RICHMOND.

Another attempt to be made to run street cars to-day; police force greatly augmented to afford them protection. Riotous scenes on Main Street yesterday; missiles thrown at the cars; arrest at Seventh and Main Streets causes intense excitement—Strike-breakers, won over by the strikers, leave the city—Judge Grinnan enjoins the United States government from launching the cruiser Galveston, but the government will proceed regardless. Late in the afternoon Judge Grinnan, of the Chancery Court, issued an injunction restraining the United States officials here from making any further preparations for the launching of the cruiser. This event had been fixed for next Monday, but the order of the court has made it exceedingly uncertain that it will occur. The fact is, unless the United States officials here are advised by the Navy Department very soon what to do, it will be too late to complete the necessary work for the launching at the date fixed. The action of Judge Grinnan puts it up to the United States government, and very interesting happenings may ensue in the public before another week is past.

VIRGINIA.

Democratic candidates in Pittsylvania assessed for the primary—A number of brilliant weddings in the State at large—A barn burned in Hanover county by lightning—Judge Pomeroy denies an order of law professor at Washington and Lee—Newport News will place heavy fine on a preacher in Floyd sent to the penitentiary and heavily fined—Virginia bankers in session at Lynchburg—A day of social affairs; President Sands makes his address; welcome by Daniel—The Petersburg street-cars are stopped at sundown; Dr. Carr addresses the men in a sympathetic way—Memorial Day exercises at Lynchburg; parade and decoration of graves—Graduating exercises at the Theological Seminary at Alexandria—The Supreme Court declares the new Constitution is valid—Training squadron sails from Newport News for Boston—Cotton-merchants' meeting at Charlotte does not bring results—Safe crackers frightened away at Winchester—A man and a child horribly injured near Asheville—Robberies rife in Salisbury.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The Grand Lodge of North Carolina Masons, in session at Asheville, are assessed for the primary—A number of brilliant weddings in the State at large—A barn burned in Hanover county by lightning—Judge Pomeroy denies an order of law professor at Washington and Lee—Newport News will place heavy fine on a preacher in Floyd sent to the penitentiary and heavily fined—Virginia bankers in session at Lynchburg—A day of social affairs; President Sands makes his address; welcome by Daniel—The Petersburg street-cars are stopped at sundown; Dr. Carr addresses the men in a sympathetic way—Memorial Day exercises at Lynchburg; parade and decoration of graves—Graduating exercises at the Theological Seminary at Alexandria—The Supreme Court declares the new Constitution is valid—Training squadron sails from Newport News for Boston—Cotton-merchants' meeting at Charlotte does not bring results—Safe crackers frightened away at Winchester—A man and a child horribly injured near Asheville—Robberies rife in Salisbury.

GENERAL.

Judge Redwine instructed the twelve men to continue their deliberations, and will not discharge them before a verdict is reached before that time—Africans won the Suburban from a field of 100—General Fitzgibbon won the classic race has been won by a three-year-old—Louisiana mosquitoes rout party who went there to make survey—A man and a child horribly injured near Asheville—Robberies rife in Salisbury.

IRISH LAND BILL NOT SERIOUSLY JEOPARDIZED

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 18.—In spite of the sharp issue raised in the Irish land bill question on the subject of a minimum purchase price, the ultimate passage of the bill is not as seriously jeopardized as might be imagined.
The Nationalists certainly hope to wring some further concessions from Chief Secretary Wyndham by a show of opposition, but the leaders of the Irish party are still inclined to exert all their influence to keep the government in power.

FREE WAGONS ON MAIN AND BROAD

Wagons, furnished by the Hub Clothing Company, and run by the striking street car men will ply up and down Main and Broad Streets to-day and will furnish transportation to those going to their places of business free of charge.

FIGHT ON OVER THE GALVESTON

Judge Grinnan Enjoins U. S. Government.

THE LAUNCHING FORBIDDEN BY HIM

But the Government Will Proceed Regardless.

THE SITUATION IS QUITE COMPLICATED

Federal Representatives in this City Awaiting Instructions from the Navy Department—The Restraining Order That Was Issued Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday brought rather startling developments in connection with the launching of the Galveston, now on the ways of the Trigg ship-yards. Late in the afternoon Judge Grinnan, of the Chancery Court, issued an injunction restraining the United States officials here from making any further preparations for the launching of the cruiser. This event had been fixed for next Monday, but the order of the court has made it exceedingly uncertain that it will occur. The fact is, unless the United States officials here are advised by the Navy Department very soon what to do, it will be too late to complete the necessary work for the launching at the date fixed. The action of Judge Grinnan puts it up to the United States government, and very interesting happenings may ensue in the public before another week is past.

The Injunction.

Upon a report of Mr. Lilburn T. Myers, receiver for the Trigg Company, Judge Grinnan yesterday afternoon issued the following order or injunction: In Chancery Court of the City of Richmond, Va.

MOSQUITOES ROUT HIM

Mr. Baylor Unable to Cope With Louisiana Pests.

ABANDONED THE SURVEY

He Had Been Engaged to Make Plot of Oyster Grounds of Louisiana, but the Swamp Mosquitoes Drove Him Away.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., June 18.—Monster mosquitoes of the Louisiana swamps have put a stop to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey's attempt to map the oyster reefs of Louisiana. J. B. Baylor, who made the famous survey of the Virginia reefs, was placed in charge by the government and a schooner was specially fitted up for him by the oyster commission of Louisiana. When all was complete Mr. Baylor and his party proceeded to the coast and began operations.

Almost a Riot on Main Street Yesterday.

MANY MISSILES THROWN AT CARS

One Lady Injured and Strike Breakers Are Scared.

MANY RETURNED HOME LAST EVENING

No Move to Be Made to Call Out the Military, it Being Believed that the Police Can Furnish All the Protection Needed—A Meeting of the Police Commissioners—Scenes.

"Just say 'We will run the cars'; that's all," said an official of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company last night.

"The men are greatly encouraged by the results in the strike yesterday," said Mr. Rezin Orr, speaking for the strikers last night.

The company will again endeavor to run cars to-day. More men are expected this morning to replace strikers. Ample police protection will be afforded, the force having been further augmented by the addition of 24 men. The police service was characterized as satisfactory in the city yesterday.

There was absolutely no demand for militia, and no suggestion of such demand, so far as diligent inquiry could develop.

The company operated four or five cars over part of the Main-street line for about four hours yesterday.

There was but one ugly demonstration, and that harmless in results. Some pelting of cars with mud, eggs and filth was reported—outside the city limits, generally.

A special committee from the Trades and Labor Council will wait on General Manager Huff to-day, in an effort to bring about a settlement of the strike.
