

BULLET STOPS NEGRO. WOUNDED. HE GOES MANY HOURS BEFORE DISCOVERING IT.

THE BALL COULD NOT BE LOCATED. The Hog-Pen Revolution Will Make a Stir—Coroner's Inquest Over Remains of William Carter—Barroom to Be Moved.

That a man could be shot, and for a short time not know it, has often happened, but for one to follow a 33-caliber ball in his hip and carry it for ten or twelve hours is rather unusual.

Samuel Everett, a strapping big negro, if he will never have another distinction, has this one. On Thursday evening, while on duty in Henrico county, he attempted to arrest him.

The trouble happened on a Seven Pine street car. Everett was creating a disturbance on the car, and Conductor Leslie Red attempted to eject him from the car.

Officer Clarke came to the assistance of the conductor. He was a passenger on the car, and saw the trouble. The negro released the grip the officer had on him and started to run away.

The plucky policeman was soon on his feet and ran after his man, who was increasing his distance. The ball, however, had lodged in his hip.

Seeing that there was no alternative, the officer shot. In an instant the negro was doubled up on the ground. Just why or how it happened he was unable to explain.

By this time the attorney had come up, and had hastened to the residence of Squire Thomas. There he asked Mr. Thomas for some paper, and wrote to his attorney, N. J. Lewis, to meet him at the county jail on the following morning.

After delivering the letter to Mr. Thomas for his attorney, he was carried to the county jail and locked up. All this time there was no complaint from him, and the officer had not the least idea that his ball had struck the negro.

Yesterday morning, after being in jail all night, Everett felt no ill effects after the encounter with the officer. Several hours after breakfast he noticed a lump on his clothing. It was a small, hard lump, which resulted in the discovery that he had been shot in his hip. In a short time he was feeling badly, and it was necessary to summon medical aid.

Dr. Lorimer James, the county physician, called on him, and he was out. Dr. James said that he was out. Dr. James made an examination, but concluded that the wound was not serious, and the ball had best not be removed. Dr. James said that he was out.

Several hours after breakfast the man was suffering intense pain from the wound, and Dr. James was again called. This time he was located, and he went to the jail at once. He made an examination, and he was out.

The doctor decided that the ball was not a suitable place for the man, and wanted to have him removed to the county almshouse, where he could be cared for by Dr. Collins and himself. To this arrangement he consented, and he was sent home.

Squire Thomas, who had issued the warrant for his arrest, released him on his own recognizance for his appearance for trial on next Tuesday. He was then sent to his home, on the following morning. Dr. James said last night that Everett was suffering very much when he saw him, and that he considered the wound a serious one.

THAT HOG-PEN RESOLUTION. The resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Henrico county, declaring that hog-pens shall exist within three-fourths of a mile from the limits of Richmond, unless a permit be first secured from the board, has been a considerable topic among the people who will be effected by the change.

Already a number have called at the court-house making inquiries concerning the matter. When all hog-owners in the county have been notified of the resolution a cry will come up to the board something like that which Pharoah heard when the plagues were upon his people.

The announcement that the board will hear requests to own hogs on September 2d will serve to bring together one of the largest and worst-mixed crowds ever seen at the court-house.

It is expected that the Board of Supervisors will elect scavengers for the four magisterial districts in the county at its September meeting. When this shall have been accomplished a crusade will be commenced against dirty streets.

The board has hoped to clean up and make the sanitary condition of the suburbs as good or better than that which exists in the city proper.

DIED FROM CONGESTIVE CHILL. An inquest was held yesterday morning on the remains of Mr. William Carter, who died on Wednesday very suddenly. The inquest was held at the home of the deceased, No. 96 Mosby street. After hearing the statements of W. W. Buford, Garfield Price, and Dr. J. P. Harrison, a post-mortem examination, which was conducted by Drs. Lorimer James, the County Coroner and J. P. Harrison, of the City Hospital corps, the jury came to the conclusion that death was caused by congestive chill.

The jury was composed of Thomas P. Larus (foreman), Harry Voegler, John Clarke, Charles B. Thomas, James Trainham, and Blair Smith. The jury was called on Wednesday without previous illness, and Dr. James decided that the inquest was necessary.

The deceased is survived by a wife and several children. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the home, and the burial was at Oakwood.

WILL MOVE BAR-ROOM. Sparks & Black, who are running a barroom at the Casino, have posted a notice at the front of the county court-house, which they intend to apply to the County Court on September 14th for the right to remove their place of business from the Casino to the intersection of Cedar and Beverly streets.

A double team, which was driven by Messrs. C. Harvey, of the county, ran away yesterday morning at Chamberlain avenue and the Boulevard. The horses were found about three miles out on the Hermitage road grazing. No damage was done of any consequence.

The Henrico Republicans have selected the following delegates to represent the county in the coming convention to be held at Roanoke—viz: Joseph B. Stewart,

WEST HANOVER PRESBYTERY. A Good Attendance—A Remarkable Letter. FARMVILLE, VA., August 16.—(Special.)—West Hanover Presbytery was in session yesterday at the First Baptist church, Cumberland county. Despite the high water in many streams, an unusually large crowd was in attendance, it being estimated that fully 500 persons were on the grounds yesterday.

The day was a busy one for the children of the various Sunday schools, as it was Sunday school institute day. The day was a busy one for the children of the various Sunday schools, as it was Sunday school institute day.

Miss Ethel A. Redwood, daughter of Captain John H. Redwood, has returned to the city from a delightful visit to Nashville, Tenn., and by Mr. Wood, of Charlottesville. West Hanover Presbytery embraces forty-three churches.

A rather remarkable letter was received this morning by Policeman Ligon at this place, from an escaped prisoner. Two weeks ago a negro excursionist was arrested for carrying concealed weapons and creating a disturbance on the streets of Farmville. He was tried, and the Mayor fined him only $10, in default of which the prisoner was sent to jail, and subsequently put to work on the town's rock pile.

They were very much attached. The stream was much swollen from the recent rains. The horses, in crossing, went into a hole which was about ten feet deep. They began to swim, but were hindered by the gentleman who was in the water, and succeeded in losing the horses from the buggy and then themselves, made for the shore. They were very much attached.

Get Good Hands. Red Rough Hands. Itching Burning Pains. Painful Finger Ends. With Shapeless Nails. ONE NIGHT CURE. CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT.

With their excessively formal etiquette, the Chinese can be brutally rude; with their classic exhortations to honesty, the bribe is a potent force with the coolie and the mandarin alike. While the mother of sons rules the empire, while she is revered and obeyed as long as she lives, yet for women in the abstract kind her little respect.

Female children are not desired in any Oriental country, and, as in India, Chinese wives offer sacrifices to the Goddess of Mercy, that sons may be forthcoming. The destruction of female children is rather encouraged than punished, and among the hundreds of girls in the orphan asylum of the Franciscan nuns in Peking the greater number who were reared had been exposed in the streets and fields to perish.

There is one exception to the general disfavor with which girls are regarded, and this is where male children only have previously been born. When the case is a daughter is desired, and she is apt to be very much indulged and spoiled.

A girl's education is very meagre, ending at her marriage, which occurs at the age of 14 or 15, after which the cares of her household are supposed to be sufficient occupation. There have been exceptions, however, where ambitious and clever girls continued their studies in foreign lands.

In the mission schools, there are prodigies of intelligence—many of the girl students showing remarkable aptitude, strangely enough, in mathematics and natural sciences.

When a child is born the friends and relatives are notified and gifts are presented. The sex of the child determines the value of the presents, which are of much less value should it be a daughter. The presents are not of such value as those of the mother and father, and among the poor, to cook, to wash the clothing for summer.

Millions of the poorer classes have but one, or at the most two, suits of clothes, so that the problem of personal cleanliness is one which which they do not concern themselves. Girls also work in the fields, help gather the crops, collect grass and feed the fowls, ducks and fowls, and, of evenings, by the feeble light of a smoky oil lamp, make the cloth-soled shoes which are worn summer and winter.

The women of the richer classes pay much attention to their toilette, painting the face with a thick, opaque coat of bi-smuth, tinting the cheeks and lips a vivid red with carmine. They also pay much attention to their eyebrows, which they style with the aid of a comb and shaped like the willow leaf, the Chinese consider a mark of especial beauty. They also play upon musical instruments, and, as in the days of the Arabian Nights, are entertained by professional songsters.

Girls attend to many of the household performances in their private theatres. They visit only on state occasions, especially at the
