

SOCIETY

A great deal is said to-day about the college-bred woman. As, until recently, the State of Virginia at large has not been trained to estimate the real meaning and exceeding value of such a term in the application to womanly training and upbringing, the old Dominion methods of feminine education have fallen into disrepute in the estimation of an advanced class of female thinkers, without and within her borders, who are interested in what Miss Schreiner calls the great woman movement.

The earlier womanly education in Virginia did not, it is true, include "college breeding," and that such breeding has a place and a value of its own. Such education is also recalled that in the remote days of governesses and private schools many Virginia women, along with ancient and modern languages and English literature, learned how to be homemakers, how to order and govern wisely in that domestic realm, which of all others is the most important, if the happiness of the world offers a standard by which to judge, they would seem invaluable means to the end sought.

So it appears to be a debatable question, after all, as to whether the scientific severity of "college breeding" might not be softened and lightened by a judicious admixture of that element in the earlier day education which rendered a woman not only the best housewife, but a most charming companion, an exceedingly efficient co-worker and helpmeet for the Virginia man.

In so far as higher education and college training have proved beneficial factors in broadening and deepening the character of womanly energy and activity, by uplifting the trend of womanly ambition and by opening up before womanly workers legitimate spheres of occupation, they would seem invaluable means to the end sought.

But in the light of knowledge and experience, no one term has proven more comprehensive than education. Such education begins in her cradle, and ends, in so far as this world is concerned, at her grave, the "college training" being a mere episode in the whole course, individuality, intellectuality and accountability. It also demonstrates that the relative importance of college education in promoting a woman's career and in making her a success and useful member can only be determined by observation and by results, which must speak for themselves in the future.

MRS. WALTER RAYMOND CARPENTER.
Formerly Miss Murtle Agnes Moyler, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Moyler, of Petersburg. Her wedding in Grace Episcopal Church, that city, Thursday evening last, was one of the most brilliant of society events.

Weddings in Prospect.

Miss Nellie May Hegarty and Mr. Charles Brantly Campbell will be married in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Annie C. Hegarty, at No. 691 East Grace Street, June 17th.

The ceremony will be performed at 6:20 P. M. Wednesday next. The parlors will be prettily decorated, and the bride will come in with her brother, Mr. John J. Hegarty, who will give her away.

She will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Dudley D. Whitehurst, as dame of honor, and by her niece, Miss M. Olfreda Pleasanton Harwood, as flower girl.

Dr. U. Harman, of this city, will be Mr. Campbell's best man. The young couple will start on their wedding tour immediately after their marriage.

They will come home to their July 1st at No. 231 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

A wedding in which much interest centers is that of Miss Rebecca Hellstern, the daughter of Mr. A. Hellstern, of No. 24 1/2 West Grace Street, to Mr. Roscoe C. Nelson, of Cherry Hill, Pa., at 9 o'clock on June 16th in the parlors of the Jefferson Club, Rabbi Leon M. Nelson, of Temple Israel, Brooklyn, N. Y., assisted by the Rev. Dr. E. N. Callach, of Beth Ahaba, this city, officiating.

The ceremony will be witnessed by a brilliant assembly, including many friends of both bride and groom. Miss Sadie Hellstern will be her sister's maid of honor. Misses Beulah Meyer and Mattie Weil will be bridesmaids.

Groomsmen will include Mr. J. L. Heard, Mr. F. Sydney Telsner and Dr. Aaronheim, all of Norfolk; Mr. Ralph Binswanger, Mr. Ralph Lavy, Mr. George Stern, Mr. Simon Hellstern and Mr. Jacob Hellstern, of Richmond. The best man will be Dr. N. W. Nelson, of New York, the brother of the groom. Mr. Ike Greenbaum will act as master of ceremonies. Among the out-of-town guests to be present at the wedding are: Dr. J. H. Schall, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. A. J. Morris, of Norfolk; Mr. William Schoen, of New York, and Mr. J. J. Foote, of Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Hellstern is a prominently connected and most favorably known in society circles here. Mr. Nelson is successful in his profession, that of law, and is very popular.

Miss Mary Bernard Hill, the daughter of Mrs. Annie M. Hill, and Mr. Lindsey Murray Binford, of Saco, Maine, will be married Wednesday at 6:15 P. M., in the Third Presbyterian Church.

Miss Hill's father, who is the Roland E. Hill, and she is cultured and charming to a degree. Her fiancé is well known in Richmond, and is a leading citizen of Saco, Maine.

Among the out-of-town weddings this

The ceremony will be performed in the home of the bride, who is a daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. David Russell.

Many Richmond people are deeply interested in the approaching marriage of Miss Ellen Graham Carmichael, the eldest daughter of the Rev. Hartley Carmichael, former pastor of St. Paul's Church here.

The wedding, which will be very quiet, will take place next Tuesday, June 16th, in Cincinnati. Miss Carmichael will be married to Mr. George Haydock, who is prominent both in social and business circles of that city. Mr. Haydock is a graduate of Yale College and has spent several years on the continent of Europe.

Miss Carmichael's uncle, the Bishop of Montreal, will officiate at her wedding, and she will be given away by her maternal uncle, the Rev. Richard Graham. After a two months' wedding trip to the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific coast, Mr. and Mrs. Haydock will return to their home on Grandin Road, Cincinnati.

Miss Lena Logan, the daughter of General and Mrs. T. M. Logan, will be married to Mr. Douglas Forsythe, of New Orleans, La., Thursday, June 18th, at "Algoma," General Logan's country place.

Owing to recent bereavement in the family of the groom, the wedding will be very quiet, with only the immediate relatives present. The announcement is nevertheless one possessing much interest for Miss Logan's many Richmond friends and relatives.

The Rev. J. B. Hutson, of Pine Street Baptist Church, will be the officiating clergyman at the wedding of Miss Bonnel Brown, the daughter of Mrs. E. V. Brown, to Mr. Harry S. Jennings, in the home of the bride, No. 611 South Laurel Street, next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mattie Jennings will be maid of honor, and Mr. A. B. Brown the best man. The ceremony will be followed by a reception.

Weddings in Retrospect.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season was celebrated in the marriage of Miss Alice Lillian Barnes to Mr. J. Stuart Hopkins, at 11 A. M. Wednesday last, the ceremony being performed by Dr. W. R. L. Smith, of the Second Baptist Church, at No. 911 Floyd Avenue.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence Barnes. Both she and the groom are identified prominently with old Virginia families, and are very popular. The color scheme of the wedding was in green and white and Mr. Reginald Walker directed the music.

Among the guests at the reception tendered the young couple by Mr. and Mrs. Barnes were: Mr. James Blake, of Fredericksburg; Miss Lizzie Stratton, of Gordonsville; Misses Lucy and Florence Wilson, of Lunenburg; Misses Winn, of Pleasant Grove; Mr. J. A. Thompson, Governor and Mrs. A. J. Montague; Mrs. M. E. Hopkins; Mrs. J. Leigh Jones; Mrs. H. W. Shelton, Miss Folsom, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morris, Mr. Sol Bloomberg, Mrs. C. Mr. and Mrs. Holdridge Childster have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Georgia Merrill, to Mr. George Stockton Willis.

The ceremony will be performed Wednesday evening, June 24th, at 8 P. M., in the home of the bride's parents, at Romney, W. Va.

A most interesting wedding of this week will be celebrated in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. C. Chandler, Wednesday next, when Miss Elizabeth Mae Bentley, the accomplished director of the music department in the Woman's College for the past several years, will be married to Mr. Elma C. Latimer, of

MISS ETHEL A. REDWOOD.
The Valedictorian of the class of 1908, in the Richmond High School. The subject of Miss Redwood's essay is "Onward." She is the daughter of Captain John H. Redwood, of No. 2902 East Marshall Street. She has always attended the Public Schools, of Richmond.

Cherry Hill, Pa., a young railroad man of fine reputation and great ability.

The wedding will be witnessed only by a few intimate friends of the bride and groom, Dr. James Nelson, of the Woman's College, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Neal have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Daisy Neal, to Mr. John Nicholas Martin. The ceremony will take place Tuesday, June 16th, at 6:30 P. M., in their home, No. 521 West Marshall Street.

The marriage of Miss Eliza Parke Megginson to Mr. Thomas J. Todd is scheduled to take place June 20th, in the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. G. Henning, of No. 6 West Cary Street, very quietly on account of sickness in the bride's family.

Nothing could have been prettier or more picturesque than the celebration of the Crawford-White wedding at "Newberry," near Hewlett's, Va., on Wednesday last. Pretty girls, attendants of the bride wore white picture hats, trimmed with daisies, chiffon dresses, embroidered.

The men had on blue serge suits and white vests. The idea was to present as far as possible a picture of an old-fashioned celebration, an effort that was altogether successful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Reed have sent out cards for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Myrtle Lou, to Mr. William Fleming Babby, Thursday, June 26th, 6 P. M., at Aqueduct, King William county, Va.

The color scheme at the Meanley-Morrison wedding on June 10th was in green and white. The celebration, one of the prettiest of the month, took place in the home of the bride, No. 13 East Franklin Street, with the Rev. B. M. Randolph, of Emmanuel Church, as the celebrant.

Mr. and Mrs. Meanley are taking an extended wedding trip north and west.

Women's Meetings.

A general meeting of the A. P. V. A. was held last Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society.

Colonel Yonge, the United States engineer for James River, gave an interesting talk on the discovery by excavation of basements at Jamestown, uncovered at a depth of three feet below the surface. The A. P. V. A. intend having the walls built up to ground level.

The association accepted, from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Withers, of Gloucester county, the gift of the "Warner Hall" burying ground, where General George Washington's great-great-grandfather and his great-grandfather are both buried.

Mr. E. V. Valentine presided over the meeting at Mrs. Bryan's request. Those present included Mrs. J. B. Lightfoot, Mrs. G. W. Bagby, Mrs. Enders Robinson, Mrs. E. V. Valentine, Miss Wade, Mrs. Z. W. Ward, Miss Lottie Garrett, of Williamsburg; Mrs. F. C. Tucker, Mrs. Southall, Mrs. Virginia Hall, Miss Bentley, Mrs. A. J. Montague, Mrs. Norton Savage, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Charles Bolling, Mrs. C. W. P. Brock, Mrs. Lefroy, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Watkins, Mr. Stuard and Colonel S. H. Yonge.

The Stay-at-Home West Club met last Monday evening, with Miss Mary Elizabeth Moore, of West Franklin Street.

The game resulted in a tie between Mrs. C. E. Doyle, Miss Eliza Harvey, Mrs. C. W. P. Brock and Mrs. E. L. Moore, against Mrs. J. B. Lightfoot, Mrs. G. W. Bagby, Mrs. Enders Robinson, Mrs. E. V. Valentine, Miss Wade, Mrs. Z. W. Ward, Miss Lottie Garrett, of Williamsburg; Mrs. F. C. Tucker, Mrs. Southall, Mrs. Virginia Hall, Miss Bentley, Mrs. A. J. The Colonial Dames had their regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Minor, No. 607 North Tenth Street, last Monday evening. Mrs. J. B. Lightfoot, Mrs. John B. Lightfoot, Mrs. L. R. Dashiell and the Misses Minor assisted Mrs. Minor in the entertainment of the guests after the business session was over. The occasion was exceedingly bright and pleasant, those who enjoyed it bringing away delightful impressions of Mrs. Minor's hospitable grace and cordiality.

A delightful entertainment of last week was given at "Waverly," the home of Miss Ruth Harrison, in honor of her guest, Miss Jessie Lane, of North Carolina. The sacrosanct parlors were elaborately decorated with ferns, roses and daisies. Brilliant lights added to the scene of grace and beauty within. Miss Lane looked charming in a creation of blue silk, daintily made and trimmed with applique. Miss Harrison received very gracefully in white organdy, with satin trimmings, assisted by Miss Bessie Harrison and Miss Rosa Trant, also gowned in white organdy.

The evening was pleasantly spent by all. Music, both vocal and instrumental, was rendered until 10:20 P. M., when dainty refreshments were served. Those present were Misses Lane, Nelson, Leach, Lamb, Trant, Waddill, Harrison, Messrs. Nelson, Trant, Lamb, Waddill, Quarles, Melroy, Kitchlow, Rhine, Harrison, Trant, Ryan, Hazlip and others.

An enjoyable and successful entertainment was given Monday last in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Berger, on the Nine Mile Road, for the benefit of Christ Church King's Daughters. Music games and refreshments added to the pleasure of the occasion, from which a good sum was realized.

Among the weddings scheduled for the week is that of Miss Alice E. Dawson to Dr. Marvin E. Nuckolls, which will
