WILL OPEN THE EXHIBIT

Art Club's Spring Event to Begin To-Morrow.

WORK OF BEST ARTISTS

Some of Those Whose Masterpieces Will Be Best Featured Will Be Represented in the Exhibition to Be Held By the Art Club of Richmond at the New Building on Friday, May 18.

BENJAMIN WEST CLINEDINST, OF NEW YORK.

SOCIETY.

(Continued from Page 4.)

SOCIETY.

(Continued from Page 4.)

Over the Door-Mats.

There is no society whose members are so instantly detected, for they wear the badge of reputation. The society of well-dressed women was planted in the halls of the Capitol. The ladies in this circle are noted by their costumes. When the fashion writers and the society of the South meet, they mean it is the distinction which attaches to the honors of society. A woman may be on the other side of the world, but if she wears a dress that is not appropriate, she is not a lady. In the society of the South, every fashion writer in the country has been a member.

Mrs. A. Huber, the well-known society hostess of Richmond, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Mrs. John W. Liggitt, of Washington, D.C., will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Miss Blanche Morgan, of New York, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Over the Door-Mats.

There is no society whose members are so instantly detected, for they wear the badge of reputation. The society of well-dressed women was planted in the halls of the Capitol. The ladies in this circle are noted by their costumes. When the fashion writers and the society of the South meet, they mean it is the distinction which attaches to the honors of society. A woman may be on the other side of the world, but if she wears a dress that is not appropriate, she is not a lady. In the society of the South, every fashion writer in the country has been a member.

Mrs. A. Huber, the well-known society hostess of Richmond, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Mrs. John W. Liggitt, of Washington, D.C., will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Miss Blanche Morgan, of New York, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Over the Door-Mats.

There is no society whose members are so instantly detected, for they wear the badge of reputation. The society of well-dressed women was planted in the halls of the Capitol. The ladies in this circle are noted by their costumes. When the fashion writers and the society of the South meet, they mean it is the distinction which attaches to the honors of society. A woman may be on the other side of the world, but if she wears a dress that is not appropriate, she is not a lady. In the society of the South, every fashion writer in the country has been a member.

Mrs. A. Huber, the well-known society hostess of Richmond, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Mrs. John W. Liggitt, of Washington, D.C., will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.

Miss Blanche Morgan, of New York, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Southern Women's Club, to be held at the Christ Church at 7 p.m. on May 18.