieved more earnestly upon the notice of our people."

"At the last session of our conference we reported $30,000 in cash and subscriptions. This year we report $74,000. From this it will be seen that our people are more interested in the work of the church, and are bringing faithfully to their attention. From the secretary's report it will be seen that the 88,000 members of our Church within the bounds of the conference, only 1,000 have gone to record as making a thank offering to God upon the call of the church."

"In some of the charges the canvass has been somewhat thoroughly made with corresponding results. It is not invidious to refer to the Raleigh-Macon and Farmville districts and the excellent work of the presiding elders and preachers in charge of these districts. Had all the districts in the conference been so thoroughly made with corresponding results, it is not invidious to refer to the Raleigh-Macon and Farmville districts and the excellent work of the presiding elders and preachers in charge of these districts. Had all the districts in the conference been so thoroughly made with corresponding results, it is not invidious to refer to the Raleigh-Macon and Farmville districts and the excellent work of the presiding elders and preachers in charge of these districts."

GREAT LABOR.
 "The thorough canvass of the Church will involve labor and will require the co-operation of the pastors and the laity. The results to be obtained will fully compensate for the efforts if it be properly directed. We should be rid of the idea that this is a mere attempt to levy a new tax upon our people. Better leave the whole matter alone than to allow it to degenerate into a mere scuffle for shakels. The offering is asked primarily for the good of the offerer. The blessing around the offering lingers in the hearts of the donors."

"If we could all be stirred with the feeling of gratitude to God, which is due from us to Him, the amount of the offering would be increased. The offering which filled the hearts of the fathers under Josiah's leadership, the prayer and the people made glad thank offering to God. We cannot allow this opportunity to pass without effort fully to improve it. We should be glad to express our appreciation making this a worthy expression of our thankfulness to God. We urge our brethren, clerical and lay, to allow nothing to draw attention from the primary object of this movement. We have secured largely God's blessing. He calls for large service at our hands; we fall in gratitude, we fall in the essential of Christian character. Shall we, like thankless nine, receive the priceless gifts of Christ and not return to give Him thanks?"

"Your board requests the conference to order the continuance of the canvass until all our people have had opportunity to make an offering. And we respectfully urge our preachers to divide their membership into sections, and appoint the most earnest and efficient members they can command to assist them in a personal canvass, bringing to the minds of the people their obligations to the Giver of all good, and inducing them to give expressions to their gratitude by an offering to His church, through which the Gospel has come to us all."

"Resolved, That in accordance with the laws of the General Conference, the canvass for the twentieth century thank offering be continued in this conference until the cause shall have been presented at all congregations included in each separate pastoral charge."
 "A COKE SMITH, President.
 "James Cannon, Jr., Secretary."
THE SEVERAL DISTRICTS.
 The secretary of the board, Rev. James Cannon, then read the report of the secretary, and treasurer, showing the amounts collected and pledged to be as follows, by districts:

 Norfolk and Eastern Shore, by 182 persons, $3,380.
 The total number of subscribers so far contributing amounts to 5,576, and the total amount of money subscribed is $74,151.37.

The report stated that, while this handsome amount had been secured, there were still seventy-four preachers and $3,000 laymen within the bounds of the conference who had not contributed.

ENCOURAGING?
 Dr. Hammond, the general secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, South, was introduced by the Bishop, and spoke in an interesting vein to Dr. Smith's report. He said $1,200,000 had already been subscribed by the Southern Church for this thank offering, and the amount asked for being $1,500,000, and the effort had not yet reached one-twentieth of the membership. Of the $8,000 already been subscribed, less than $9,000 had been reached. If the present standpoint of raising $1,500,000, the amount first named, the movement was a success, but if viewed from the standpoint of trying to make it a popular subscription, it was a failure. They should labor, he said, to get the people to undertake great things. If the people could be won to the cause of education, and induce to contribute at the rate of $1 per member, the $1,500,000 would be raised for God and the Church. The plan adopted by contributors of directing the course of their contributions should take bid to defeat the plan to endow the Bible department of Vanderbilt University. A gentleman in St. Louis had said that when the Church raised $100,000 for this purpose he would give an additional $50,000.

Dr. Whitehead moved to strike out so much of his report as referred to State schools, stating that he had been informed, which urged Methodists to support their denominational schools, would be construed as opposing the public schools of the State. He did not believe in antagonizing the State institutions.

WANTED AN EXPLANATION.
 At the conclusion of Dr. Brown's remarks Rev. R. M. Maxey arose and asked an explanation in behalf of the young men of the conference.

Dr. Brown at once apologized for his expression. He admitted that he had spoken too hastily, and said more than he intended to. Thus the incident was closed.

Mr. James Cannon then took the floor to discuss his report as secretary of the Board of Education, and was introduced by Dr. Whitehead, who claimed the secretary's report was not properly speaking, a report of the board, and should not be considered by the conference. The Bishop said the point was not well taken, and Mr. Cannon proceeded, and the spiciest discussion of the conference followed.

any offence, and would retract what he had said.
 The Bishop said he hoped that at the proper time and place the two would go out do as David and Jonathan did.
 Further discussion of this character was cut short by the ruling of the Bishop on a point of order raised by Rev. B. F. Lipscomb. He said the General Conference had placed the power to dispose of the thank offering funds in the hands of the various annual conferences. If it was given as a thank offering it should not come with a string tied to it. The General Board of Education, however, had agreed that contributors might say what course their contributions should take. The reports were adopted and conference adjourned.
