

... IN THE SOCIAL REALM ...

The stars were old, the sun was cold, The moon long since had died; Dark shadows lurked a worn-out world Adrift in chaos wide.

No song-bird sang, no verdure sprang, A wasting wind blew east; The long, long year was winter drear, And count of time had ceased.

Of all the earth had given birth, To play life's little play, But two there stayed—a youth and maid, Yet well content were they.

They saw the sun and moon undone, They heard the wind blow wild, They missed the rhyme of pulsed time; "Tis sad!" they said—and smiled.

The farthest sky they floated by, The utmost twinkling star; The comets fast went hurling past And faded out afar.

Beyond the bound of sight and sound Of all that is, they fled, "Together thus, 'tis well with us, O love, dear love!" he said.

The winter chill grew colder still, The darkness yet more dim, The silence drear more full of fear— She raised her face to him!

Their souls were given a glimpse of heaven— His lips against her lips! Shapeless and vast a dead world passed Where space asunder slips.

- Commandments for the Wife. 1. Be healthy. 2. Be joyful. 3. Be beautiful. 4. Be frank and keen. 5. Be yielding, without weakness. 6. Always have time for your husband—but never too much. 7. Do not try to educate your husband—let him raise the standard. 8. If you wish to please your husband, you must be able to please other men also. 10. Do not forget—only she is worthy of being loved who is strong enough to be happy without love.—Harper's Bazar.

Miss Moon comes from one of the leading families of Virginia, long noted for its culture and refinement. The marriage is one of the important social events of the summer.

Pitt—Mahon. One of the prettiest home weddings celebrated in the East this season took place Thursday evening at No. 515 North Twenty-ninth Street, when Miss Mattie Bell Mahon became the bride of Mr. George Pitt. The ceremony at 6 o'clock the sweet strains of the Lehengrin wedding march announced the entrance of the bridal party.

First came the ushers, Messrs. Thomas Perkins and John Kenston; then the groom and his best man, Clarence Mahon, was brother of the bride, followed by the ring-bearer, little Miss Gay Pollard, bearing the ring on a silver tray. Last appeared the bride with her maid of honor, Miss Bessie Pitt, sister of the groom. When they arrived at the altar the party formed a half circle around the happy young couple while they were being united by the Rev. M. Ashby Jones, of Leigh Street Baptist Church. As the ceremony proceeded, the merry strains of Mendelssohn's march burst forth under the skillful touch of Miss Ruth Weisiger, a close friend of the bride.

The bride, who is the pretty and attractive daughter of Mr. Aurelius Mahon, was beautifully gowned in white silk mill shirred waist elaborately trimmed with lace and ribbon. She carried a bride's roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Bessie Pitt, was also gowned in white and carried white carnations. Little Miss Gay Pollard was wearing a pink and white accordion pleated silk with ribbon. The front parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was beautifully decorated in palms. WRONG TRACK. Had To Switch. Even the most careful person is apt to get on the wrong track regarding food sometimes, and has to switch. When the right food is selected, the host of ails that come from improper food and drink disappear, even where the trouble has been of lifelong standing. From a child I was never strong and had a capricious appetite, and was allowed to eat whatever I fancied—rich cake, highly seasoned food, hot biscuit, etc.—so it was not surprising that my digestion was gone out of order, and at the age of twenty-three I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, and as I had been losing strength because I didn't get nourishment in my daily food to repair the wear and tear on body and brain, I had no reserve force to fall back on, lost flesh rapidly and no medicine helped me. Then it was a wise physician ordered Grape-Nuts and cream and saw to it that I gave this food (new to me) a proper trial, and it showed he knew what he had about, because I got better by bounds from the very first. That was in the summer and by winter I was in better health than ever before in my life, had gained in flesh and weight and felt like a new person altogether in mind as well as body, all due to nourishing and completely digestible food, Grape-Nuts. This happened three years ago, and never since then have I had any but perfect health, for I stick to my Grape-Nuts food and cream and still think it delicious. I eat it every day. I never tire of this food, and can enjoy a saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream when nothing else satisfies my appetite, and it's surprising how sustained and strong a small saucerful will make one feel for hours. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. True food that carries one along, and "there's a reason." Grape-Nuts 10 days proves big thing. Get the little book, "The Road to Well-Being," in each pk.

The July Clearance Sale Creates Low Prices. Throughout the store—heads of departments have been instructed to effect immediate and complete clearance of all Summer Merchandise. To accomplish this tremendous reductions have been made. In fact, the extent to which prices have been reduced, in many instances, brings the present selling price down to figures that represent but a mere fraction of the actual value of the merchandise involved. Particularly is this fact apparent in the price-tickets on ALL TRIMMED HATS. We now have reference to one special lot reduced to $3.98. Which includes some of our Imported Model Hats, that bear original price-marks of $12.50, some $16.00, and a few at $18.00. All now reduced (to close) at $3.98. Two other lots that hold rare values are composed of Hats that were $5.00, $6.50 and up to $10.00. Now reduced to $2.98. And some of them to $2.48. For ladies who delight in trimming their own hats we offer untrimmed shapes, realistic flowers, and various other trimmings at fractional prices. All Our Colored Wash Suits have been brought to the main floor, ARRANGED AND PRICED FOR QUICK SELLING. They now appear in two special lots as follows: ALL OUR SUITS, $3.75, $4.50 and $5.00. THE INSURGENTS CARRY THE DAY. State Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., Recognized by Decision of Chancery Court. In the Chancery Court yesterday Judge Grinnan entered a decree in the case of the State Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, against the National Council, in which the State Council is recognized as the body entitled to the use of the name in this State. The fight on the case was inaugurated in Milwaukee in 1900, and has been waged with untiring energy, and has been in the courts continuously since that time. Members of the National Council are known as the "loyalists," and have only a small following in this State. The origin of the trouble dates from the time that the National Council refused to give to Virginia (and other States with a bulk of the membership) the representation to which they thought themselves entitled, in accordance with the amount of taxes assessed. These States thereupon refused to pay their annual tax to the national body, and continued to do business independently of the National Council. Five years ago the State Council of Virginia obtained a charter from the General Assembly, but it was only after a long fight before that body were they able to secure it. The case was argued by Samuel A. Anderson and Frank W. Christian for the "insurgents" and by Charles V. Meredith, George W. Crumpecker and John C. Weckert for the "loyalists," and was submitted. The case was concluded yesterday with the decree of Judge Grinnan, unless an appeal is taken, which is not thought probable by members of the victorious branch of the order.
