

MILLION-DOLLAR PLANT AT ORE HILL

Corporation Chartered by Frank Hollingshead for Mining Gold in Carolina.

GIVE HIM GREAT POWER

Attorney-General, Under Justice Bill, Could Be Dangerous to All Corporations.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) RALEIGH, N. C., February 9.—A million-dollar corporation with all the capital subscribed was chartered this morning for Ore Hill, Rowan county. The name of the company is the Southern Mining Company, and the principal incorporator is Frank Hollingshead, of Ore Hill. He has all except ten shares of the stock. The company is to mine gold, silver, copper and other minerals, operating in any State of the Union.

There is much gratification hereabouts at the passage by the Senate of the bill to require the Adjutant-General of the North Carolina National Guard to reside in Raleigh during his term of office, the salary being increased $100 per year. Adjutant-General T. R. Robertson moved here from Charlotte several months ago under instructions from Governor Glenn, confident that a bill requiring the change to be permanent would pass the Assembly. It was held up a week or two, but there is every assurance the House will concur in the action of the Senate and make the bill a law.

The Fish and Fisheries Committee of the House of Representatives has agreed on a bill that will prohibit in the Pamlico River and tributaries and other waters of Eastern Carolina nets of less than one and one-half inch mesh. This is to put a stop to catching the smaller fish in the waters. The law at present allows one-inch mesh for the nets. The Cape Fear section is not affected by the bill.

Modify Justice Bill. Speaker Justice, of the House, has asked the Judiciary Committee of the Senate to allow him to strike out all the sections of his bill enlarging the powers of the Attorney-General, which has passed the House, except those particularly conferring on the Attorney-General the right and power to investigate public service corporations, institute actions against them and send for persons and papers. He wants especially to eliminate the section as to solicitors, making them assistants to the Attorney-General, and putting them on salaries, as the Senate has already passed a bill as to solicitors' salaries. The committee has consented to the curtailment of the bill, but has not yet decided on the vital question of "favorable" or "unfavorable" report. It is suspected that a very strong following in the Senate does not look with high favor on the bill, which certainly gives an Attorney-General of the State very sweeping powers, possible of dangerous abuse if that official was inclined to "make

PRETTY WEDDING IN SUSSEX COUNTY

Miss Minnie M. Chappell Becomes Bride of Mr. Thomas Eldridge Thornton.

OTHER VIRGINIA MARRIAGES

Mr. Haskins and Miss Purcell Wed at Wyllysville—Surprise Marriage at Claremont.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BOOKER, VA., February 9.—Readville Baptist Church (Sussex County) was the scene of a very pretty marriage Wednesday afternoon when Miss Minnie M. Chappell, daughter of Mr. A. Julius Chappell, became the wife of Mr. Thomas Eldridge Thornton, of Buena Vista.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and potted plants, and the light of many candles shed a subdued glow over the whole scene.

Messrs. L. P. Hargrave, Jr., Jesse Hargrave, Edward and Robert Chappell were the ushers. Miss Nellie Vaughan, of Petersburg, who preceded the bride, was attired in white organdy and carried pink carnations.

The bride entered with her father and met the groom at the altar with his best man, Mr. H. C. Thornton, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Edwards, pastor of the church. The wedding marches were exquisitely rendered by Dr. Valden A. Thornton, of the University College of Medicine.

Bridal Costume.

The bride was gowned in white organdy and lace, her veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower of white carnations and fern.

After the ceremony the happy couple left for their future home at Sussex Courthouse, where a reception was tendered them, at which quite a number of their friends were present.

Those from a distance who attended the wedding were Messrs Daley Slater and Nellie Vaughan, of Petersburg; Miss Cecile Thornton, of Suffolk, and Dr. Valden Thornton, of Richmond, and Mr. E. Thornton, of Buena Vista.

LOUDOUN WEDDING.

Miss Pearl Purcell Becomes Bride of Mr. Langston Haskins.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WYLLYSVILLE, VA., February 9.—Lebanon Methodist Church was the scene of a most beautiful marriage Wednesday last.

The contracting parties were Miss H. Pearl Purcell, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Purcell, of this county, and Mr. E. Langston Haskins, a most popular and successful business man of Loudoun county.

The bridal party, coming in carriages from the home of the bride's parents, arrived in the following order: The groom, accompanied by his best man, and the bride by her maid-of-honor. After the church-ushers, Messrs. Charles Hamilton and Meredith Farrar, had seated the audience and spread the aisles with white canvases, the doors were closed for a few minutes, during which time the party arranged in the order in which they filed into the church. The doors were opened, and to the strains of Mendelssohn's march, rendered by the church organist, Miss Katherine Brineman, the groom, with his best man, Mr. John B. Purcell, brother of the bride, approached the altar, preceded by three couples of ushers, Messrs. Hamilton, Purcell, Spencer, Langston, and W. E. McGuire, who took right and left positions on either side of the chancel. The bride, attired in a handsome dark-blue cloth tailor suit, carrying a bouquet of white roses, followed, with her cousin, Miss Lillie Hooker, of Richmond, maid of honor.

The church was made dark and lamps lighted, which gave a most attractive effect. The chancel was beautifully decorated with running cedar, ferns and white flowers, over which was suspended an exceedingly artistic piece of work, designed by Mrs. S. E. Spaulding, being in the shape of a large heart, pierced by an arrow, draped in white ribbon.

As the stately couple stood under the arch the ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. K. Walker, pastor of the church.

After congratulations from the minister, Mr. and Mrs. Haskins proceeded to the carriage, followed by the attendants, where they remained a short time to receive the best wishes of their many friends. They took the northbound train for an extended trip, after which they will return to Loudoun, which is to be their future home.

Mrs. Haskins was the recipient of numerous handsome presents.

Smith—Tines.

CLAREMONT, VA., February 9.—At the presence, last Sunday evening at 8:30 P. M., Rev. E. B. Druen, of the church, Mr. and Mrs. Tines, formerly of Illinois, now of Surry county. Quite an assembly of friends witnessed the ceremony, although it will be a surprise to many of their friends.

Byrd—Small.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) STAUNTON, VA., February 9.—Mrs. Nannie Norvell Small, of Augusta county, and Mr. William T. Byrd were married Wednesday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. B. Druen. The bride is only seventeen years old, while the groom is forty-nine. They will make their home near Basic City.

Thompson—Allen.

STAUNTON, VA., February 9.—Mr. Everett L. Thompson and Miss Agatha B. Allen were married here last evening, the ceremony taking place in the middle of Gay Street, on Sears Hill. They will make their home in Verona, Augusta county.

RECORDS ARE TOO SACRED TO LOAN

Fredericksburg Masons Forced to Deny Request of Daughters of American Revolution.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FREDERICKSBURG, VA., February 9.—At a meeting of Masonic Lodge, No. 4, of this city, last night the request of Betty Washington Lewis Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of this city, for the loan of the records, showing when Washington was made a Mason in the lodge here, and the Bible on which he took the oath of Masonry, for exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition, was denied for the reason that the records are too sacred and valuable to be placed on public exhibition.

This lodge will celebrate Washington's birthday in elaborate style. Rev. Dr. George H. Ray, the grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Virginia, has been chosen as the orator of the occasion, and there will be other features, including a banquet. Ladies will be present, each member being entitled to bring one.

There was no train over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad from this city to Washington, D. C., on Monday, as the boiler of the engine sprang a leak and repairs could not be made in time for the trip on Friday, but the train left on schedule this morning.

HAVE A NEW SCHOOL.

Preparing for Erection of One at Charlotte Courthouse.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) EUREKA MILLS, VA., February 9.—The School Board of Madison, Walton and Henrico Districts, is preparing to erect at Charlotte courthouse a few days ago for the purpose of completing arrangements for the building of a new schoolhouse in that town, decided to erect a building costing $16,000 on the site of the present schoolhouse. The old building, which is a brick structure, is to be torn down, and as much as possible of the material is to be used in the building of the new house. When completed the new schoolhouse will be a modern and up-to-date in all of its structure and furnishings.

It is proposed to make of the school an institution where the higher branches will be taught in the boys and girls, and the building for the advanced classes in colleges, the university or for a business life.

FALLING TREE CATCHES WOMAN, INJURING HER

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ETTMERSBURG, VA., February 9.—Eliza Nelson, colored, was accidentally hurt yesterday. She was out in the woods with her son, twelve years old, getting wood. The tree struck her on the head and she fell down a tree. Ice and snow on the ground caused Eliza to slip while running when she found the tree leaning in the wrong way. The tree caught her, and broke one leg in two places and fractured her skull. She is in a critical condition. Dr. Hays Campbell is looking after her.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—In the third game of International Rugby football series here today, Ireland beat England by 17-9.

FUND ALMOST AT STANDSTILL NOW

Yesterday was not a good day for the Confederate Reunion fund, which practically came to a standstill. On Friday the contributions aggregated $1,231; yesterday they were increased only $10. The donor of this gift, which saved the day, was Mr. G. F. Jones.

The old soldiers so far have got $11,124.75 for their fund, which means that they still raise nearly $14,000, even if the city helps things out with a $20,000 appropriation. It cannot be denied that the veterans are discouraged by yesterday's lonesome contribution, but if hopefulness and zeal count for aught, they will yet raise the money they need.

None deny that it will be spent in a splendid cause, and laying the sentiment aside, it must be admitted that never in the world would it do for Richmond to prove herself lacking in the matter of hospitality when the veterans of Lee were to assemble here to attend the meeting of the Grand Camp.

WHY JAPANESE WANT TO FIGHT. Real Secret of the Antipathy of the Little Yellow People.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY MADE. Action of the American Vice-Consul at Yokohama Caused All the Hard Feeling.

BY WALTER EDWARD HARRIS. WASHINGTON, D. C., February 9.—The precise cause of the anti-American feeling which exists in Japan to such an extent as to cause conservative statesmen of this country, at least, to predict war between the two powers in a few weeks or months or years, has been discovered at last, after much search and more or less vain speculation.

It had been generally assumed that the control of the trade of those countries fronting on the Pacific Ocean was the fundamental cause of Japanese opposition to Americans. Of course, the school authorities of San Francisco made a lot of trouble by refusing to allow Japanese children to be educated in the schools for white children, and the labor unions of that State protested, and are still protesting, against being thrown out of jobs by the little yellow men, who demonstrate so readily their ability to do anything a white workman can do, from waiting on the table and mixing the courses at a dinner to repairing the plumbing and charging three prices for the same.

It is known that both the President and Secretary Root, who is negotiating, or trying to negotiate, a treaty with the Japanese which shall settle all differences between the two countries, took much the foregoing view of the situation. This view, in fact, was the view of the average citizen of intelligence, who had nothing more than the daily papers upon which to rely for information.

Great Light Breaks. But a great light has broken upon the bedimmed and befogged minds of those who were trying to patch up the international differences. The information does not come through diplomatic representatives of America in Japan, nor through secret agents of this government, slouching in the kingdom of the Mikado. It is in the consular service that scores. It is Vice-Consul Babbitt, formerly of Dorchester, Mass., now stationed at Yokohama, that credit has been given, as will be given, or should be given, for flooding a dark question with an all-satisfying light.

Mr. Babbitt, in a recent communication, dwells upon the initial surprise of foreign potentates at the fact that consuls and vice-consuls of the United States do not wear uniforms; that they should on all occasions appear in the extremely ordinary dress of the American citizen, unless he happen to be in the army or navy, or a bell-boy, or street car man, or policeman.

With this introductory remark, Vice-Consul Babbitt says that at a recent diplomatic "function" in Yokohama, rather than offend the Japanese, he appeared in a dress suit, although the hour was along about the middle of the forenoon. And the Japs still refuse to be pacified.
