Hon. J. L. M. Curry. (Montgomery Ala.) Advertiser. It is curious how some of the Georgia papers, in order to lay claim to Hon. J. L. M. Curry as a Georgian, ignore some of the most important events of his life. Here is the Savannah News saying: "Dr. J. L. M. Curry, who has been named as the special envoy of the United States to the Court of Spain, to attend the coming-of-age ceremonies of the King of Spain, is a native of Georgia. He was born in Lincoln county, this State, on June 5, 1852. He was a member of the Confederate Army, and a soldier in the Confederate Army. For a number of years he has been identified with the Peabody Fund and the cause of education in Spain when young Alfonso was born."

Being a Good Fellow. (New York Press). The man who has an income of $10,000 a year and spends every cent of it on his wife and family and friends is a good fellow, and is blessed by everybody even after he has died and left not a cent to his children in school, to save his bread and butter, or to pay his bills scattered around the town. He dies a royal good fellow, with the reputation of living only for his family. The man who takes $1,000 a year off his wife's back in clothes, and $1,000 a year off his own back and puts it off his drinks and cigars and puts it into Alabama's Poll Tax. (Birmingham News). It is high time for those who have not qualified themselves to vote in the next election by paying their poll-tax prior to February 1st that they immediately comply with that constitutional provision. It will be idle to bemoan disfranchisement when it has come about so deliberately. No man in this State with any appreciation of the right to vote can possibly claim that the payment to the State of $1.50 for that privilege is too much. Every man in Alabama gets the protection of his officers and its courts and free tuition of his children whether he pays taxes or not. Shall a man complacently accept every benefaction the State offers and decide how these benefactions, through the officers elected, shall be distributed, without contributing anything to his State's welfare?

Maidenhood and Womanhood

At the threshold of wedded life with its cares and responsibilities, what more appropriate could a bride consider than a box of the medicine that will keep the new family in perfect health. "I took Cascarella myself and they are fine. I have been giving them to my children with best results." - Mrs. Davis, 422 E. Capitol St., Washington. "Cascarella is the best medicine I ever tried. I cannot be too grateful for them." - Mrs. E. E. Dixon, Elinore, Cal. "Cascarella is also a good medicine. I took them for worms and got rid of them. For about a year I had also suffered from liver trouble and constipation. After taking the second dose of Cascarella the cure was complete and I feel better than ever." - Mrs. H. F. Freeman, 422 Champlain Ave., Chicago. "I have used Cascarella and must say they are wonderful." I recommended them to all my lady friends." - Mrs. J. H. Mayes, Charlton, Ia. There are many physical disturbances of the bodily functions connected with the change from maidenhood to womanhood, and the health and wholesome life not only of the bride, the new wife and prospective mother, but that of the new generation that is to be, depend upon keeping all operations of the digestive canal regular and natural with Cascarella Candy Cathartic, the only medicine that will do it gently yet surely without grip or gripe. Best for the Bowels. All druggists, 10c. per box. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped G. C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. Sample and booklet free. THE T. P. A. MEN'S TRIP.

DRUMMERS WELL PLEASED WITH CHARLESTON EXPOSITION. WERE SHOWN MANY COURTESIES. Among the Speakers Who Were Heard at the Banquet Was Colonel John S. Harwood, Who Responded to the Mayor's Welcome-Observations on a Tour Through the South Carolina Show.

In response to an invitation extended by the authorities of the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition through the South Carolina Division of the Travellers Protective Association, a number of travelling drummers gathered in the historic city of Charleston, S. C., Tuesday and Wednesday of last week to see and enjoy what few have seen—not only one of the largest, but one of the most unique, artistic, and interesting exhibitions of this country.

The first day was taken up in renewing and making acquaintances, along with visiting the exposition. The committee of the Travellers Protective Association, R. H. Simons, chairman, who is also the chairman of the South Carolina Division, Travellers Protective Association Board of Directors, A. J. Geer, president, and W. W. Wagner, secretary, along with other leading Charleston merchants, as soon as the visitors and the local commercial men could be assembled they were escorted to the trolley cars and there they were shown the architectural and electrical display of the buildings are perfectly beautiful and the name of the "Ivory City by the Sea" is aptly and appropriately chosen. In this brief space it is difficult to note the instructive and interesting things to be seen, while passing through the rigorous business of which is a half mile in length. Many States are represented by special buildings handsomely designed and have excellent exhibits and also they have apartments in other buildings of general exhibits.

Among some of the attractive are New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Oregon, Louisiana, South Carolina, Missouri, and the city of Philadelphia, in which is placed the Liberty Bell. One of the attractive features of the trip is the artistic way in which the grounds, with their asphalt walkways, are laid off. In passing through, one views on every side, beautiful fields of grass interspersed here and there with tropical trees and lovely flowered with sunken gardens. The electric lights, makes a veritable fairy land.

THE COURT OF PALACES. The model of one of the buildings, known as the Court of Palaces, will be taken to New York, Va., and will be given a very prominent place in the Fine Arts building of that city on the occasion of the seventeenth annual meeting of the Architectural League of New York on the 17th of February next. The building means that it will be seen and studied and admired by thousands of the best artists and critics of the country, and will bring to the attention of those who do not otherwise have thought of visiting the exposition now in progress.

It gratified and opened the eyes of many of the commercial men to the advancement in the manufacture of goods, as also were other industries that space forbids mentioning. Agriculture, forestry, fruits, etc., were particularly interesting and profitable to those of other sections but also to those of the South. It was instructive to learn of the great variety of cereals and trucking, the product of the southern farms, the immensity of the forests, and the innumerable kinds of fruit and flowers.

As the Travellers Protective Association of America, whose headquarters are at St. Louis, Mo., is represented by the Hon. J. S. Harwood, in the person of Colonel John S. Harwood, of Richmond, the Missouri Department in the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition was the commercial stop. The trip through the various large buildings than at others. At the Missouri exhibit the boys were royally treated, being met by, and introduced to, the Missouri "Big Red Apple." The Land of the Big Red Apple exhibit, the T. P. A. exhibit did not forget their esteemed friend and ex-president, the Hon. John A. Lee, who has now been exalted to the position of Lieutenant-Governor of the large Commonwealth of Missouri, and where we all hope to celebrate the centennial of the Louisiana purchase. Many hours were spent in the exposition, and it was a pleasure to see the manifest interest in their enterprise as shown by the visiting travelling-men. None could, nor would leave the "Ivory City" until the effects of the magnificent display was seen in all its magnificent glory. The grounds the grounds the trolley-cars, which were in readiness, took the whole party to their respective hotels throughout the city, of which there are many. The hotels are well furnished, and in every detail are well fixed to entertain the vast throng that will visit the city in the coming months during the progress of the exposition.

WHERE THEY STOPPED. Among the hotels at which most of the commercial tourists were found were the Charleston, Argyle, the St. John's, and the Battery Inn. The last named is in the residential part of the city, on the Bay front, in the vicinity of the famous and is a stopping place for many southern tourists in the winter season. Mr. E. H. Powell, an old Richmond boy, is the proprietor. On Wednesday night the local committee secured the presence of their leading business and professional men at the banquet which came off at the Charleston Hotel in honor of the T. P. A. Mayor of Charleston, welcomed the whole-souled drummers. The address was responded to by Colonel John S. Harwood, national chairman Travellers Protective Association, in a speech which elicited much interest and commendation. The members of the South Carolina Division were particularly in requesting that they be remembered to the Virginia Division's president, Mr. C. W. Saunders, who so recently organized them.

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Of Great Importance to Bedford—So-BEDFORD CITY, Va., January 25.—(Special.)—A meeting of the Executive and Finance Committees of the Bedford Horticultural Society, held a few days since, shows a very satisfactory condition of the affairs of the organization. After the payment of all claims connected with the exhibit of the society held last autumn, it was found that a balance of $31.91 remains in the bank to the credit of the society, and about $75 worth of articles for the exhibit remain in the possession of the society for future exhibitions.

The Bedford Horticultural Society has done, and is still accomplishing, a great work in the education of the people in the more intelligent cultivation of agricultural products, and fruit-growing in particular. This has been a banner season for the warehousemen and the planters, owing to the high prices, especially in low grades, that have a direct effect on the tobacco market. The planters consequently are in fine spirits. The following are the officers chosen for the Sunday school of the Methodist church for the ensuing year: Mr. O. C. Rucker, superintendent; Mr. Percy Clark, assistant superintendent; Mr. W. N. Stone, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Clarence Royer, librarian; Willie Gills, his assistant; Mr. T. R. Goode, chorister, and Mrs. Rucker, organist.

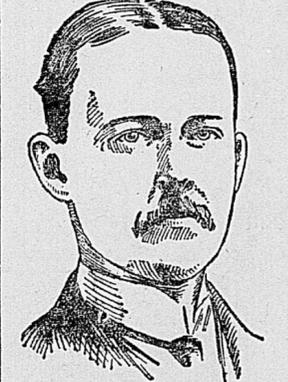

Mr. E. Lunenburger, a valued Swedish settler, near Otter Hill, awoke one day this week to find himself poorer by the amount of a barn containing a quantity of harness, corn, hay, and forage. The building and all of its contents had been consumed by fire during the night. The loss is supposed to have been attributed to an incendiary. There was an insurance of only $100, while the entire damage is estimated at $1,000.

Great consternation was caused here Sunday morning by the flight of a dog supposed to be mad through some of the streets. The dog bit Robert Calloway, a highly-respected colored man, and several other canines. The dog escaped and ran into the neighborhood of Calvary, about five miles distant, where it bit a horse belonging to Mr. M. E. Cressy and two dogs of a neighbor. The animal was pursued and finally killed by Mr. John Harris.

The most beautiful social event of the season here was a card party Wednesday afternoon given by Mrs. Henry Ormond Humphreys at 9:30 o'clock at her handsome home, on Longwood avenue. Without the scene was wintry and cheerless, the wind raging with unworldly fury; but within the beautiful home was a contrast of tropical warmth and verdure. The chill light of day was excluded, and numberless candles, in handsome candelabra with pink ornamentation, twinkled merrily upon the prattling, and the game was a social success. The handsome costumes of the guests, in the parlor the air was fragrant with the aromatic breath of white carnations arranged in vases about the room, while the hall, back parlor, and cloak room were a profusion of pure Roman hy-

Catarrh of the Stomach.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It. Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to indigestion. The usual symptoms are full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases causing pressure on the heart, all lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out, languid feeling. There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment, and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared. According to Dr. Harrison, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet composed of Diastase, Aspetic Pepsin, a little Nux. Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals: Mr. N. J. Bohrer, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the mucus discharges backward into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me three or four weeks of rest, and after that time years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but to-day I am free of it. I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh, appetite and sound rest from their use." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, and bloating after meals.
