

WEEK AT ROCK ALUM

Unceasing Round of Gayeties and Pleasures. PRIZE EUCHRE PARTIES

Richmond Men Seem to Know Game. Little Ones Play Cards Also—Many New Arrivals—Golf Tournament.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS, VA., August 1.—Well did Solomon say: "The prudent man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself." The wisdom of the great philosopher of Israel has been exemplified, for all this week there has been a tremendous rush to this picturesque mountain resort by those anxious to escape the sizzle and glaring heat of the sun.

Rockbridge Alum holds many charmed memories for those who have made it for past seasons their summer home, as well as for some who come only as transients. This year is rather notable for the new faces seen here. The old habits meet here, too, and renew again their acquaintances, strengthen ties made, and it is like the uniting of old families which have been separated.

The progressive euchre party given on Monday night was the largest of the season and the prizes the most elaborate. The first lady's prize was won by Mrs. Walter Cox, of Bethlehem, Pa. The second prize was won by Mrs. B. B. Hanes, Md.; the consolation by Mrs. R. B. Hanes, of Raleigh, N. C. and the booby by Miss Slaughter, of Owensboro, Ky.

The most attractive social feature of the past week was the charming eight-hole euchre party given Wednesday by Mrs. Walter Cox, of Bethlehem, Pa. Her guests were Mesdames Alfred T. Pope, John A. Armstrong, N. A. Richards, Robert Patton, L. C. Woolfolk, Lucinda P. Guest, and Thomas N. Jones, Dr. L. C. Brock and Miss Taliaferro.

The juveniles held full sway on Thursday afternoon, when Miss Nelchen Armstrong, of Loudoun, was the guest of honor to the delight of her many little friends. Dainty prizes were enthusiastically captured by Misses Claudia Mayer, of Norfolk, and Adele Goldsmith, of Danville, Va.; Masters Leonard, of Norfolk, and Albert Steiner, of Baltimore. Others enjoying the game were Lillian Hughes, India Ferrell and Gibbs Patton and A. J. Locklin and Eugene Mayer.

The most delightful Sunday evening service recently conducted by Rev. W. M. Morrison, D. D., missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church to the Congo Free State in Central Africa, and were followed with intense interest by a large audience. The most prominent of the interesting, though plain and simple, manner his experiences for the past seven years in that far off land of darkness and dense ignorance. Dr. Morrison and Lee, who honor him with the title becoming humility and dignity. In the opinion of his church and friends he has a grand future before him, if his life is spared.

NEW COMERS. The past week records the return of many of the popular habitués of this favorite resort. The most prominent of these are Mrs. Thomas N. Jones, of Isle of Wight, Va. Others are Major T. L. Courtney and Miss Estelle Courtney, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Henry J. Goldsmith, of Danville, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. S. Steiner, of Baltimore, Md. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brockenbrough, A. M. Walker, of Abingdon, Va.; and Miss Lexington, Va. Recent arrivals are C. D. Nimmo, Clifton Forge, Va.; Miss Ethel Schmelz, Miss Margaret Schmelz, Virginia; Miss Grace Wilson, Baltimore, Md.; J. L. P. Armfield, North Carolina; C. E. Caldwell, Clifton Forge; Mrs. R. G. Blanton, Richmond, Va.; Miss E. P. Deltick, W. J. Tyler, Richmond, Va.; A. W. Cameron, Lexington, Va.; Chauncey B. McCormick, Chicago, Ill.; E. R. Loomis, Danville, Va.; S. S. Steiner, and E. Steiner, Albert Steiner, of Baltimore, Md.; Miss Letitia Boyd, Miss Blanche Slaughter, Owensboro, Ky.; E. C. Dawley and wife, Charleston, W. Va.; Masters N. B. and C. R. Dawley, Mrs. W. B. Brooks, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. M. G. McCormick, Miss Ruby McCormick, Chicago, Ill.; Miss A. E. Flournoy, Richmond, Va.; E. M. Parrish, South Boston, Va.; Mrs. A. H. Noble, Philadelphia, Pa.; S. P. Figgatt, Roanoke, Va.; Mr. L. P. Guest, David Porter, Guest, James L. Shelton, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. H. C. Wisw, W. B. Gillespie, Lexington, Va.; Della Hastes, Ira Cummings, Colherstown; S. B. Smile, J. G. Gordon, Creeksville, Va.; Miss M. A. Lee, Miss J. C. Lee, Mr. J. S. Watson, Mr. N. M. Neill, Millboro, Va.; W. G. Goshen, Clifton Forge, Va.; W. G. McCormick, Goshen; Mrs. Wirt Adams, Miss Adams, Adams, Miss Green Jackson, Miss A. H. Boyd, Mrs. A. H. Boyd, nurse and baby, Charleston, W. Va.; John P. Morgan, O. B. Patton, Jr., Huntsville, Ala.; W. H.

GOOD LUCK Baking Powder. THE BEST LEAVENING AGENT FOR BREAD. One Can Carries Conviction. LYNCHBURG, $2.00 ROUND TRIP; ROANOKE, $3.00 ROUND TRIP; Three-Day Excursion via N. & W. Railway, Tuesday, August 18th.

MIDSUMMER GERMAN

Pretty One Danced by Young People of Staunton on Tuesday Evening. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) STAUNTON, VA., Aug. 1.—The prettiest and most largely attended German given in Staunton for several years was the midsummer German given by Staunton's young men on Tuesday night at Highland Park. A number of young ladies and gentlemen, who have been spending their vacations at the different summer resorts, returned to Staunton to attend.

The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Liting, Misses Nettie Tam and Mrs. Whittle, of Staunton, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Evans, of Winchester. The merry dancers were gracefully led through many new and beautiful figures by Mr. John Crowler, Jr., with Miss Lizzie Cochran. Among those dancing were Mr. John Cochran with Miss Bette K. Miller, Elizabeth Miller with Miss Elizabeth Jones, W. Timberlake with Miss Annie Woodward, William Cook with Miss Bessie Jones, Peyton Cochran with Miss Kirkpatrick, Y. M. Bell with Miss Rose Warfield, Buck of U. S. A., with Miss Isabella Gresham, J. B. Ranson and Miss Nannie Jones, Alexander Blockley with Mabel Little, Flooding Oliver with Miss Gresham, H. L. O'Neil and Mary Ranson, Roger Young with Josie Duncan, J. W. McChestney with Bessie Baker, Mr. White and Miss DeLowe, Mr. Eyster with Miss Evelyn Schreches, Frank McFarland with Miss Katie Eichelberger, Charles Sterns, of Charlottesville, with Miss Helen Baxter. Clay Miller, Charles East, W. Kinney and L. R. Lewis were the singers. Refreshments were served at midnight.

SOCIAL EVENTS AT FREDERICKSBURG

Some Well-Known Virginians Who Are Visiting There. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FREDERICKSBURG, VA., August 1.—Captain and Mrs. W. F. Coates gave a hay ride on Wednesday night in honor of their guests, from 8 to 10 o'clock. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Misses Tyler were hostesses on a hay ride to the dam across the Rappahannock, one mile above this city, one night this week, where covers were spread and a picnic supper served. A merry time was spent for several hours. Many from this city attended the horse show at Orange on Thursday and spent a pleasant day. A number from this city and section are attending Wharton Grove camp meeting on the lower Rappahannock, which is being held at the residence of Judge W. M. Pierce, at Christiansburg, Va.

Colonel E. D. Cole and daughter, Miss Alice Cole, with their guests, Miss Nina Graybill, of Botetourt county, have returned from a visit to Richmond. Miss Nettie Fitzhugh is visiting her brother, Professor Thomas Fitzhugh, at the University of Virginia. Mrs. A. F. Fry is visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. W. L. Messick, at Irvington. Miss Eula Henderson is the guest of Professor S. W. Somerville and family at their country home, near Rapidan, in Culpeper county.

Mr. W. W. Mountjoy and family, of New York, are spending the month of August with relatives in King George county. Miss Nellie Plaster, of Loudoun, who has been visiting Mrs. P. V. Daniel, has returned home. Mrs. J. W. Musselman and daughter, Miss Virginia Musselman, have returned from a two weeks' visit to Newport News and Petersburg. Mrs. L. K. Shepherd and daughter, of Richmond, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman. Miss Minnie Smith, who has been visiting Miss Eva Tyler, has returned to her home in King George county. Miss Bessie Hayden is visiting relatives in Orange county. Mrs. A. D. Tappcott and daughter, Miss Bessie Tappcott, have gone to Covington, Va., to spend the month of August at the "Intermont."

GOOD LUCK Baking Powder. THE BEST LEAVENING AGENT FOR BREAD. One Can Carries Conviction.

PARAFFINE BULLETS FOR FRENCH DUELLISTS. (Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch, Copyright, 1903.) PARIS, August 1.—A revolution is taking place in duelling in Paris. A number of eminent experts have proposed a special kind of revolver, which is loaded with metallic projectiles, is charged with paraffine balls, which are just solid enough not to burst on the stroke. A number of trials have already taken place. The revolver duel thus becomes like a game of billiards. The inventor, who is a young man, is named, such as stepping up to the line, loading and the order to fire. The adversary is not to be killed, but to send the bullet on occasion to very clever maneuvering. Those who have made use of the new method of duelling are quite satisfied with the superiority of the new method over the old one. One thing is certain, that there is no danger of killing your opponent by mistake.

GERMAN AT THE WHITE

Fifty Couples on the Floor at Midweek Dance. SUPPERS AFTERWARDS

Mrs. John D. Potts Entertains the El Bananas at a Supper—Richmond Contingent is Very Popular. Card Parties.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, VA., August 1.—A chronicle of the events of the past week would indicate that the season here is at its height and the pace set for July promises to continue this month. One of the most brilliant Germans ever seen here was given on Thursday night by the young men. Fifty couples participated, and the leader, Mr. John W. Boswell, of Danville, Va., sustained his reputation in this line, and his able management and the presence of an unusual number of beautiful women made the cotillon a memorable one even at the old White Sulphur. The chaperons were Mrs. Roger A. Fryer, of New York; Mrs. Foster Thomas, of Louisville, Ky.; Edward Christian, and Mrs. Barton H. Grundy, of Richmond; Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, of Richmond; Mrs. John D. Potts and Mrs. Thorator Lewis, of Cincinnati; Mrs. John P. Richardson, of New Orleans; Mrs. Penn, of Washington; Mrs. F. E. Stande, of Washington; Mr. Orrick, and Mrs. J. V. L. Findley, of Baltimore.

A collation, including champagne, was served at midnight and dancing continued until the wee sma' hours. Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, of Richmond, was the hostess at a delightful tea on Wednesday afternoon at her cottage in Florida. The older people were asked from 5 to 5 and the unmarried people from 7 to 7, so her guests included both sexes and was one of the most charming functions of this week. Suppers after the dance are nightly occurrences in the cafe. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cotton, of New York, gave a handsome dinner on Friday evening in honor of Mr. George W. Burleigh, also of New York. Covers were laid for eighteen.

CARD PARTY. Mrs. James Branch, of New York, gave a large card party at her cottage on Monday morning. Mrs. John D. Cowan, of Knoxville, Tenn., won the first prize and Mrs. Foster Thomas, of Louisville, second. Mrs. Waterman, of Parkersburg, W. Va., also entertained at a notably handsome card party on Monday. Walter Silson Hutchins and Miss Poulter, of Baltimore, captured first and second prizes. Mrs. Julian Hutchinson, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Henry Ward and Mrs. Orrick, of Baltimore, were also successful card parties. Mrs. John D. Potts entertained the El Bananas at a supper at her cottage on Thursday night. Mrs. A. R. Lambert also entertained informally at her cottage this week. Mrs. Lambert is conspicuous for her beauty among a coterie of unusually good looking young married women here this year.

Outdoor life is still popular and tennis continues to be the rage here. Miss Hattie White, of Baltimore, has carried off the laurels as champion so far. The Bal Foudre, which the ladies will give on the 7th and 8th of August, is the absorbing topic, and promises to eclipse any thing of the sort given here in years. Mrs. Roger A. Fryer is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and the other patronesses are all conspicuous in the social life here.

RICHMOND PEOPLE. While there are not as many Richmond people here perhaps as formerly, they continue to be among the most sought after of the many attractive women here. Mrs. H. Grundy and Mrs. S. Moncure Perkins, both received ovations on the occasion of their arrival here last week and continue to be in constant demand for every gathering. Miss Sophie White is always attractive, and a Miss White is not dancing this summer, holds her court on the porch every evening. Miss Constance Lee, of Alexandria, is another Virginia girl who sustains the reputation of her State for charming young women and is one of the belles here this season.

Among the recent arrivals are Mrs. Andrew Simons, of Charleston, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Julian T. Burke, Mr. John Burke, Mr. Julian T. Burke, Jr., and Mrs. A. H. White, of Baltimore; Mrs. James Morrison, of Norfolk; Mrs. W. T. Harris, of Louisville; Miss Gray Morehead, of North Carolina; Mr. and Mrs. James Penn, of Danville; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Daniel, of Danville; the Misses Campbell, Miss Hume, Mr. and Mrs. Rapley, Captain Lansing, U. S. A., from Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burleigh, Mr. Roger A. Fryer, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Lewis, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Taylor, of New York; Mr. J. B. Cox, of Philadelphia; Mr. John P. Richardson, Mr. Edmund Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lacour, Mr. A. B. Lacour, of New Orleans; Mr. Bernard Carter, Mrs. Letitia Boyd, and Mrs. J. James Caskey, Mrs. L. M. Perkins, Mr. Barton H. Grundy, Mrs. Corydon Sutton, Miss Sadie Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culpeper, of Richmond.

TEE-DEES. The Tee-Dee party from Richmond, included a dancing trio—Mrs. R. R. Thaw and her daughters, Miss Mary B. Thaw, a sweet looking blonde, and Miss Alice B. Thaw, an attractive brunette. Friday evening the writers gave a concert on the piazza, and Charles Garner, Miss Ella B. Thaw, and Miss Alice B. Thaw, danced the jig, receiving a great encore. The special progressive euchre of the week was given last evening. Mrs. J. Walton captured the lady's prize, silver hat pin, and Mr. T. K. Parrish, of Richmond, the gentleman's, a beautiful silver whistle. The booby was taken by Mrs. J. Guggenheim.

RECENT ARRIVALS. Mrs. Jackson McLean, Danville; Mrs. John G. Miller, Richmond; T. C. Whedbee, North Carolina; C. O. Reed, North Carolina; W. L. Perlick, South Boston; Mrs. L. Long, of Chicago; Miss E. C. York, L. Long, Danville; William A. Price, Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Vann; Miss Mabel Vann; Miss Eleanor Vann, Mrs. J. H. Henley, and maid, all of Frankfort, Ky.; Mrs. E. W. Taylor, of New York; Mrs. Lawrenceville; E. S. Carlton, Richmond; C. O. Baker, Riches; Mrs. T. N. Allison, Richmond; Mrs. Charles T. Lassiter, three children; Mrs. L. T. Hamilton, and numbers of others. For lack of time cannot give.

VILLAGE NOW HAS SCORES OF GUESTS. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PROVIDENCE FORGE, VA., August 1.—Our little village is alive with visitors from many places are being indulged in, such as games of many descriptions, private picnics, bicycling among the ladies, riding and driving, etc. Miss Edna Eary, of Richardson is visiting friends at Harmony Village, Middlesex county, where she will attend camp meeting at Wharton's Grove and the Baptist Association, near Halifax. Mrs. Clarence Priddy, of Fort Smith, and Miss V. E. Hagan, of Portsmouth, Va., are visiting Mrs. C. J. Robertson, of this place. Miss Mary Taylor Gilliam, of Richmond, has returned after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. Jordan Gilliam. Miss Mary Vornon Parrish, of Roanoke, was in town visiting friends yesterday. J. B. Richardson has returned from a delightful visit to Norfolk. Newport News and several places up the Rappahannock. Miss Irene Harris, of New Kent Court-house; Miss Parkinson and Mrs. Parkinson, were the guests of J. B. Richardson's family last evening. Attorney H. B. Gregory passed through here this morning en route to Williamsburg. Senator M. H. Barnes and Robert Timberlake were in town this week. C. B. Bergh, of Williamsburg, and the guests of Mr. Hume, of Belmont week.

CARDS IS THE GAME

Played Night and Day at the Mecklenburg. WEEK OF GREAT ACTIVITY

Both Indoor and Out of Door Amusements to Help Pass the Hours Away. Guests Gathered from Far and Near.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) THE MECKLENBURG, CHASE CITY, VA., August 1.—The past week has been one of the greatest activity, both for indoor and outdoor sports, the wide-awake hotel contingent entering into all the various amusements with hearty interest. Cards are still paramount, gathering a seven-hand euchre crowd in a twinkling of an eye or a progressive euchre of three tables at a moment's notice, being now taken for granted. The first prominent event of the week was the bowling contest of Thursday morning, the first time the alley was ever used. Among the players were Mesdames Z. Guggenheim, Dennis Biggs, Mrs. C. F. Boswell, Richmond; Misses H. Bouldin, Madora, Susie Norrell, Alma Elam and Messrs. Dennis S. Biggs, J. Guggenheim, U. J. Long, J. G. Miller and Durham. Miss Hattie Bouldin won the lady's prize, an exquisite silver brooch; Mr. J. G. Miller the gentleman's, a handsome black leather pocket-book. Excitement was high when the second prize was won between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr. D. S. Biggs and Mr. Z. Guggenheim, and they were compelled to roll it off. Each was very attentive to the other, saying: "Oh! no; no need to roll; it's to you, my dear Gaston." Among much vociferous applause the two balls much vociferous applause the two balls between Mr