

SERMONS ON THE STRIKE

Pastors Appel for Order and Early Settlement.

ATTENDANCE ABOUT SAME

Suspension of Car Traffic Seems Not to Have Much Effect on Size of Congregations—What Mr. Boyle Had to Say.

From several of the pulpits of Richmond on Sunday there went forth appeals to the strikers to stand by their intention to observe law and order in the city, in order at least as they are themselves concerned, and an invocation that a Divine Providence would override the whole unfortunate controversy for good and hasten an amicable adjustment of the differences between the company and the men.

The attendance, on the whole, seems not to have been seriously affected by the suspension of the car traffic. So much is true that many have seized upon it as an example of the great truth which they have long been contending—that the running of street cars on Sunday is a needless desecration of the Lord's day. At least on this one day of congregations came, the strike to the contrary notwithstanding, and pastors who have been heard to express themselves as being well pleased with their audiences. Whether such a thing would last through many such Sundays is another matter. In one of two of the churches the preachers deklined in the morning which prevented the running of the cars on the Sabbath. At the Randolph Street Baptist Church the Rev. I. S. Boyles had something to say on this point.

"I do not know anything that I fear greater and grosser injustice," he declared, "than this absolutely needless running of street cars on the Lord's day. It ought to be stopped. And what is far worse than all, the carrying on of Sunday are the medium, and, therefore, the cause of unmentionable sins and crimes that are committed out of the city limits."

Rev. Mr. Cave on the Strike

At the Third Christian Church Sunday night Rev. P. A. Cave, the pastor, referred to the street car trouble in prayer, and prayed that the Lord would override everything for good and hasten an amicable settlement of the differences between the company and the strikers. Also that capitalists and laborers might possess more of the spirit of brotherhood and act toward each other upon the principle of the golden rule.

In his sermon on "Paul Charge to Timothy" to preach the gospel, he said: "The gospel of Christ, in a relation to God and men, and the relation to God and men in which it brings men, is the hope of the world and the only panacea for the ills that afflict men. The gospel is the power of God unto salvation from sin and all unrighteousness, and the redemption of all unrighteousness. The effects of the gospel are the joy of God and peace on earth and good will among men. The gospel implanted in the hearts of capitalists and laborers would make for a more amicable settlement of the calamity as has just befallen our city.

Mr. Cave declared that "selfishness is the fruitful source of all sin, of every tyranny, every oppression, every wrong, every cruelty, every wrong of every kind. It is the tree that has produced all poisonous fruit; the tree that has born all deadly plagues; the fountain from which every evil water flows; the Pandora's box from which have come all the ills that afflict the human race to-day. They grow out of the spirit of selfishness, the disposition in man to make all persons and things subservient to his pleasure, to gratify his ambition, to advance his interest, at whatever cost of inconvenience, sacrifice and suffering to other." "Now," said the speaker, "the gospel of Christ is opposed to all selfishness; it seeks to uproot it in the heart of man and to implant in its place the love of God and the love of man, which is the sum of all righteousness, true piety, justice, kindness, peace and holiness. Love works no ill to his neighbor; therefore, love is the fulfilling of the law. Let love be the ruling principle in man's heart and you can safely set him everywhere. Love and do as you please is the privilege of every man. This principle implanted in the hearts of men will solve for all the troubles and wrongs and injustices borne of selfishness, teaches men that it is not enough to live and let live, but to act on the higher principle of love and help.

And on the other hand, the laboring capitalist neither can the capitalist do without the laboring man. They are mutual dependent one upon the other. The capitalist, therefore, who fails to recognize the rights of laboring men, and instead ministering to their needs, is the spirit of a Christian philanthropist. He seeks to reduce it to a state of servitude and subjection. It is sowing the seed of anarchy, bloodshed and destruction to capitalists.

And on the other hand, the laboring

ALWAYS TIRED NEVER RESTED

To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but here is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired, never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak, the digestion impaired, and general disorder occurs throughout the system. Debility, insomnia, nervousness, indigestion, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, strength and energy, and the hundreds of little ailments we often have are due directly to a bad condition of the blood and circulation, and the quickest way to get rid of them is by purifying and building up the blood, and for this purpose no remedy equals S. S. S., which contains the best ingredients for cleansing the blood and toning up the system. It is a vegetable blood purifier and tonic combined, that enriches the blood, and through it the entire system is nourished and refreshing sleep comes to the tired, never-rested, body.

His Requesting Display of Force Is Ridiculed.

GOSSIP OF POLITICIANS

Mr. Tucker Will Not Enter Race for Congress, but Devote His Entire Attention to Law—Military Institute.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau, No. 147 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., June 22. The interest felt by Virginians in Washington in the controversy between the State courts and the Navy Department over the cruiser Galveston can hardly be exaggerated. Every Virginian seen here to-day has discussed the subject, and every one has expressed pleasure at the determination of the department to leave the entire matter to the Virginia courts. But they were all of the opinion that the Federal Government should not have interfered. They are inclined to laugh at the request of the Secretary of the Navy for authority to use marines in launching the vessel by force. It has been suggested that Secretary Moody feared that Judge Grinnan, of the Richmond Chancery Court, would have Governor Montague call out the Seventeenth Regiment to prevent the vessel's being taken to Norfolk. As a matter of fact, the department is making a test case of the Galveston. Another war vessel is being constructed by a company which has gone into the hands of a receiver, and the same question of ownership has arisen. But the most significant thing in connection with the whole matter has been the universality of the opinion that the State courts had absolute jurisdiction. State's rights have been recognized by everybody, and I have heard it asserted that Secretary Moody himself felt that Judge Grinnan had proceeded in an absolutely correct way. It does not seem to be the reason of the department's action, however, that the granting of a restraining order by a Virginia court is not a serious matter, being entered upon application almost as a matter of course, and being of a purely temporary character.

Hon. S. L. Lupton, member of the Virginia State Senate from the district composed of Shenandoah and Frederick counties and the city of Winchester, was in the city to-day. Mr. Lupton was for some years in government service here and has a wide acquaintance in Washington. Mr. Lupton is a candidate for re-election. I did not discuss the outlook with him. Judge Tavenner, who opposes him, is probably the strongest man that could have made the race against him. I talked with a friend of Judge Tavenner this week, who was absolutely confident of the judge's election. He was certain that Mr. Lupton's county, Frederick, would give a reason of opposition to the renomination of Mr. Jones, and there seems good reason to believe that he will be the unanimous choice of the party next year.

Hon. William A. Jones, member of Congress from the First Virginia District, is in the city. He has been very busy looking after matters at the department affecting his constituents in Washington. Mr. Jones is so close to Washington, affords more work than any other in the State except the Eighth, which keeps Mr. Rixey so busy. Nobody ever hears of Democratic opposition to the renomination of Mr. Jones, and there seems good reason to believe that he will be the unanimous choice of the party next year.

Hon. H. St. George Tucker will not be a candidate for Congress from the Tenth Virginia District against Mr. Flood. It is well known that Mr. Tucker had declined to enter the race prior to his leaving the city to attend to his duties of the law school. There is no gossip of opposition to Mr. Flood, and he may not encounter any.

Senator Martin, who has been here a day or two on business, has returned home. Senator Martin discussed very freely his prospects and reelection to the Senate next year, and is entirely satisfied with the outlook in all the counties.

Judge Page Morris, of Minnesota, is in the city. He is an old student, and will go to Lexington today to attend the institute commencement and the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the New Market battle monument. Judge Morris was born in Lynchburg, and became one of the most distinguished lawyers of Minnesota. He was a member of the class of '72, in which were Adjutant-General William Nalle, State Treasurer Harman, Colonel George W. Taylor, of Norfolk, and other well known men of Virginia and other States. He called my attention to the fact to-day that the Institute had furnished two colonels to the country in the Spanish war—Colonel Nalle, of the Fourth Virginia, and Colonel Taylor, of the Fourth Virginia. I am under the impression that one of two other colonels of volunteers in the war with Spain were institute men, and it is certain that many of the graduates held commissions of lower grade.

The possibility of the inauguration of a movement to sell the Institute to the national government was recently suggested to me by a well known Virginian. One of the best known men in the State is an advocate of the proposition. It is pointed out that the Institute stands next to West Point, without a competing military school of the country. West Point is not large enough and the cost of enlargement to make the school meet the requirements would be far greater than the price the State would ask for the Institute. Of course, Virginia would retain the right to appoint a certain number of State cadets every year. Judge Morris is strongly in favor of the proposition, though he competes for the military schools of the country. Two Qualifications. In the Chancery Court yesterday Mrs. Roberta A. Yarrington qualified as administratrix of the estate of Margaret F. Alexander, of Newton Taylor qualified as administrator of the estate of Miss Fannie Lewis Taylor. Both the estates are of small value.

Case Went Over. The Hustings Court was engaged yesterday in the trial of the case of the State against a woman charged with murderous assault upon Moses Dean. The case was not completed, and went over until today.

A Giant Radish. The Department of Agriculture has just received a giant radish, grown on the farm of Mr. R. W. Velsiger, near Centerville, Loudoun county. The vegetable is 14 inches long and 11 1/2 inches in diameter at the largest part.

Dr. Wright Out. Dr. Julian T. Wright is out after an illness of two weeks.

ANIMAL STORIES FOR OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

MR. JAMES CHIMPANZEE'S PICTURE

"Have you heard the news?" asked Joe Baboon of Jim Chimpzee. "No, what is it?" inquired Jim. "Why, a photographer has come to town." "And what is a photographer?" asked Jim. "A man who takes pictures." "Will he take my picture?" inquired Jim. "Of course, he will," answered Joe. "But what on earth do you want your picture taken for?" "To send to my sweetheart," said Jim, blushing to the end of his tail. "Gracious!" exclaimed Joe. "You will frighten the poor girl out of her wits." But Jim wanted the picture, and the very next day he went down to the photographer's place. "Now, sit real still and look pleasant," said the photographer.

HE LOOKED PLEASANT. Jim sat as still as he could and looked as pleasant as he ever did in his life. The photographer touched the button and the picture was made. "The first mail carried one of the pictures to Jim's girl. "She will be pleased with that, I know," declared Jim. "Ma, I do look handsome in that picture." "Well, in a few days Mr. Chimpzee got a letter from his sweetheart, and this is what it said: "Dear Jim, I never knew what a perfect fright you were until I got your photograph. It will be impossible for me to marry you. Papa was please keep away from the house, I sincerely, CATHERINE ORANG-OUTANG."

STATUARY AT THE CIRCUS The Living Pictures to Be Posed by Prof. Frank Cosby. Representations of Grecian statuary, each figure in the groups being formed by models that would admirably serve the artist's purpose, will be posed at the amateur circus by Professor Frank Cosby, who claims to have originated the living pictures of this character. Certain it is, that his work in this line has not been excelled by any similar act ever presented, and the mechanical devices and the necessary light effects will be such that each group will be shown to the best advantage. The coming exhibition at the Horse Show building is attracting good deal of attention, and a great interest in the event is being manifested. The amateur circus promises to be the biggest thing in Richmond on the Fourth of July.

Still in New York. Governor Montague is still in New York, and will return here this morning. His Excellency intended to have returned Sunday night, but was detained by some further engagements in the metropolis. In his absence, matters have been very dull about the State building.

Judge Wellford Well. Judge B. R. Wellford, Jr., of the City Circuit Court, who has been slightly indisposed at his residence here, has so far recovered as to be able to go out, and he was on the bench for a while yesterday.

New Charters. Charters were granted yesterday to the Virginia Club, Danville, and the Virginia Produce Company, Christiansburg. The Virginia Club, Danville, and the Virginia Produce Company, Christiansburg, have been made members of the National Association of Railway Commissioners.

For His Health. Hon. Lloyd T. Smith, of Northumberland, will sail shortly for Germany, where he will go for treatment of one of the famous watering places of that country. Mr. Smith's health has not been good for some months.

Distinguished Visitors. Among the prominent visitors in the city yesterday were Judge G. Taylor Garnett, of Mathews, and Senator S. L. Lupton, of Frederick.

Jim Dumps once found he must endure The pain that haunts an epicure. "Give up rich foods and try instead The well-known 'Force'-cure, sir," one said. Jim tried it. It agreed with him. The "Force"-cure made him "Sunny Jim."

"'Force' is not a heavy food, and it has that substantial foundation which begets blood. If it was eaten more frequently, and the terrapin, lobster and bird eschewed, people would not complain in the morning about not feeling well. No more heavy suppers for me when I can get 'Force.' Why, since I have been eating it I feel like a rejuvenated being."
