NEXT LEGISLATURE.

A COMPLETE, OFFICIAL LIST OF THE MEMBERS OF BOTH HOUSES.

THE DISTRICTS AND ADDRESSES.

There are Nineteen Republicans in the House and Three in the Senate, including the Two Hold-overs—Those Re-Elected or Former Members—Their Districts.

Mr. J. N. Brennan, assistant secretary of the Constitutional Convention and one of the secretaries of the General Assembly, has compiled a list of the members-elect of both houses of the newly-elected Legislature, together with the holdover members. In the appended list the members whose names are marked with a star are re-elected, and in the Senate, the holdover members are signified by the letter H after their names. All the members are Democrats, except those marked R, which means that they are Republicans, there being but nineteen of them in the House and three in the Senate, a total of but twenty-two in total ballot out of the total membership of 140. Of the Republican members of the Senate, one of the three is a holdover, having been elected two years ago. Former members of the House who are returned to that body after an interval are marked with an F wherever they are known as having heretofore served in either branch. Here is the list of the members of both House and Senate with their post-office addresses and the districts they represent:

MOST NOVEL LAW SUIT.

THE LIBEL CASE OF NINDE ET AL. AGAINST ROGERS.

Grew Out of the Treatment of Small-Pox Cases, in King George, and the Action to Suppress the Disease—Shippers Will Lose Nothing by the Burning of the Richmond-Dusty Roads.

COMORN, KING GEORGE COUNTY, VA., November 23.—(Special.)—The fall term of the Circuit Court of this county, which opened last Monday and continued in session several days, had long been looked forward to with peculiar interest, and attracted wide attention. The most important cases on the docket—the cases in which nearly every citizen of the county felt a keen interest one way or the other—were the libel suits of Dr. F. F. Ninde and others against Mr. James E. Rogers. As is noted in the Dispatch earlier in this week, the small-pox epidemic in King George last winter. When that disease made its appearance in the neighborhood of Port Conway and thence spread to other parts of the county, the Board of Health and the Board of Supervisors took steps to suppress it. A general vaccination was ordered, and Dr. M. W. Minor and F. F. Ninde were authorized to do this work. The Board of Supervisors authorized Dr. Ninde to treat the small-pox patients for a limited time at $10 per day. In the mean time, certain citizens put out a report that the disease was not small-pox, and this created some dissatisfaction among some of the taxpayers, who were unwilling to incur the expense of coping with the disease. Then the board secured Dr. McGuire Newton, an expert, who came here, diagnosed the cases, and pronounced the malady genuine small-pox. It is of course, the cost the county some money to handle the disease and to vaccinate the public school pupils and the citizens most exposed, etc. CRITICISED THE OFFICIALS. Dr. W. S. Leake, a citizen of the county, opposed the actions of the Board of Supervisors and health officers, and published in the Fredericksburg Star an article, severely criticising them with officials, practically charging them with defrauding the county out of so much money. So severe were his criticisms and so sweeping were his charges of fraud that Dr. F. F. Ninde and Dr. M. W. Minor, the two physicians, and James E. Rogers, the three supervisors, employed counsel and instituted suits for libel, and the cases were not brought to trial until this week. Judge John E. Leake, being a relative of one of the parties to the suits, felt a duty in sitting in the trial, and procured Judge Grimley to preside in his stead. Among the multitude of witnesses for the plaintiffs was Dr. Newton, of Richmond. The sensation growing out of the publication of Mr. Rogers's criticisms last spring had hardly subsided when the suits were called in court this week. The jury failed to agree, and another trial will be held. BURN CHANTS TO LOSE NOTHING. The King George merchants who lost goods by the burning of the steamer Richmond at Fredericksburg last week have reasons for believing that they are among the country merchants who were spared for all the freight that perished in the flames. Mr. J. T. Minor, of this place; Mr. D. W. Coakley, three miles from here; and Mr. H. B. Coghill, of King George Court-house, are among the country merchants who had goods on the steamer when it was destroyed by fire. The best yield of corn in King George this year, so far as known, was eighteen barrels from one acre, raised by Mr. J. R. Baker, at Elm Hill. Dr. C. S. Ladson, of Hyattsville, Md., spent this week with kinfolk near here. Miss Susie Cannon, of Spotsylvania, assisted in a musical at King George Court-house last night, and also in the concert at Potomac Baptist church, near here, a week before. PROFESSOR OGDEN'S ASSAILANTS. Rby, Walter, and Carrie Miller, the three negroes charged with shooting at Professor O. A. Oden, near King George Court-house, one night last week, were before Justice H. C. Purkins this week and committed to jail for fifteen days. Annie Miller, a supposed accomplice, is held in the county jail for her appearance before the December term of the County Court. Dr. Langford, a Washington physician, has located on Machodoc creek, in the lower part of this county, for the purpose of practicing medicine in the thickly settled community. Miss Carrie Brown, an accomplished young lady of this county, has gone to New Jersey to teach in a college. Miss Jennette J. Jones, a well-known public school teacher of this county, is

ANNIE B. RALSTON, showing her wonderful improvement.

It has remained for a Cincinnati woman to disclose the secret of a perfect skin. She has at last found the key to feminine beauty. All the signs and heartaches over a poor appearance may now be banished, for it is within the means of every lady, young or middle aged, but to have the clearest and most refined complexion so dear to a woman's heart. Fannie B. Ralston, 628 Lexington Avenue, Newport, Ky., says: "When I began using Mme. Ribaull's complexion beautifiers, I did not think it possible to clear my skin. My face was in horrible condition literally covered with red spots, pimples, blackheads, moth patches, and freckles. I suffered a thousand deaths, and when I sent for a trial of Mme. Ribaull's beautifiers, I improved so wonderfully that my friends did not recognize me, so quickly had the change taken place. My skin is now perfectly lovely, and there is not a blemish or wrinkle anywhere. It is not a face powder, cream, cosmetic, or bleach, contains no oil, grease, paste, chemicals, or poisons of any kind and is absolutely pure. Write to Mme. Ribaull's, 3861 Elsa Street, New York, O. and she will mail free, prepaid, in a plain sealed wrapper, a free package of her wonderful beautifiers, and you will always bless the day you wrote.
