CONVENTION OF BAPTISTS

Movement to Change Plan of Representation.

NUMERICAL BASIS ASKED

A Lively Struggle is Expected-The Delegates from Virginia That Have So Far Been Appointed.

There is quietly developing in certain sections a movement which will assert Atself at the Southern Baptist Conven lion, which meets in Georgia in a fer to change the representation in that body from a monetary basis to a numerical basis—a change of a revolutionary character, which will cause no end of a discussion before it is settled. So far as can be ascertained, the Virso far as can be ascertained, the Vi-trina delegates will go to the convention prepared to oppose the innovation most Avigorously. Opposition will also come from other quarters, and there is every likelihood of a genuine Baptist dobate before the session is over. The meeting will be held in Savannah and will begin on May 8th.

GROUNDS FOR THE CHANGE.

At the present time each church can send one delegate for every $20 contributed to the various Benevolent enterprises of the convention. The principle underlying this arrangement is that the men who pay the money are the ones to say what shall be done with it.

From several different points there is now going up a cry for a change. There is a desire to reduce the power of money in the body and to put the representation upon a numerical basis. The argument for the change is summed up by a Baptist paper as follows:

1. The fact is, those who go to the convention are not the ones who pay the money, in most instances. The mespengers are appointed by the simple process of sending their names to the State Beeretary, and the State Board arranges the list.

2. A consistent money basis demands GROUNDS FOR THE CHANGE.

into the enterprise. Those which give this money should have a share in the administration of the work which depends upon the contributions.

Moreover, there is in the denomination a certain discordant element, out of sympathy with this organized work. They give practically nothing to the board. A numerical basis would open to them full representation on the floor of the convention, despite the fact that they do not support the work of that body.

A special service for the students of the medical colleges and the business colleges of the city will be held Sunday night at the Broad Street Methodist Church.

The speaker for the occasion will be Bishop A. Coke Smith, who is stopping over here on his way to Nashville to attend the annual session of the College of Bishops. Bishop Smith is one of the unost attractive speakers in the denomination, and he will doubtless attract a large audience.

Mr. Galluher has been aptly styled "King of Ireland" so far as tobacco manufacturing is concerned. He is one of the largest handlers of the weed there, and he has recently been conducting a fight against the great Imperial Tobacco Company of England. His visits are always looked forward to with interest, but this year he is not talking. He said yestorday that he had no statement to make just now concerning his plans for the future.

ARE TRYING FOR THE FIRST PLACE

Neck-and-Neck Race Between Virginia Baptists and Georgia Baptists.

There is a neck and neck race on he-tween the Baptists of Virginia and the Baptists of Georgia in their contributions to the Foreign Mission Board, which has its headquarters in this city. The contest is close, and it is exciting no little interest in the two States.

The Southern Baptist Convention meets on the 8th of next month, and the board on the 8th of next month, and the board closes its books next Thursday night, April 30th. Money is pouring in each day, as much as $7.500 being received on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The board expects to close out of debt and to wind up the year with considerably more money raised than last time. At the last convention something like $15,000 was reported; this time the contributions will rain to $20,000 or more.

Virginia Baptists have always prided themselves upon the fact that they led the list of States in their contributions to foreign missions. Georgia has usually made a close second, but this year, to the discomiture of Virginians, the Southern State is ahead. The race is close, however, and there is no telling how it will end. Virginia may yet put up into the first place.

Up to two or three days ago Georgia's lead was something like $1.400, but on Monday she sent in a lump sum of $3,600. The announcement came like a dash of cold water to local pasters. Virginia's total is now about $20,000 and the other State $25,600.

Nothing has been heard from Virginia for several days, however, and it is possible that she may have ready an closes its books next Thursday night,

Nothing has been recover, and it is possible that she may have ready an accumulated amount which, when reported, will bring the scales more nearly to a balance.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

Emergency 'Phones Placed in Each of Them-Test is

City Electrician and Superintenden Thompson, of the Fire Alarm, yesterday morning completed the first underground connection in the down-twen district, when the alarm box at First and Broad Streets was placed in communication with the headquarters at the City Hall, nearly mile away. The new arrangement worked like a charm.

The real feature of the new system, which is being inaugurated in Richmond, is an innovation even in the greatest cities of America, for each box is equip ped with what is known as an auxiliary mergency telephone, an instrument which enables any one holding a box key to communicate directly with any one at the headquarters, carrying on just such a conversation as daily occurs over a reg-the headquarters, carrying on just such a conversation as daily occurs over a regulation Goll telephone.

It was in that test of this emergency phone and the public demonstration of its worth that the hundreds of people who blocked the sidewalk were interested. Superintendent Thompson allowed fully fifty prominent citizens to test the novel arrangement, talking with Operator Taylor at the City Hall.

During the test and public demonstration the genial superintendent indulged himself and other knowing ones with a practical joke, which the uninitiated swallowed at once, and which produced a profound sensation. Mr. Thompson convinced numbers that in addition to being a telephone the queer looking little apparatus was an optiphone, it being quite possible for the man at the other end of the wire to see with his own eyes the face and form of the person to whom he was talking.

To demonstrate the truth of the statement Superintendent Thompson would point the instrument in the direction of any object in the street, sidewalk or any of the windows, asking Taylor, "What's that?" And Taylor would readily reply "that" it was a baby carriage, a negro boy or a street car, as the case might be. The onlookers readily accepted the statements as true, and usually they were.

Were.
But, joking aside, the auxiliary telephone is a big improvenient, and in time will prove its worth to the Fire Department. Frequently a fire originates late at night, when it is impossible to got the use of a telephone, regardless of how bad the Chief or a captain may wish to communicate with headquarters.

With the emergency telephone at hand it is possible for the officers to communicate any orders to the man on duty at the alarm office, and he will transmit them to the desired place or person.

The telephone is made in one small piece, which weights about a half pound. It is so constructed that when the receiver is at the ear the transmitter is the proper distance and in front of the mouth. It occupies only a small place in the slare horesteen.

mouth. It occupies only a small place in the alarm box.

IMPORTANT BILLS

Relating to the Control and Direction of Common Carriers, &c.

The House Committee for Roads and Internal Navigation met twice yesterday and completed the consideration of a voluminous bill prepared by a subcommittee of which Mr. J. R. Caton is chairman. The bill is a typewritten document of more than a hundred pages, relating to the control and direction of steamboats, railways, canals, telephone and telegraph companies, express companies, etc. It practically re-enacts the present statutes on the subject with only those changes made necessary by the new Constitution and the new conditions resulting therefrom, Otherwise the old statutes are to be re-enacted.

Besides this bill, which will be reported to the House to-day and ordered printed, this committee has one more bill on which it is yet to report in its share of the work of code revision. This bill relates to the right of eminent domain and condemnation. When this has been comploted and reported, the work of the committee will have been comploted.

The same committee yesterday gave a hearing on the Gardner bill in relation to condemnation proceedings. It was determined to report the bill adversely.

From every source there is pouring in upon Dr. R. P. Kerr, of this city, letters urging him to decline the call to Ballismore and stay in Richmond. Just at the present moment it would seen that the fidespread movement will accomplish its purpose.

Yesterday Dr. Kerr received a communication from the students at Union Theological Seminary, begging him to stay. Many letters from individual ministers and laymen of the city are swelling the mails of the popular pastor. The First Church people themselves are actively at work. BONAVITA'S LIONS

They Were on Again Monday Night, but Did Not Fight, as Expected.

Interest in the performance at the Bostock animal arena Monday night was centered upon the reappearance of Bonavita and his group of lions. A very large crowd was in attendance in anticipation them free tickets to the performance. While the joke has been a very lively one for the past few days, it has necessitated the employment of a man to answer the telephone constantly. Very few calls are coming in now, however, and for this reason the joke is let out. Great enthusiasm was shown by the audience last night at the fine programme, consisting only of the very best acts, which is to be continued all of the week.

1+++++++++++++++++ At the Hotels.

Among the arrivals in the city yesterday is Colonel Oliver W. Dudley, of Danville, who is at the Jefferson. Colonel Dudley was a member of the staff of former Governor O'Ferrall, and is well known here. He is a member of the firm of Pemberton & Penn, large tobacce exporters, and is in the city on business for a day or two. Colonel Dudley's firm is one of those whose business was materially diminished by the formation of the Imperial Tobacco Company, but the firm still does a large foreign business.

Colonel L. W. Lane, Jr., of Williams-burg, and Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, president of William and Mary College, are in the city. Both are at Murphy's.

Former Attorney-General Rufus Former Attorney-General Rufus A. Ayers, of Big Stone Gap, Va., is in the city. Mr. Ayers is being sreeted by many friends. He recently announced that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1986. Mr. Ayers states that he is very much encouraged by the assurances of the province would be a considered him, not only in the Southwest, but in sil parts of the State. Mr. Ayers is one of the best whist players in the State, and whenever he visits Richmond he finds pleasant diversion from business and politics in a quiet game with his friend, Colonel John Murphy, and others. It has to be a quiet game, of course, among such expert whisters.

Mayor Alian A. Moss, of Newport News, is in the city, and is stopping at Murphy's. Mayor Moss is widely known throughout the State, and has been un-usually successful in public life. When asked recently as to the rumor that he might aspire to Congress he intimated that he was satisfied to be Mayor of Newport News.

These Virginians are recorded on the register at Murphy's: Rev. M. S. Colonna, Suffolk; W. B. Colonna, Newport News; Leo Judson, James V. Trehy, Joseph T. Through a Unique Coremony.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell and his wife, of this city, yesterday went through the coremony of laying the first two bricks of their new residence, just being built.

Since Mr. Mitchell came here a short while ago, he has been living on Barton Heights. He has contracted, howeverfor a headsome $5,000 brick residence in Lee District and work upon it has just begun. Owing to recent rains there has been some delay, but the building is expected to be complete about August 1st.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'slock, Art. and Mrs. Mitchell went to Lee District and Mrs. Mitchell went to Lee District and, as it were, laid the corner-stone of the house. With the assistance of the mason, Mrs. Mitchell placed the first trick in position, The second was laid allongside of it by her husband
