

SACRIFICE OF DOLLS

Our buyer has purchased in Europe an enormous stock of Dolls; they have arrived; many more than we have room to accommodate, we are, therefore, compelled to sacrifice many of these beautiful Bisque and Jointed Dolls at much below cost. This special sale will last for only a few days 'til we reduce our stock, then prices will be restored. This is an opportunity of a lifetime to get a magnificent doll for Christmas at almost nothing compared to its value; especially now at this season of the year when you have time to dress the doll for Christmas. If you miss this sale you will regret it. Dealers desiring dolls for Christmas stock will be accommodated. You can buy as many as you like—we reserve nothing; we have them by the gross. Church societies should buy for their Christmas trees and sales now.

In attending this sale you will probably notice the overcrowded condition of our store. We have received the largest consignment of imported Christmas Toys and Presents ever bought in this part of the country. Our store is small; all we can say is, get your Christmas presents early, else you will not be able to get waited on at Christmas time. Every child in Richmond should have a doll from this sacrifice sale.

MAN OF HIGH CHARACTER

Mr. W. Upshur Bass, Long a Useful Citizen, Passes Away.

WAS A BRAVE SOLDIER
Took Deep Interest in Surviving Confederates—Funeral This Afternoon.

Mr. W. Upshur Bass, of the firm of Simpson, Bass and Company, an old and respected citizen, of Richmond, died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, after a long illness, which finally developed into pneumonia. Mr. Bass was a well known man, having been in business in the city for many years.

Mr. Bass was born on June 1, 1841, in Chesterfield county, near Petersburg. He served through the Civil War, and was a past commander of George E. Pickett Camp, C. V. He was a member of Company D, First Virginia Infantry, and participated in the battles of Bull Run and Manassas, and in 1862 returned to Richmond, where he organized a city battalion, of which he was a lieutenant. In March, 1862, Mr. Bass married Miss S. E. Redford, of this city, who survives him with several children, as follows: Mrs. J. C. Curtis and Mrs. S. S. Curtis, of Warwick county, and Mrs. Tyler, of this city; Mr. L. S. Bass, of Chesterfield; Mr. W. H. Bass, J. U. Bass and Robert U. Bass, of this city.

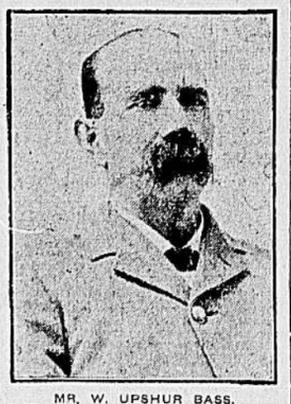

Mr. Bass was one of the organizers and charter members of the once famous "Fourth Street Horribles," an organization which afterwards developed into the Mozart Club, a musical association. Of this organization, which a few people still remember there is but one member now living—Mr. J. R. Johnson, of Philadelphia.

Associates Bereaved.
At a meeting yesterday of the Grain and Cotton Exchange, of which Mr. Bass was a member, five members were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressing the bereavement of the Exchange at Mr. Bass's death. Those appointed were Messrs. N. R. Savage, II.

A. Justis, W. F. Richardson, Jr., Charles L. Todd and George T. King. The committee makes its report to-day at 11:30 A. M.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from St. Mark's Church, the services being conducted by Rev. Dr. W. E. Evans, of Monumental Church. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

The pall-bearers are: Active—Messrs. John S. Harwood, George T. King, Frank Deane, Horace G. Carter, John A. Upshur, S. T. Beveridge, Walter J. Todd and C. W. Win-

MR. W. UPSHUR BASS.

Honorary—Joseph Montgomery, R. A. Justice, Thomas L. Moore, N. R. Savage, George C. Gary, Thomas S. Winn, John F. Jacob and G. T. Simpson.
The following detail from Pickett Camp will attend the funeral: J. E. Sullivan, W. M. Foster, E. Stranberry, P. P. Winston, S. R. Gates, R. N. Northern, C. T. Lohr and Lucian Jackson.
The following from Lee Camp will also attend the funeral: Major John W. Johnston, P. Dean, John N. Gordon, Alex. Jennings, George William Jarvis, A. O. Jones, W. E. Moore and Dr. T. E. Stratton.

John Pleasant Harwood.
Mr. John Pleasant Harwood, one of the oldest citizens of Church Hill, died at 1 o'clock this morning at his residence, No. 298 East Broad Street. He had been in feeble health for many months, and for several weeks it had been apparent that the end was near.
Mr. Harwood was a native of Henrico and had spent his long and useful life of eighty-one years here. He was a carriage trimmer by occupation, and worked with the largest houses here until a few years ago, when the state of his health forced him to give up active pursuits.

Mr. Harwood had been an active and useful member of Leigh Street Baptist Church since early manhood. He was bright and genial in disposition, and even in ill health always seemed cheerful. He served faithfully in the Confederate army, and there had the affectionate regard of his comrades, as he had all through life had the esteem and confidence of his friends.

Mr. Harwood is survived by his wife and four children—Mr. James C. Harwood, principal of the colored Normal and High School; Mrs. John Bagby, Mr. John Harwood, of Newport News, and Master Garland Harwood.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Funeral of Mr. Tinken.

The funeral of Mr. Louis Tinken, who died at the residence of his mother, Mrs. William Tinken, No. 529 Louisiana Street, Sunday night at 10:15 o'clock, took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

Mr. Tinken was in his twenty-seventh year, and had been in poor health for some time. He recently returned from Asheville, N. C., where he went with hopes of regaining health, apparently much benefited. He was confined to his bed only two days before the end came.

FROM THE FRONT.

John Fox Has Experiences With the Army in Manchuria.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., Nov. 2.—John Fox, Jr., the novelist and magazine writer, is at his home at Big Stone Gap, after an absence of four months in Manchuria, where he went as the representative of Scribner's Magazine. Mr. Fox says he had a most interesting trip from the standpoint of seeing a goodly portion of the world, but that it was a great disappointment as regards the business for which he went. Because he was not a military man, the Japanese would not permit him to go to the front, and he was never nearer the firing line than about six miles. He was, therefore, never permitted to see an engagement that he might describe for the publication he represented an engagement from his own point of view.
Mr. Fox went as far as Liao Yang, and on his return came by way of Shanghai, Nagasaki and Yokohama. The last night Mr. Fox spent in Kueichow he was under arrest as a Russian spy, and had to spend one night in captivity. He was arrested by a Japanese officer who had graduated at Yale University. Having been unable to prove the authorities that he meant well, although disappointed in not getting to the front, he was released.
Mr. Fox says the war will continue as long as the Russians are willing to fight. If the Russians keep on fighting, Mr. Fox says, they are bound to win in the end. He says that the Japanese seem to be oblivious to the thought of death. They have absolutely no fear.

GOVERNMENT CABLE.

A Step in the General Improvement of the Coast Telegraph.

of the catastrophe was fully known undertakers and others were summoned and the gruesome work of recovering the bodies of the dead and preparing them for burial was begun, and continued during the greater part of the morning, the work being witnessed by a large number of people.

Heroic Measures.

Heroic measures have been taken by the city for the relief of the homeless and suffering, who were rendered so by a catastrophe which wrings the heart of every man, woman and child here. Although most of those who came within the path of this river of death were carried to a watery grave, there were some miraculous escapes. A notable case was that of William Adams and wife (colored), who were asleep at the time the reservoir burst. Their house, which is situated to the northeast of the reservoir, was flooded and they were carried in their bed to the railroad junction, a distance of five hundred yards, both of them escaping without a bruise.
A white man who was in the street at the time the catastrophe occurred, escaped unhurt by clinging to a fence after being carried a few feet by the flood.

A colored boy, who rushed to the street upon hearing the crash of falling walls and a hard race for life, barely missing the flood of water in time to escape unhurt.
John Jordan, a white boy, about fifteen years of age, who lives fifty yards from the reservoir, awoke at 7 o'clock, knowing nothing of the terrible calamity. Upon investigation, he found, to his horror, that his mother and sister had been badly injured.

A Pathetic Case.

Mr. John Poe, janitor at the court-house, left his home and went to the

EXCURSION to NEW YORK!

The Old Dominion Steamship Company's eleventh annual personally conducted excursion to New York, account of New York Horse Show, November 14th to 19th, will leave Richmond via Old Dominion Night Line, Friday, November 12th, at 7 P. FARE FOR ROUND TRIP ONLY $12.00, GOOD FOR TEN DAYS, Including Meals and State Room Berth on Steamer.

As New York is crowded during Horse Show week, apply early and secure good steamer and hotel reservations.

JOHN F. MAYER, Agent, 808 East Main Street.

court-house about 4 o'clock this morning. Hearing of the disaster, he rushed home, arriving on the scene in time to see his wife and daughter in the embrace of a remorseless death.

There were some scenes in connection with the affair sufficiently horrible to rend the heart of the most unimpressionable. Mrs. Martin Peoples, whose house, next to the reservoir, was damaged, was pined under a mass of brick and mortar, crying piteously for release from an awful fate, but a merciful death relieved her agony.

"Save me! save me!" cried a boy who was being carried onward by the awful flood, but he cried for relief that could come only too late.

It was thought at first that Below Pond would be drained in the effort to find the bodies of some who are missing, but this will probably be abandoned owing to the fact that the officers are of the opinion that such action would endanger health.

Parties who live near the reservoir say that they thought at first that the shock felt in that neighborhood was due to an earthquake. One man says that the shock was felt a considerable distance away. In one house, a negro woman and six children were awakened by the rushing water just in time to be saved from a watery grave by swimming out of danger.

The reservoir was built by the Winston Water Company, composed of about sixty citizens, in 1882. It was sold to the city of Winston in 1894. They added ten feet to its height and extended it six feet.

The city has an abundant supply of water left for all purposes. A large stand pipe was recently completed in connection with a new and larger water plant.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET.

An Injunction Bars Action of Purchase by Seaboard Road.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., Nov. 2.—The stockholders of the Seaboard Air Line Railway held a special meeting today at the office of W. R. Mokenney, in this city, to consider the purchase of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad. All stockholders were represented either in person or by proxy. As an injunction had been applied for by the holders of some securities of the Seaboard and Roanoke road, and this case was pending in the United States Court, no action was taken, and the meeting was adjourned until November 17th. The regular annual meeting of the Seaboard stockholders will be held here on November 19th.
