

BOOKER WASHINGTON HIS POSITION OUTLINED TO EDITOR OF BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD. EDUCATOR, NOT POLITICIAN.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., November 27.—The following letter has been received by the Age-Herald, from Booker T. Washington: "The Editor of the Age-Herald: I am glad that several newspapers have been connected with my name with political matters in such a manner as to show that my position is not understood. I am glad, therefore, to make the following statement: My life-work is the promotion of the education of my race. It is my opinion that it is of supreme importance that this period of their development should concentrate their thought and energy on the securing of the cultivation of habits of thrift, skill, intelligence, high moral character and the gaining of the respect and confidence of their neighbors, white and black, both in the South and North. I have had with the President, and with other public officials, have no political position, not as a politician, but as an educator. It should be made plain that there are about one million of negroes in the United States, and that it is right that those charged with making and executing the laws of the land should at times seek information from members of the negro race who have a better knowledge of their needs among those who live are concerned.

DO NOT PROMOTE CANDIDACIES. Under no circumstances could I seek to promote political candidates, or volunteer information regarding men or measures to be put in the past, but I have been requested to place upon education and industry among my people, as the bases for friendly relations between the races. There may be occasions in the future, as there have been in the past, when I may be asked to give information about men and measures which would tend to promote such friendly relations between the races. Such information I will give very properly, but I will not make a mistake if they seek to succeed in the life by mere political activity or the hope of holding political office. Now and then, however, public questions are asked of me, which are so fundamental and far-reaching that they transcend the domain of politics. When such questions present themselves, in justice to my race, I make my position known, and stand for what I see to be the right. I cannot elevate and make useful a race of people until there is held out to them the hope of reward for right living. I have no objection to the fact that the Southern States has put a premium on intelligence, ownership of property, thrift and character.

As an educator, and not as a politician, I strive to encourage the wise and enduring progress of my people; for if all inspiration and hope of reward is to be denied them, they will be deprived of one of the greatest incentives to intelligence, industry and righteousness. On the other hand, if they are encouraged in sensible and conservative directions they will grow year by year into contentedness and good citizenship.

The guests were seated at four tables in two rooms, and the most bewitchingly beautiful waitresses ever seen at a "stag" party did their parts admirably. They were Misses Stobbs, Craddock, and Myers. Covered with a white cloth, the menu was as follows: Stewed oysters, roast turkey, celery, plum jelly, saffron, Saratoga chips, barbecued pig, slaw, partridge, Waldorf salad, olives, pickles, salted peanuts, and coffee. The menu cards were unique in design. A bronze turkey, spreading its wings, was painted on each card by the bright, winsome, and accomplished daughter of the host and hostess. As for ample refreshment had been provided, and the stags were, at intervals, delightfully entertained by the comic songs and excellent banjo strains rendered by Mr. James Spencer, of Lexington. Hon. L. C. Williams, of South Boston, gave a fine selection, which was much appreciated and heartily applauded. Brief complimentary speeches were made by Hon. Joseph Stebbins and Colonel Henry Eastley, of South Boston, both of whom have been the life-long friends of the host. The general trend was "Should and acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind." The guests were from widely different sections—Richboro, N. C.; Langley and Burkeville, Va.; South Boston, Va.; Houston, Black Walnut, Tuberville, and Myro. At 11:30 o'clock the "stags" began to wend their way homeward, each impressing with a glad heart the host and hostess were without equals.

LITTLE BOY WAS SHOT GEORGE RATCLIFFE PROBABLY WOUNDED IN LYNCHBURG. PLAYMATE'S FOOLISH PRANK. Willie Maloney, a Ten-Year-Old Lad, is Responsible for the Accident—Pointed a Rifle at His Companion in Play—Injuries Very Serious.

LYNCHBURG, VA., November 7.—(Special.)—This morning shortly before noon one of those sad and unfortunate accidents, which too frequently occur when children handle firearms, happened at the corner of Elm avenue and Pearl street, and as a result George, the little son of Mr. Henry Ratcliffe, is lying at St. Andrew's Home, probably fatally wounded. A number of little boys were playing at the time named in front of Mr. Ratcliffe's home, 1423 Elm avenue, and among the number were his two little sons, George, about 10 years old, and Richard, several years younger. Willie Maloney, another 10-year-old boy, a son of Mr. Frank C. Maloney, 1500 Main street, was playing with the others, and had with him a small rifle, 22 calibre, which, it is said, he borrowed from his friend, Eugene Cassidy.

DISREGARDED A WARNING. In fun, and not knowing what he was doing, he pointed it at little Richard Ratcliffe, when George, the older brother, at once interposed and said: "Take care; don't shoot him." At this Willie, still in play, pointed the weapon at George, and the rifle was discharged, the ball taking effect in the left side of the abdomen. As soon as he realized that he was wounded George walked into his home and told his mother that Willie Maloney had shot him. Mrs. Terrill and Life were at once summoned and had the boy conveyed to the St. Andrew's Home, where an operation was performed.

HIS FATHER STIMMONED. Mr. Henry Ratcliffe, the boy's father, is foreman at the Lewis & Johns fertilizer factory, and was spending the day with Mr. W. D. Johns, hunting near the home of Mr. Johns' father, in Appomattox. A messenger was at once sent to him, acquainting him with the accident. Mrs. Ratcliffe accompanied her son to St. Andrew's Home. William Maloney, one of the playmates of the Ratcliffe boys, is deeply distressed at the result of his thoughtless prank, and Mrs. Maloney, his mother, is said also to share in his distress. At a late hour last night Willie Maloney was very unfavorable, with small chances for his recovery.

NEGRO BISHOP TALKS FOOT BALL—BIJOU PARTY. A Remarkable Demonstration at the Playhouse Last Night. With a brave fainting of colors, with the music of familiar college songs ringing in their ears, with a lavish decoration in orange and blue and pale blue and white, with the shaggy chrysanthemum sticking up its head at every point, and with a special drop curtain painted for the night, last night's scene at the Bijou, on the occasion of the alumni party for the college boys, was one to remember in Richmond theatrics. For this occasion Manager Wells had provided a series of surprises, which started at the drop curtain and ended with a scholastic contest. Just the second act, which the college boys received with a "rah, rah, rah," which made the audience gasp, which was never before has there been such a gathering of society at the Bijou as was the case last night. The scene was a full evening's worth of hundreds of gentlemen in evening dress, the flashing of colors, the dizzying shriek of the festive college men as they danced, and the cheering of the boys in front of the foot-ball field, all made a glittering and pleasing picture. The actors in the comedy, "The Major and the Judge," had their work cut out for them, and gave a string of performance, which was interrupted by a shriek of pleasure every time any reference was made to the football game, or to either college. Never in theatrical history has a drop curtain been cheered as was the specially painted drop curtain of the Bijou.

Advertisement for Asthma. ASTHMA. Climates wear out. Smokes and sprays do not cure it. Instead of removing causes, we take Asthma so thoroughly out of the system that it never returns. Asthma, which can produce an attack, sufferers are soon able to work, eat, sleep and stand exposed without the slightest relief. Being right in principle our treatment does what relief cannot do. Be sure to stay at home, work, long-standing and un-named "incurable" cases. If you are skeptical, it is because you are ignorant. One health restored, and no return of Asthma, write for our Book 73 Free. P. HAROLD HAYES, BUFFALO, N. Y.
