Parade of Firemen and Members of Dalmio Klan Arranged for.

NOTORIOUS OUTLAW AGAIN

Unlicensed Dogs—Toney Ruled to Appear in Court To-day.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hill Street, 7

Last night the fire department held another meeting to put matters along in regard to the carnival. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance, and several new features were arranged for the show.

Mr. Slaughter, a representative of Dalmio Klan, appeared before the department with a request that the members of the Arabian order be allowed to form a parade Wednesday night.

Marked interest is being manifested in the voting contest for the queen of the carnival. The vote up to date stands as follows:

Miss A. M. Beard, 212 votes; Miss Anlo W. Hall, 146; Miss Katie Gray, 135; Miss Lillie Lockett, 129; Miss Edna Taylor, 256; Miss Virginia Marshall, 163; Miss Margaret Hooker, 216; Miss Gertrude Allen and Mrs. Julia Roberts Blanton have withdrawn from the contest.

The committee of the Daughters of Liberty, and in withdrawing her name, she sent the following letter to the committee appointed for the matter:

"Manchester, Va., Sept. 22, 1904. 'I hereby respectfully decline to be a candidate representing the Daughters of Liberty for queen of the carnival.

"Respectfully,
(Signed) "MRS. JULIA R. BLANTON."
The committee of the Daughters of Liberty Council will meet to-night and choose a successor to Mrs. Blanton.

Lack Dog Medals.
There were several more defendants brought in the Mayor's Court yesterday, charged with owning unlicensed dogs.

Mr. R. L. Moore was one of the number and she gave as a reason as she got in requesting that the police be as thorough in keeping the streets clean about her house, as they are in securing dogs which, without medals, roam about at large.

A rule was issued for John Toney to appear in court to-day to show why he failed to put in an appearance yesterday.

Personals and Briefs.
Joseph E. Johnston Camp will have a trolley party to Petersburg and return.

New South Council, No. 8, Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold a regular meeting at 8 o'clock on Friday, September 23rd, at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Johnston.

The Colored Horse Show.
The Norfolk and Western Railway will carry a large colored excursion from this city and Manassas to Suffolk next Thursday to the colored horse show, band contest and agricultural and industrial fair at Suffolk.

The Sacred Heart bazaar going on in the Seventh Regiment Armory has but two more nights to run. Very handsome profits, several thousand dollars, have been realized so far and it is expected to increase this amount largely. Crowds continue to pour in every night. Everything left over will be auctioned off to-night and to-morrow night and in the afternoon. Private sales will be conducted.

Singular Divorce Suit.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, Va., Sept. 22.—In the Bristol law court this week the divorce suit of Mrs. M. J. Cheatham against her husband, J. W. Cheatham, was called on. The husband seeks to be divorced from his wife and the only ground on which he brings the suit is that his wife is deranged and insane when he married her. It seems that she displayed good enough sense to deceive him as to the condition of her mind on the wedding day. The suit is set for trial on the 29th inst.

Where Sport Abounds.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SCOTTSDALE, Va., Sept. 22.—Numerous cotton-tails frisk and play through the woods and underbrush, gathering for the little boy a trap on a cold winter morning. Overlaid in the cold winter coats, the squirrels, in growing smaller by degrees and beautifully less in number, all for sake of the insatiable appetite of the hunter and a few other people.

The sport is good this year, they say, who should know.
