

It was undoubtedly intended by the framers of the Constitution, and especially that part which referred to the Corporation Commission, to put all the powers for granting or refusing charters in the hands of one central body, which would be subject to the requirements of the law in such cases had been complied with. It was further intended to have all such charters and information relative thereto filed in one place, and not to have the information scattered in several parts of the Railroad Commissioner's office, part in the Auditor's office, and part in the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office.

OLD SYSTEM UNCHANGED. Instead of this the effect was to have all information in regard to the names, stockholders, officers, attorneys, etc., of any and all corporations kept on record in one central office, from which proper information could be had on all matters which would come therefrom. The House bill 102 practically continues the old system. In addition to this, it is urged that the roundabout method of incorporation required by House bill 102 would be greatly to the benefit of existing charters by reason of the fees which would be required from each office through which the application and certificate passed. On the other hand, it was learned by a Times-Dispatch reporter that one corporation charter issued direct from the Corporation Commission as the railroad, telegraph and other public corporation charters are, was due to a desire not to infringe on the rights of the public, and to be able to operate in the districts, and to have a contrary course adopted all of the corporation practice would immediately be entered in Richmond. It is true, however, that the suits against the public corporations, as at present, be brought in the county or corporation where such action arises, and that the advantage to the State of Virginia in having all of its corporations recorded and tabulated in one central office is admitted to be a matter of which will be of benefit to the public and a simple method of getting charters, will be more than outweigh any prospective loss to local lawyers.

SOME LOCAL POINTS. In some other points discussing chapter 2, which refers to railroad charters, the attention of the public has already been drawn to the new celebrated subsection (e) 22 of chapter 2, on mergers. As far as can be learned it seems that the sentiment against the passage of subsection (e) 22 of chapter 2, on mergers, is not so strong as it is generally supposed to be. It is also pointed out that subsection (f) of section 2, gives the railroad the right to construct, maintain and operate "all telegraph lines in connection with and as a part of their business." Some members are asking why that phraseology should be used, for it gives the railroad the right to operate telegraph lines or telephone lines anywhere they choose throughout the State. It has been suggested that it would be better to say "shall have power to operate all necessary telegraph and telephone lines in connection with and as a part of their business." Along the right of the railroad, for example, a gentleman in discussing House bill 102, has pointed out that there is no mutual right of appeal to the Supreme Court when the Corporation Commission finds that a railroad is a matter of public utility. He pointed out, for example, that one road was desirous of keeping another road out, and this gentleman, "and to this end wished to build along a certain line that would preclude the other road from entering the section of the country. If the Corporation Commission were to find that the road were not a subject of public utility, the railroad could appeal to the Supreme Court, and the Corporation Commission might be reversed, but if the commission found that there was a public utility those parties who are interested in having some other route adopted than that asked for would have the right to make their side heard in the higher courts, which obviously destroys all mutuality in the right of appeal."

VERBAL INFELICITIES. Again it is pointed out that there are some verbal infelicities, as, for example, in section 9, chapter 1, where it is provided that "any person who shall be appointed when sanctioned by a vote of two-thirds of the amount of all the stockholders who shall be present or represented and voting." It is suggested that this does not necessarily require more than three votes to be present or represented and voting. It is further asked why should not an educational or charitable institution be allowed to hold real estate, the yearly income of which is more than $20,000. Surely, for example, there can be no objection to allowing a charitable institution to invest its holdings in real estate or to allow Blacksburg or the University of Virginia to keep its investments in real estate if it so desires. There is little doubt that the proposed piece of legislation will receive careful scrutiny in the Senate and will be made the subject of much debate, as it involves the future of the corporate growth in this State.

GOVERNOR WAS MOBBED

Great Strike Riot in Town in Ural Mountains.

MUCH BLOOD WAS SHED

Mayor of Town Was Wounded and Seventy-eight of Rioters Were Killed or Wounded by Volley Firing of the Gandemes.

(By Associated Press.) ST. PETERSBURG, March 28.—A great strike riot, accompanied by much bloodshed, has occurred at the town of Slatensk, in the government of Cofo, among the Ural Mountains. Twenty-eight persons were killed and fifty others were wounded.

The strike started in the State Iron Works, where 500 men walked out, demanding the release of three of their comrades who had been arrested. The Governor of the province, who went to inquire into the affair, was mobbed as he was entering the house, and smashed in the doors and windows. The Mayor, with a force of gendarmes and a detachment of troops, then arrived on the scene and ordered the rioters to disperse. These latter, however, stood their ground, and the Mayor was wounded by a revolver shot. The gendarmes and troops, while intently replied with ring volleys at the mob and killed or wounded seventy-eight men.

FARMER DROVE ON HIGH TRESTLE AND UNHITCHED (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) DERBY, CONN., March 28.—The sight of a man asleep in a wagon on a trestle ninety feet high, with a horse detached from the vehicle and hitched to a trolley, met the astonished gaze of the crew and passengers of the first electric car from Derby to Bridgeport yesterday. The car was stopped within two feet of the wagon. The man, Edward Stevens, an East Village farmer, was thoroughly frightened when he was awakened and saw his dangerous position. Stevens, while intoxicated, had driven out to the middle of the trestle, which is one hundred feet long, and had unhitched and tied the horse, which stood on a narrow plank overlooking the ravine. The horse had skinned its legs, which had gone through the ties, but was otherwise uninjured. It took the crew an hour to get the man, horse and wagon to solid ground.

DONATIONS ASKED FOR ALMSHOUSE An Appeal Is Made for Money. Fruits or Flowers to Cheer Inmates.

By request The Times-Dispatch publishes the following appeal for a worthy object: A weekly "Fruit and Flower Mission" is about to be started in the interest of our City Almshouse, and our generous-hearted citizens of Richmond and its suburbs are appealed to for donations of money, fruit or flowers, to help carry on this work. While our hospitals and "homes" have daily visitors and gifts from the many to cheer and brighten the sufferers within their walls, this institution, which should appeal to all hearts, (standing as it does a monument for hopelessness and helplessness, is almost destitute of kindly public interest.

Within its walls are the aged and infirm, the suffering and desolate of God's children. To bring a little of His blessed sunshine into their lives is the object of this mission. As an appeal is never made in vain, (where the cause is a worthy one) to our Richmond public, may this one bring forth fruit a thousandfold. All contributions of money are asked to be sent in sealed envelopes with donor's name, and addressed for "Fruit and Flower Mission," care Times-Dispatch, or News Reading office, and any desiring to donate fruit or flowers weekly, semi-monthly, or monthly, will kindly send notification to same offices, addressed as for money contributions. Such gifts will be called for when needed at any place the giver may designate, and they will be notified where to send them. They will be publicly acknowledged through these columns. Please remember that the "small gifts make the mighty whole," and do not refrain from helping this most worthy cause, when it is only by giving the "widow's mite" that we can help ourselves we spend; Whatever, Lord, to thee we lend, Who givest all."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 28.—George P. Baer, president of the Reading Company, contemplates making an extended European trip this summer. Last year he could not get away because of the coal strike.

Mr. Baer will leave soon after the marriage of his daughter, on or about July 1st, taking with him Mrs. Baer and his two unmarried daughters. The home at Reading will be opened shortly.

W. A. Garrett, general superintendent of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, accompanied by his wife, will sail next Wednesday for Jamaica, Mr. Garrett has not been well for some weeks, and determined to take his vacation now rather than wait until summer.

Theodore Voorhees, first vice-president of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, accompanied by his wife, will return to his office on Tuesday from Hot Springs, Va., where he has been for some time.

SESSION WAS A QUIET ONE Justice John Didn't Collect Enough to Run the Government Yesterday.

Justice John's seance yesterday morning was uninteresting and unproductive of results so far as the city's finances are concerned. Most of those who were fined preferred to go to jail rather than pay up.

Walter Joyce, a small white boy, was assessed $1 for beating another small white boy, named Henry Salomonsky. Brother Hill, colored, beat Lizzie Joyce $30 worth.

Elvira Fleming and Emma Watkins were fined $25 each for being disorderly on the street, and Howard Hester was charged the same amount for a similar offense.

John Carter cursed and abused Clarence Cruty, and was fined $25 for doing so. W. F. W. Holmes was sent down for thirty days for trespassing and getting drunk.

There were several other minor cases of plain dress, which were dismissed because of their first offense.

THE FAUQUIER CLUB New Social Organization in Warrenton a Great Success.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WARRENTON, Va., March 28.—Monday of this week was the usual much-heralded March court day, the biggest court of the year, as a rule. It was an extreme exception, though, this time. A steady downpour of rain continued from early morn throughout the entire day, and hundreds of people were kept away. There was a sentiment of general regret that this, perhaps, would be the last March court. The change in the judicial system gives us only six courts a year, and it is unpopular with a majority of the people.

The Rixey property, on Culpeper Street, and occupied by the Fauquier Club, has been purchased by William H. Gaines, who will have it thoroughly renovated and add many improvements. The Fauquier Club is of recent origin and in a comparatively short time is a decided social party. Its membership has increased to large numbers, and its permanency is an assured fact.

Much to the gratification of his many friends, the Hon. G. W. Nelson's condition continues favorable, and there is now hope for his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Maddux will sail for Europe early in June. Mrs. W. H. Payne is the guest of Mrs. O. B. Stone.

Mr. Ashcroft, who has been spending the winter here, will sail to-day from New York for her home in England. This place, Hunter Poulton, formerly of this place, was now a resident of Kyle, Texas, was a visitor here this week.

As the time approaches for the annual point-to-point races of the Warrenton Hunt Club, interest in the event increases, and all indications point to a most gala and exciting occasion.

EASTERN STAR Mrs. Marry Huber Recipient of Handsome Jewel.

At a regular meeting of Ruth Chapter, No. 1 of the Eastern Star, held at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday, March 21st, several candidates for initiation were introduced. The order is growing very rapidly under the administration of very capable officers.

Before adjourning Past Matron Mrs. Harry Huber, wife of Councilman Harry Huber, was presented with a very handsome matron's jewel. The presentation speech was made by Brother T. Mad, B. Sargeant, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Huber, although very much surprised, responded in a able and elegant manner after which the lodge adjourned to the banquet hall, where all partook of the delicacies of the season prepared by Brother Krause.
