

ANY ANARCHY BILL

IT IS PASSED BY THE HOUSE, THE VOTE BEING 175 TO 88.

MR. HARRIS ON CANAL BILL.

Senator from Kansas, an Engineer of Recognized Ability, Advocates the Nicaragua Route—Mr. Simmons Advocates Appalachian Park.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—The House today passed the bill to protect the President, Vice-President, members of the Cabinet, and foreign ministers and ambassadors and to suppress the teaching of anarchy by a vote of 175 to 88.

The thirty-eight negative votes were those of Messrs. Adamson, Bartlett, Brantley, Brandegee, Burleson, Chandler, Cooper, of Texas; Creamer, DeArmond, Dinwiddie, Finley, Fox, Glenn, Henry, of Mississippi; Hooker, Howard, Johnson, Jones, of Missouri; Charles Kernan, W. Kitchen, Kinley, Lanham, Lester, Lewis, of Georgia; Little, Lott, McCulloch, McLain, Maddox, Neville, Patterson, of Tennessee; Randall, Reid, Scarborough, Shackelford, Speight, Stephens, of Texas, and Underwood.

A motion to recommit the measure with instructions to strike out certain sections was defeated—71 to 123. The remainder of the day was devoted to the bill to reserve certain forest reserves from the Interior to the Agricultural Department, and to authorize the creation in such reserves of game and fish preserves. This is the bill framed in response to the suggestion on the subject made in a message from President Roosevelt's annual message. The minority of the Public Lands Committee offered as a substitute for the bill a measure which eliminates that portion of the bill which transfers the reserves to the Agricultural Department. No vote was reached.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

An interesting contribution to the discussion of the isthmian canal project was made in the Senate today by Mr. J. M. Simmons, a member of the Committee on Inter-Oceanic Canals, who is also an engineer of recognized ability. His discussion of the technical details of canal construction was listened to with great attention. He strongly advocated the selection of the Nicaragua route.

During the early part of the session the naval appropriation bill was considered. All of the amendments on the subject were disposed of except that relating to the construction of two additional battleships, two cruisers, and two gunboats.

APPALACHIAN PARK.

Mr. Simmons of North Carolina, addressed the Senate in support of the bill for the establishment of a national forest reserve in the Southern Appalachian mountains. He explained that ten forest reserves had been established in the United States.

NAVAL BILL.

At the conclusion of Mr. Simmons' speech, consideration was begun of the naval appropriation bill. A committee amendment was offered by Mr. Hale, and adopted, appropriating $1,000,000 for the construction of the buildings at the Charleston (S. C.) station.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

Mr. Tillman inquired how the lands reserved for the canal project were to be obtained, if they were owned by private individuals. "Is the government to be subjected to such private claims?" he asked.

FRUITS NOT IMPOSSIBLE.

Mr. Harris said that it was impossible perhaps to reach the top of the mountain, but he thought it was possible to reach the foot of it. He discussed the possibility of reaching the top of the mountain by a series of steps.

HORROR IN CHICAGO

It was found on the floor of his room, one leg burned to a crisp, and the head burned off. He was identified by means of his clothing.

VICTIMS BARRED IN.

A second attempt to reach the pitch of madness the great crowd that had gathered around the building was enacted at a fourth-story window on the north side. Across the window was a heavy iron bar, and the crowd outside, which were iron bars. Behind them were gathered a crowd of men, whose numbers were afterward found to be between twenty-five and thirty. Escaped in other directions.

HERO OF THE OCCASION.

That any of the men escaped at all is owing to the work of W. E. Davis, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a patient in the institution. He induced the men to cease their disconnected pulling at the screen, and to unite their efforts. Four men took hold of the screen, and after a few desperate pulls managed to tear down a portion of the screen, but the bars remained.

A NEGRO FAMILY POISONED.

The entire family of a wealthy negro farmer near Garner, in the county, were poisoned, presumably by arsenic. The coroner has been investigating. Haywood is dead. His stomach is here in a chemist's hands. His wife is at death's door. Yet all the members of the family are yet ill. Some of the food from the table was fed to hogs, and the latter quickly died.

LEAPING TO SAFETY.

The first man through was Dr. C. A. Anderson, of Chicago. No ladders were in front of the window, and Anderson's hope was to reach the platform of a fire escape in front of the window just west of where he was. He hesitated for an instant, then sprang for the fire escape, clutched it, and was saved.

THRILLING RESCUES.

Thrilling scenes of rescue were enacted in front of the building on Washburn street, in the alley at the rear. The firemen ran into the building, and dragged out a score of men and women, who had been slightly overcome by smoke, and

AN ELOQUENT TEXAN

JUDGE LANHAM DELIGHTED A LARGE AUDIENCE AT LEE CAMP.

HIS ADDRESS TO THE SONS.

The Speaker Departed from the Usual Line of Veteran Addresses and in Reminiscent Strain Stirred His Audience by His Word Pictures.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

Mr. THOMAS: It is capital that you put upon the tax the capital that you put upon the tax.

Mr. MEREDITH: I do not know where else you would tax the capital of a corporation.

Mr. THOMAS: Take a railroad company, for instance, and you would tax it first by the State for the privilege of its property.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

AN ELOQUENT TEXAN

JUDGE LANHAM DELIGHTED A LARGE AUDIENCE AT LEE CAMP.

HIS ADDRESS TO THE SONS.

The Speaker Departed from the Usual Line of Veteran Addresses and in Reminiscent Strain Stirred His Audience by His Word Pictures.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

Mr. THOMAS: It is capital that you put upon the tax the capital that you put upon the tax.

Mr. MEREDITH: I do not know where else you would tax the capital of a corporation.

Mr. THOMAS: Take a railroad company, for instance, and you would tax it first by the State for the privilege of its property.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

AN ELOQUENT TEXAN

JUDGE LANHAM DELIGHTED A LARGE AUDIENCE AT LEE CAMP.

HIS ADDRESS TO THE SONS.

The Speaker Departed from the Usual Line of Veteran Addresses and in Reminiscent Strain Stirred His Audience by His Word Pictures.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

Mr. THOMAS: It is capital that you put upon the tax the capital that you put upon the tax.

Mr. MEREDITH: I do not know where else you would tax the capital of a corporation.

Mr. THOMAS: Take a railroad company, for instance, and you would tax it first by the State for the privilege of its property.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?

Mr. THOMAS: Yes, she can tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. MEREDITH: I have already told you that the general rule is that you tax the capital of a corporation where its head office is located.

Mr. THOMAS: And it has its works in Hanover.

Mr. MEREDITH: Does Norfolk claim that she can tax anything except what she can find there?