

THE DAY'S SUMMARY.

THE WEATHER. WASHINGTON, October 1.—Forecast: Virginia—Fair Thursday and Friday; light north winds.

The weather in Richmond yesterday was warm and fair. The range of the Dispatch thermometer was as follows:

STATE OF THERMOMETER. 6 A. M. 63, 9 A. M. 65, 12 M. 65, 3 P. M. 61, 6 P. M. 61, 12 Night 65. Mean temperature 63.7.

MINIATURE ALMANAC. October 2, 1902. Sun rises 6:07, HIGH TIDE 5:50, Sun sets 5:33, Morning 4:50, Moon sets 11:00, Evening 5:01.

RICHMOND.

Well-defined rumor that Captain James B. Angle will resign, if indeed, he has not already done so—Registration ends in Richmond; tremendous falling off in Negro vote—Mrs. J. B. Angle, wife of the late Captain James B. Angle, died at her home in the city last night.

GENERAL.

New York stock market shows a tendency towards settling down into a normal condition—The Board of Trade, with provisions especially strong—Admiral Jonett is dead—President doing well—Father kills son in family row at Mitchellville, Tenn.—Southern railway charter in Mississippi is approved—Very few citizens looking to arbitration made by striking street car men at New Orleans—President invites conference to-morrow in Washington of coal miners and leaders of mine workers, with a view to ending the strike—General John C. McCullough elected Governor of Vermont by State Legislature—Rev. Dr. J. William Jones elected Moderator of the National Association to succeed General Underwood—Pershing captures most of the Macon Moros—Ship combine is incorporated at Trenton, N. J., as the International Mercantile Marine Company, with an authorized capital of $20,000,000—New York Democratic convention is strenuous, but ends harmoniously. Cole being the nominee for Governor, and Devery being given the grand bounce—Tennessee, Georgia, and South Carolina hold company—Chartered in Atlanta—Georgia election passes off quietly, no organized opposition being made to Democratic ticket—Candler defeats Ross for place on Supreme Court bench—Dan Dougherty is backeted out by 'Omms Feltz' and the men then hug and kiss—Body of young Danish woman found in New York; coroner believes she was strangled to death—Trustees of Peabody Educational Fund hold their first meeting in New York—Peabody Fund trustees meet. Dr. Curry is re-elected general agent, and is authorized to appoint an assistant—British American Tobacco company, with a capital of $20,000,000, is registered at Somerset House, London—Military manoeuvres at Fort Riley fine as a spectacle, and valuable as an object lesson to National Guard—'Sharky' is nominated for Mayor of Atlanta—Son of former Senator Thurston attempts suicide in St. Louis—Dr. L. T. Gavett of Cumberland is nominated for Governor by the Democrats of Rhode Island—Stage-coach hold up in New York State turns out to have been a joke.

WILL DIVIDE THE WORLD.

Ryan Says That's the Way Tobacco Companies Will Do.

NEW YORK, October 1.—(Special.)—Thomas F. Ryan, director of the American Tobacco Trust, who has just returned from England, made clear to-day that the deal he was instrumental in concluding between British and American tobacco interests was a compromise measure.

"There has been a misunderstanding about the matter," said Mr. Ryan. "It is true that the agreement has been made with the English dealers. The matter stands just this way now: The Imperial Tobacco Company and the American Tobacco Company have divided the world's trade territory. The Imperial Tobacco will have no competition from us in the tobacco trade of the United Kingdom. Our company will have no opposition from them in the United States and Cuba.

"The rest of the world territory will be controlled by the two companies, but working on the pooling agreement. This was the plan decided upon when I sailed and I presume the details will be worked out along that line."

PRESIDENT'S SISTER TO VOTE.

Mrs. Cowles Made an Elector in Connecticut.

HARTFORD, CONN., October 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Cowles, wife of the Commandant of the United States Cavalry and sister of President Roosevelt, was to-day admitted as an elector by the Board of Selectmen of Farmington. Mrs. Cowles can now vote on school matters in Farmington, where she lives, when not in Washington.

PARDON FOR FORGERY.

Governor Montague has removed the penal disabilities of Robert Keith, who was sentenced in 1884 in the County Court of Russell to two years in the penitentiary for forgery. He also removed the disabilities of Charles E. Rice, sentenced in Danville to a fine for petty larceny.

CAPT ANGLE TO RESIGN.

EXPECTED THAT HE WILL RETIRE FROM POLICE FORCE THIS AFTERNOON.

WELL-AUTHENTICATED RUMOR.

The Captain, However, Refuses to Deny or Confirm It.

SHINBERGER VERSUS JETER.

Believed That One of These Veteran Officers Will Be Chosen to Succeed Suspended Captain—Members of the Force Engaged in Campaigning—Grand Jury Adjourns Until Friday Morning.

There was a well defined rumor last night that Captain James B. Angle, now under suspension, had written his resignation as a member of the police force, or would do so to-day in advance of the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners this afternoon.

Diligent inquiry on the part of the Dispatch, traced this rumor to a source, which in the past, has been found to be almost unerringly accurate. This source, it may be well to state, is outside the police department.

To verify this rumor, the city editor of the Dispatch addressed a personal note to Captain Angle at his home, on west Clay street, last night. In reply to the paper's request for confirmation or denial of the report, Captain Angle replied: "To the Dispatch: 'I have nothing to say for publication.'"

CONFERRED WITH HIS FAMILY.

The refusal of Captain Angle to deny the rumor is taken to indicate its correctness. Before replying to the Dispatch, Captain Angle conferred for some time with members of his family. This conference, however, was in the privacy of the home circle.

Assuming the rumor to be true—and the probabilities are all that way—the next question that arises is, will the board accept the resignation? It is believed the commissioners would, for the reason, among others, that it would relieve them of the responsibility of formulating and substantiating specifications in support of the charge.

FILL THE VACANCY.

In the event that the resignation is accepted it is believed that the vacancy will be filled by the election of either Sergeant J. P. Jeter, who is at present acting captain of the First District, or Sergeant J. F. Shinberger, who is on special duty in the office of Major Howard, at the City Hall. The chances are believed to be in favor of Sergeant Shinberger.

Both of these officers are considered among the best on the force. Sergeant Jeter received his appointment to the force soon after the war and on July 1, 1881, he was made sergeant. During the war between the States he served with honor in the Ninth Virginia regiment. He was born in Amelia county on May 18, 1837.

Sergeant Shinberger was elected to the police force on March, 1880, and in 1885 he was made sergeant, after acting sergeant for about twelve years. He, too was a Confederate soldier, serving in several commands with credit to himself and the cause. He has been on detailed duty since March, 1894. There is probably not a finer man on the force.

OTHER CHANGES EXPECTED.

That there is a belief among the officers and members of the police force, that heads will be chopped off, is demonstrated by the fact that there is a general campaign on foot for promotion. The sergeants are looking after any vacancies that may be created above them, and the privates for any promotion to the rank of sergeant or acting sergeant. A number of officers have been approached with requests to look out for members who are seeking promotion. In many cases citizens are canvassing for their friends on the force.

It cannot be forecast what will be attempted this afternoon at the meeting of the board, for the reason that the members have kept their mouths closed as never before, and are refusing absolutely to talk. Until the case against Captain Angle is disposed of it is not expected that anything else will be attempted, even if other things are in contemplation. The reputed caucuses of a majority of the members of the board, and their refusal to say anything about the troubles in the police department, has caused a belief that the grand "shake-up" is coming.

WERE SECRETLY MARRIED.

Danville Surprised to Hear of the Wedding.

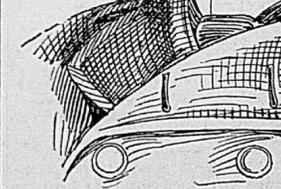

DANVILLE, VA., October 1.—(Special.) The announcement was made here to-day of the marriage of Mr. T. B. Anderson and Miss Lucy Glover, which took place at Pelham, N. C., last December. Miss Glover moved here from Roanoke several years ago with her uncle, and when her uncle moved back to the Magic City a few months ago the young lady elected to remain here, though no intimation was given that she was a bride. The relatives and friends of the couple had been kept in the dark as to the marriage and were as much surprised as the general public when the event was made known.

AMICABLY ADJUSTED.

In the United States District Court yesterday the involuntary bankruptcy proceedings of Pfeifer & Co. et al. vs. Josephine Hirschberg, was dismissed, the matters in controversy having been amicably adjusted.

CAPTAIN JAMES B. ANGLE.

Taken from a Recent Photograph of the Police Officer, Whose Resignation, It is Understood, Will Be Presented at This Afternoon's Meeting of Board of Police Commissioners.

BUT ONE NEGRO IN TEN TO END THE STRIKE.

NINE OUT OF THAT NUMBER WILL NOT VOTE IN THE FUTURE.

REGISTRATION ENDS HERE.

Nine Thousand Out of Twelve Thousand Whites Qualified.

TOTAL REGISTRATION HALVED.

New Registration, 9,843; Old Registration, 18,765—Decrease in White Voters, 3,255; Decrease in Number of Negro Voters, 5,607—Ward Totals Compared—Interesting Distinctions Made by Computation.

MR. JOPLIN PROMOTED.

Made Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank.

J. C. Joplin, who has been paying-teller for the First National Bank for a number of years, was yesterday promoted to assistant cashier. Mr. Joplin does not succeed any one, as the position was created for him.

MR. McCULLOUGH GOVERNOR.

Elected Chief Executive of Vermont by State Legislature.

MONTEPLIER, VT., October 1.—Gen. John C. McCullough, of Bennington, has been elected Governor of Vermont, by the State Legislature. He was the Republican candidate who failed of election at the polls because he did not carry a majority of the votes.

ONLY TEN STORES NOW.

Proposed Druggists' Combination Not An Assured Fact.

The proposed merger of the retail druggists, it is said, will include probably not more than ten stores. Mr. T. A. Miller would say nothing last night, but the impression was broadcast that the druggists would sell their stock outright, and not combine simply to keep up prices and do away with competition. The combination, according to the plan, will take over the stock, the inventory of which is now progressing, and a stock company will be formed. Each druggist entering the merger will have the privilege of subscribing to this stock, in which event the druggist will become manager of one of the branches. After a two years' trial the salary thereafter will be according to the volume of business done by the individual branches.

The proposed combination may seriously affect the trade in the wholesale district, as it is intimated that the company, if formed, will purchase its supplies direct from the large manufacturers, thus cutting out the middle men. For this reason some opposition and a re-warding influence, possibly develop among the wholesale druggists.

While a large number of the retail men are reported to have been approached with the view of combining, many are averse to the idea, and hold distinctly aloof, preferring to retain their individuality.

It is believed in drug circles that this combination is by no means an assured fact, that options only have been obtained, and very little information will be brought to light until the plans of the merger take more definite shape. No one mentioned in the deal can be found to make any statement, which silence is indicative that the whole merger is yet in an embryonic form.

AGAINST LIQUOR MEN.

Rules Issued Against Sunday Law-Breakers—To Be Tried This Month.

Judge Witt, of the Hustings Court has caused rules to be issued against all of the liquor dealers of the city who have recently been convicted in the Police Court of selling liquor on Sunday, to show cause, if any they can, why their licenses should not be revoked and annulled for the disregard of the law. The rules have been made returnable on the first day of the October term and will likely be heard and determined at that time.

COTTON MANUFACTURERS.

"World's Supply and Consumption" of the Staple—Other Papers.

NEW YORK, October 1.—To-day's session of the convention of the New England Cotton Manufacturers' Association was devoted to the reading of papers on technical subjects. A paper of general interest was that on "The World's Supply and Consumption of Cotton," by S. D. N. North, superintendent, Department of Manufactures, Census Department, Boston. Among other things, Mr. North said:

"If the South shall continue its present proportion of supply, it will be growing fifteen million bales of cotton in 1925, the greater part of which will come from the fresher lands west of the Mississippi river, where cotton can be grown from 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound cheaper than in the States of the Atlantic belt. The conclusion is warranted, therefore, that the future of the cotton trade is securely within the hands of the American producers, if they choose to have it so. Equally clear is it that in order to retain the control of a crop which has been worth four billion dollars to the South since 1878, there must continue to be a gradual increase, and not a curtailment, of the southern acreage."

HOW DID HE GET HER?

Fourteen-Year-Old Girl in Short Dresses Married in Danville.

DANVILLE, VA., October 1.—(Special.) After driving from Oxford, N. C., where he secured his bride from school during recess, Mr. C. P. Winstead and Miss Clara Winstead, cousins, were married in the parlors of Lord Burton to-night, by Rev. W. Atwill. The bride is only 14 years of age, and was attired in a short dress. She is both pretty and intelligent.

MISS BESSIE AYLETT.

Daughter of Colonel Wm. Aylett, of King William, Who Has Been Appointed Sponsor for the Third District, to Attend the Grand Camp, Confederate Veterans at Writheville.

PRESIDENT ASKS LEADERS OF TWO SIDES TO TALK WITH HIM.

CONFERENCE TO-MORROW.

Mr. Roosevelt Will Appeal for Peace in Public Interest.

HORRORS OF FUEL FAMINE.

Chief Executive Will Set Forth These, and Will Urge His Hearers to Open the Mines and Supply the Demand for Coal—Possible Suggestion of Temporary Arrangement to Tide Over Cold Weather.

WASHINGTON, October 1.—President Roosevelt will make an effort to bring the anthracite coal mine owners and their striking employees together in the interest of the public good.

This conclusion was reached after a series of conferences with his cabinet advisers, covering yesterday and to-day. The decision was arrived at when the lawyers in the cabinet informed the President that there was no way under the Constitution and form of government of the United States for Federal intervention to end the strike. This phase of the situation was canvassed, and the determination to have the mine operators and President Mitchell meet the President, was determined on when it was found that no other method was open.

At the conclusion of the conference to-day, which was attended by Secretaries Root, Shaw, and Moody, Attorney-General Knox, and Postmaster-General Payne, at the temporary White House, the following telegrams were made public: "White House, Washington, October 1, 1902: "George F. Baer, president Reading railway system, Philadelphia.

"W. H. Truesdale, president Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, 26 Exchange Place, New York.

"E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board, Erie Railway Company, 21 Cortlandt street, New York.

"Thomas P. Fowler, president New York Ontario and Western railway, 56 Beaver street, New York.

"R. M. Oliphant, president Delaware and Hudson railway, New York.

"John Markle, 57 west Thirty-fourth street, New York.

"I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M., here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to Mr. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." "John Mitchell, president of United Mine Workers of America, Wilkesbarre, Pa.: "I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M. here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to the presidents of the anthracite coal companies. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." Appeal from President.

At the meeting Friday, the line of approach toward a settlement of the strike will be an appeal by President Roosevelt to both sides to come together as men, and not to allow false pride or a feeling of obstinacy to stand in the way of a termination of the great strike, which is fraught with such threat of misery to thousands of people. It is stated by one of the President's advisers that beyond this the President cannot go. He has no power of compulsion to bring into play against either side, and he must rely upon his persuasive ability and his appeals to their sense of humanity, if anything tangible is to be achieved.

The President intends to lay before his hearers the situation as it appears to him, with all the prospective horrors that will follow a fuel famine, and will urge them, in the interest of humanity, to open the mines and supply the demand for coal. The President has taken this action because he feels it to be his duty to do so as the Executive head of a nation threatened with great peril. The President has, in a sense, taken upon himself the burdens of an arbitrator in this great dispute between capital and labor, and though the arbitration is not compulsory, and is not even known under the name of arbitration in any of the invitations

TO END THE STRIKE.

WASHINGTON, October 1.—President Roosevelt will make an effort to bring the anthracite coal mine owners and their striking employees together in the interest of the public good.

This conclusion was reached after a series of conferences with his cabinet advisers, covering yesterday and to-day. The decision was arrived at when the lawyers in the cabinet informed the President that there was no way under the Constitution and form of government of the United States for Federal intervention to end the strike. This phase of the situation was canvassed, and the determination to have the mine operators and President Mitchell meet the President, was determined on when it was found that no other method was open.

At the conclusion of the conference to-day, which was attended by Secretaries Root, Shaw, and Moody, Attorney-General Knox, and Postmaster-General Payne, at the temporary White House, the following telegrams were made public: "White House, Washington, October 1, 1902: "George F. Baer, president Reading railway system, Philadelphia.

"W. H. Truesdale, president Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, 26 Exchange Place, New York.

"E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board, Erie Railway Company, 21 Cortlandt street, New York.

"Thomas P. Fowler, president New York Ontario and Western railway, 56 Beaver street, New York.

"R. M. Oliphant, president Delaware and Hudson railway, New York.

"John Markle, 57 west Thirty-fourth street, New York.

"I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M., here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to Mr. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." Appeal from President.

At the meeting Friday, the line of approach toward a settlement of the strike will be an appeal by President Roosevelt to both sides to come together as men, and not to allow false pride or a feeling of obstinacy to stand in the way of a termination of the great strike, which is fraught with such threat of misery to thousands of people. It is stated by one of the President's advisers that beyond this the President cannot go. He has no power of compulsion to bring into play against either side, and he must rely upon his persuasive ability and his appeals to their sense of humanity, if anything tangible is to be achieved.

The President intends to lay before his hearers the situation as it appears to him, with all the prospective horrors that will follow a fuel famine, and will urge them, in the interest of humanity, to open the mines and supply the demand for coal. The President has taken this action because he feels it to be his duty to do so as the Executive head of a nation threatened with great peril. The President has, in a sense, taken upon himself the burdens of an arbitrator in this great dispute between capital and labor, and though the arbitration is not compulsory, and is not even known under the name of arbitration in any of the invitations

PRESIDENT ASKS LEADERS OF TWO SIDES TO TALK WITH HIM.

CONFERENCE TO-MORROW.

Mr. Roosevelt Will Appeal for Peace in Public Interest.

HORRORS OF FUEL FAMINE.

Chief Executive Will Set Forth These, and Will Urge His Hearers to Open the Mines and Supply the Demand for Coal—Possible Suggestion of Temporary Arrangement to Tide Over Cold Weather.

WASHINGTON, October 1.—President Roosevelt will make an effort to bring the anthracite coal mine owners and their striking employees together in the interest of the public good.

This conclusion was reached after a series of conferences with his cabinet advisers, covering yesterday and to-day. The decision was arrived at when the lawyers in the cabinet informed the President that there was no way under the Constitution and form of government of the United States for Federal intervention to end the strike. This phase of the situation was canvassed, and the determination to have the mine operators and President Mitchell meet the President, was determined on when it was found that no other method was open.

At the conclusion of the conference to-day, which was attended by Secretaries Root, Shaw, and Moody, Attorney-General Knox, and Postmaster-General Payne, at the temporary White House, the following telegrams were made public: "White House, Washington, October 1, 1902: "George F. Baer, president Reading railway system, Philadelphia.

"W. H. Truesdale, president Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, 26 Exchange Place, New York.

"E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board, Erie Railway Company, 21 Cortlandt street, New York.

"Thomas P. Fowler, president New York Ontario and Western railway, 56 Beaver street, New York.

"R. M. Oliphant, president Delaware and Hudson railway, New York.

"John Markle, 57 west Thirty-fourth street, New York.

"I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M., here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to Mr. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." "John Mitchell, president of United Mine Workers of America, Wilkesbarre, Pa.: "I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M. here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to the presidents of the anthracite coal companies. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." Appeal from President.

At the meeting Friday, the line of approach toward a settlement of the strike will be an appeal by President Roosevelt to both sides to come together as men, and not to allow false pride or a feeling of obstinacy to stand in the way of a termination of the great strike, which is fraught with such threat of misery to thousands of people. It is stated by one of the President's advisers that beyond this the President cannot go. He has no power of compulsion to bring into play against either side, and he must rely upon his persuasive ability and his appeals to their sense of humanity, if anything tangible is to be achieved.

The President intends to lay before his hearers the situation as it appears to him, with all the prospective horrors that will follow a fuel famine, and will urge them, in the interest of humanity, to open the mines and supply the demand for coal. The President has taken this action because he feels it to be his duty to do so as the Executive head of a nation threatened with great peril. The President has, in a sense, taken upon himself the burdens of an arbitrator in this great dispute between capital and labor, and though the arbitration is not compulsory, and is not even known under the name of arbitration in any of the invitations

TO END THE STRIKE.

WASHINGTON, October 1.—President Roosevelt will make an effort to bring the anthracite coal mine owners and their striking employees together in the interest of the public good.

This conclusion was reached after a series of conferences with his cabinet advisers, covering yesterday and to-day. The decision was arrived at when the lawyers in the cabinet informed the President that there was no way under the Constitution and form of government of the United States for Federal intervention to end the strike. This phase of the situation was canvassed, and the determination to have the mine operators and President Mitchell meet the President, was determined on when it was found that no other method was open.

At the conclusion of the conference to-day, which was attended by Secretaries Root, Shaw, and Moody, Attorney-General Knox, and Postmaster-General Payne, at the temporary White House, the following telegrams were made public: "White House, Washington, October 1, 1902: "George F. Baer, president Reading railway system, Philadelphia.

"W. H. Truesdale, president Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, 26 Exchange Place, New York.

"E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board, Erie Railway Company, 21 Cortlandt street, New York.

"Thomas P. Fowler, president New York Ontario and Western railway, 56 Beaver street, New York.

"R. M. Oliphant, president Delaware and Hudson railway, New York.

"John Markle, 57 west Thirty-fourth street, New York.

"I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3rd, at 11 o'clock A. M., here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to Mr. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. (Signed.)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." Appeal from President.

At the meeting Friday, the line of approach toward a settlement of the strike will be an appeal by President Roosevelt to both sides to come together as men, and not to allow false pride or a feeling of obstinacy to stand in the way of a termination of the great strike, which is fraught with such threat of misery to thousands of people. It is stated by one of the President's advisers that beyond this the President cannot go. He has no power of compulsion to bring into play against either side, and he must rely upon his persuasive ability and his appeals to their sense of humanity, if anything tangible is to be achieved.

The President intends to lay before his hearers the situation as it appears to him, with all the prospective horrors that will follow a fuel famine, and will urge them, in the interest of humanity, to open the mines and supply the demand for coal. The President has taken this action because he feels it to be his duty to do so as the Executive head of a nation threatened with great peril. The President has, in a sense, taken upon himself the burdens of an arbitrator in this great dispute between capital and labor, and though the arbitration is not compulsory, and is not even known under the name of arbitration in any of the invitations

A STRENUOUS END.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION, HOWEVER, CLOSES IN HARMONY.

DEVERY TURNED DOWN.

He and His Delegation Quit Convention in High Dudgeon.

COLER AT HEAD OF TICKET.

Platform Advocates National Ownership and Operation of the Anthracite Coal Mines, by the Exercise of the Right of Eminent Domain.

With Just Compensation to Owners—Denunciation of Monopolies.

SARATOGA, N. Y., October 1.—A convention so strenuous in its final hour as to bring almost personal conflict, and yet terminating in such perfect harmony as to allow the completion of the State ticket with less than a hundred delegates out of four hundred and fifty in the hall, was the result of to-day's closing of the State Democratic convention.

It began early in the morning, with a prepared slate of candidates. The slate was not broken in any particular, but the right of objection to it was given to all the delegates, except in the case of one New York delegate, where it was thought to be an infringement of the rule, under which the convention was acting. The ticket nominated follows: For Governor—Bird S. Coler, of Brooklyn.

Lieutenant-Governor—Charles N. Butler, of Oswego.

Secretary of State—Frank Mott, of Chautauque.

Comptroller—Charles M. Preston, of Ulster.

Attorney-General—John Cunneen, of Erie.

State Engineer and Surveyor—Richard W. Sherman, of Oneida.

State Treasurer—George R. Finch, of Warren.

Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals—John C. Gray, of New York.

Devery Incident.

Naturally a great deal of the interest in the convention centered in the attitude it would take towards the seating of William S. Devery, former head of the Police Department of New York, who held a regular certificate of election from the Ninth New York District. It was not an unexpected event that the convention decided to unseat him, and it was not also unexpected that he and his following were vociferous in their objections. Mr. Devery, however, made up his mind that the convention would have none of him, that he did not attend the meeting of the Committee on Credentials, but spent the early hours of the morning in the rear of the convention, announcing his attitude. When the convention decided to accept the report of the Committee on Credentials by a vote of 42 to 12, then Mr. Devery walked out of the hall, after being allowed to declare himself a good Democrat, and proceeded to hold a mass-meeting on the steps of the United States Hotel. After that Mr. Devery started for home, and uttered all sorts of disparaging remarks to the ticket, but