TOGS FOR BOYS

Willie is beginning to wonder "when I'm going to get that new summer suit you promised me, mama?" He knows that Georgie Jones and Henry Brown and all the other boys have new summer suits, and he wants to know why it is that he hasn't one, too.

Is he going to get one? If he isn't—why isn't he? Don't tell us "I can't afford it." You say that without a knowledge of just how little it would require to fit him out just as "swell" as can be—if you'll come here for his outfit.

For instance, here's a lot of $5 Russian Blouse Suits.

The chick, new boy costume. A quaint look about them that make the little chaps look so cute. Made from fine blue, brown and red serge, fancy flannel and rough chevrons. Very desirable suits—and just as durable as they are desirable. For boys aged from 2½ to 7 years.

All sorts of other styles of boys' togs, too. All sizes of prices, also. A "Berry" good suit as low as $2. A "Berry" aristocratic suit as high as $9.

Do You Want to Spread Your Money Way Out?

Here's fine Boys' Suits from last summer, with all their original wear, resistfulness and durability—the prices only have gone short:

Hundreds of Boys' Double-Breasted Suits—all sizes; elegant patterns, that were $2.00, now $1.45;

that were $3.50, now $2.50;

that were $5.00, now $3.50.

You should see these.

STOCKS SEE-SAW

TRADING STILL IN HANDS OF THE PROFESSIONALS.

ERIE STRENGTH IS MAINTAINED
It helps the market to some advantage, most conspicuously in about some stocks as those which showed strength Wednesday.

NEW YORK, May 23.—To-day's stock market offered very little that is worthy of any comment. Still further evidence was given of the abandonment of trading by professional operators, most of them of the class known as room traders, who operate for a day's turn and do not often leave their accounts open overnight.

The natural consequence of the abandonment of trading by professional operators is that the market is not likely to move in any one direction beyond the second day.

Yesterday's strength in the Erie stocks was maintained this morning, and helped the market to some advance, most conspicuously in about the same stocks as those which showed strength yesterday.

The movement in Erie stocks is the subject of much interest, and the conjecture as to its origin ranged from a belief that it was pure speculation, with manipulation by a pool, to the opinion that a contest for control might be involved.

The statement of the Bank of England for the week, and the hardening of the London money market, lifted the sterling exchange rate to a higher level.
