

MRS. BYWATERS TO BE IN COURT

Likely That the Young Widow Will Appear To-Morrow. VENIRE COMING ON EVERY TRAIN

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CULPEPER, VA., February 23.—With the selection of the trial jury in the Strothers-Bywaters murder case on next Monday from the venire of fifty summoned from Shenandoah county there will be nothing in the way of the case going to trial, as all the witnesses, including Mrs. Viola Strothers Bywaters, widow of William F. Bywaters, will be promptly on hand. The defense has summoned as yet no witnesses, as they say they will rely on whatever witnesses the Commonwealth has. The sheriff of this county, with some of the venire from Shenandoah, has arrived, and the remaining part of those summoned as jurymen will be here Sunday afternoon, being from far parts of the county from the railroad. Neither Mrs. Bywaters nor her sister, Mrs. Gaines, nor the husband of the latter, E. L. Gaines, have been subpoenaed for the State. These are the two sisters and brother-in-law of the accused Strother boys, and the only eyewitnesses of the shooting of Bywaters at the Strother residence in December last. Both the Strothers, Philip and James, expressed themselves to-day as being both willing and ready for their case to go to trial on Monday. A large number of friends and sympathizers of the defendants are here from the home of James E. Strother, in Welch, W. Va., where he is a practicing lawyer and a member of the State Legislature. There will be a large crowd at court during the progress of the trial.

Venire From Shenandoah. WOODSTOCK, VA., February 22.—Deputy Sheriff J. A. Bowersett, of Culpeper county, who was assisted by Daniel Spiker, sheriff of Shenandoah county, completed the work of summoning a venire of fifty men from Shenandoah county to-night. From this venire it is expected that the jury in the Strother-Bywaters case will be secured, which is on trial at Culpeper. Special arrangements will be made to convey the jurymen to Culpeper, they leaving here on the afternoon train in time for court on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The venire as summoned, which was secured without much difficulty, is: Asa A. Shoetz, E. M. Bushong, T. B. Winfield, C. C. Stiles, J. E. Bushong, M. A. Price, S. C. Henkel, Daniel Lichten, Frank Hookman, J. F. Holtzman, W. C. Lantz, James R. Baker, G. H. Haun, Josiah Wisman, James O. Bott, Charles O. Keller, A. A. Stuckey, W. Frank Bowman, S. M. Baker, C. M. Childs, P. N. Jarrett, J. C. Townes, John W. Copp, W. H. Fleming, W. W. Bird, J. I. Goffan, William Hockman, Fletcher Bowman, John Spitzer, John D. Goldaday, K. J. Rowman, H. T. Poor Show for The Dyspeptic

Poisoned Stomach, Clogged Brain, Wandering Attention, Failure—Allas He Seizes His Opportunity. There's no good reason for any man's remaining a dyspeptic—a burden to himself and family, when he should be a producer. There's only one reason why he has been a dyspeptic and that is because he has overworked his stomach so that it cannot secrete the acids and work the muscles necessary to digest the food.

Failure Staring Him in the Face. What the dyspeptic must do is to help the stomach out. It is full of a poisonous pile of fermenting, massing food, instead of being assimilated and carried by the blood to make nerve and muscle and rebuild the waste tissues. It lies a stagnant mass. First, take an unobtrusive cathartic and get rid of this food. Then take a second stomach package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from any drugstore and take one at each meal and at bed time. These tablets work by digesting while the stomach is regaining its force. Why? Because Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the very elements which your stomach possessed when it was healthy—pepsin, diastase, golden seal and others. It was because your stomach kept losing its supply of these digestive ferments that you became dyspeptic. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do the work simply, surely, and without injury. They are not a medicine, but the working out of a scientific principle upon the food you eat. Human beings are in far worse condition than you have been positively cured of dyspepsia by these wonderful little tablets. Forty thousand physicians in the United States and Canada recommend them. If you are uncertain and wish further proof, send us your name and address to-day for a free trial package, which we will gladly mail you at once. P. A. Stuart Co., 14 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

She writes of this wonderful cure: "I thought that it was my duty to let you know what your wonderful Safe Cure has done for me, as there may be somebody suffering as I was. I had a tumor, and my doctor told me that I would have to go to Cambridge Hospital to be operated on. He gave me a permit to the hospital at Cambridge. The doctor examined me, and he said it was too dangerous a place to tackle in the warm season of the year. He would wait until after the last of October, and he would send to Baltimore after the doctors to come down and assist him about cutting the tumor out. It was about 4 inches long, on a very dangerous artery. Returning from Cambridge, I stopped at a store and bought a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and commenced taking it according to directions. The tumor nearly gone, and I got another bottle, and took half of that, and I was finally cured when the last of August came without being operated on. If you wish to use my name, you are perfectly welcome to do so. I am known in Cambridge and in Dorchester and several other counties. I reside near Cabin Creek, Lillian F. Coulbourn, East Market, R. SMALL SENSATION IN STATE LIBRARY

Mrs. S. S. P. Patteson Alleged to Have Called Employees Rascals.

ACTION BY THE ASSISTANTS

Long Correspondence Ends and Member of Board Disclaims Any Intention to Insult.

A mild sensation that has been brewing some days was precipitated yesterday afternoon in the Virginia State Library by the publication of certain correspondence, on the one hand, alleging that the Hon. S. P. Patteson, a member of the library board, had denounced as "rascals" employees of the institution who figured in the recent investigation and on the other disclaiming the supposed insult, and explaining the circumstances under which the offensive term was used.

The principals in the affair decline to discuss it further than is set forth in the correspondence itself. Mr. Patteson distinctly states that what he said was not intended to apply to any of the library employees, any one of the witnesses, or any member of the legislative investigating committee. It appeared to him, however, that the inquiry was more hurtful than beneficial to the public service. Members of the committee refused last night to comment upon this latter statement, a telegram to Chairman Hyrd, of Winchester, brought forth the reply that he preferred to express no opinion until he had an opportunity to see the text of the letters. As far as the library employees themselves are concerned, it was stated last night that the incident is closed.

The Correspondence.

A series of six letters was exchanged between the library assistants and Mr. Patteson. The first letter, written by all the assistants—Messrs. Edward S. Evans, H. J. Eckonrod, F. B. Berkeley, W. C. Landon, and Mrs. K. R. Minor—demanded an explanation from Mr. Patteson as to which he referred to when he used the term "rascals." Mr. Patteson, in his reply, said that the writers had no right to demand such an explanation from him; that he deemed their note discourteous, and that they must name their informant and give him the alleged conversation. He addressed a separate note to Mrs. Minor, disclaiming entirely that he had ever used such a word in reference to her. Mrs. Minor acknowledged the note and accepted Mr. Patteson's disclaimer.

Mr. Patteson's Reply. In his reply Mr. Patteson stated that he thought his correspondents cared more for publication than vindication, and enclosed a written statement given him by Mr. DeSaussure. Mr. Patteson said that he did not denounce any one, and that what he said was not intended to apply to any of the witnesses or to any of the board. He expressed himself as follows:

"I did not 'denounce' any one, nor was what I said intended to apply to you or to any one of the witnesses, or any member of the committee. It appeared to me from what I saw that the investigation was more hurtful than beneficial to the public service. As you propose to publish this, it is only fair to state that the word 'rascally' was used hastily, in a moment of irritation, and that I should not have used it."

Had you been more explicit in your first note, I could have seen Mr. DeSaussure and given you an earlier answer. In that part of his statement referring directly to what transpired in the Library Building elevator, where the conversation in which the term "rascals" was used, Mr. DeSaussure says:

"The whole conversation was without premeditation, and occurred in the short time it took for the elevator to go from the ground floor to the third—scarcely more than a quarter of a minute. Since your statement to me (to which you replied: 'It was a rascally proceeding,') having reference only to the proceeding—that is, to the method of investigating, not to any individuals—I can see very well how I may have misunderstood the tenor of your statement. I am, of course, except Kennedy's, and that by me, as above explained."

The Final Word. In the concluding letter of the series, the library assistants, with the exception of Mrs. Minor, who had no drawn out of the controversy, stated that the declaration of Mr. DeSaussure was entirely at variance with that which came to them incidentally through Mr. DeSaussure. This final communication ended as follows:

"Since, however, you disclaim having referred to us, or to any of us, on this occasion, and as having referred only to the proceeding before the committee of investigation (for which proceedings we were in no way responsible), we, of course, accept your disclaimer. We think it proper to add that your statement, that we seem more anxious for 'publication than vindication' is entirely gratuitous, and so far from this being true, it seemed to us, from what we had heard of the public manner in which you had spoken of us, that 'publication' of the correspondence was the only course left to us to pursue in order to secure vindication."

Duffy's Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

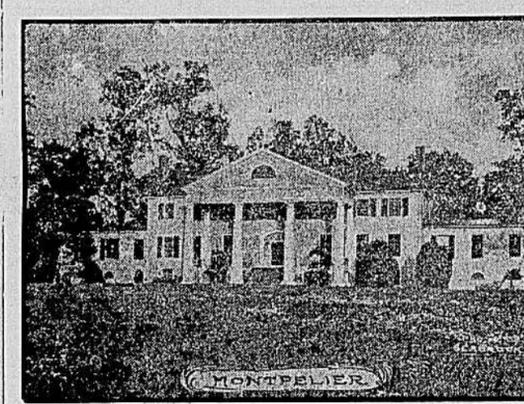

Mr. John Owen, of Chicago, Ill., who was a fireman and is now an engineer, is very grateful to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for his restoration to health.

He was laid up with severe pains in body and limbs, and had almost given up hope of recovery.

He was cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey after all other medicines failed, and recommends it to all those who suffer as he did.

"I have been a fireman, and had pains in my back and limbs so bad I had to give up work, as it is bad business for a man who has executed his duty to try several so-called remedies, but with no improvement, as it is a very stubborn sickness to cure. At last I used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which a kind neighbor gave me, and it worked miracles on me. After taking four bottles I was able to resume work. "I am very grateful to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, as I have been promoted from fireman to engineer since my recovery. Had I not been cured this could not have taken place. I would not be without Duffy's as a medicine, no matter what it cost. You may publish this testimonial all you wish."—JOHN OWEN, 285 Ogden St., Chicago, Ill., May 31, 1906.

MONTPELIER, THE HOME OF PRESIDENT MADISON

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MONTPELIER, VA., February 23.—"Montpelier," the home of James Madison, President of the United States, is three miles west of the town of Orange, Va. It is one of the handsomest of old colonial structures, and is surrounded by large grounds full of monster trees, natural dell and ravine. Since the death of Madison it has passed through many hands, but all have respected the noble lines of the original building, and it is still unchanged. For a long time it was owned by an Englishman, who took great pride in preserving everything as Madison left it. He also allowed sightseers to go through the house, and the public to plenty at will in the grounds. It is now owned by a wealthy man from the North, and is strictly private property, but the traveling public, if on the look-out, can see the building and part of the grounds from the south windows of the cars of the Southern Railway, about half way between Orange and Somerset. The tombs of President Madison, General Madison, and their immediate families, are in a graveyard, surrounded by a brick wall, about one-half mile from the house. The grave of the President is marked by a shaft some eighteen feet tall, erected by his admirers, and bears in large letters the single word, "Madison."

CHESS TROPHY GOES TO ENGLISH PLAYERS

NEW YORK, February 23.—America lost the international chess match with the British team which finished to-day, the British score being 5-1-2 to 4-1-2 for the Americans. The day's play, however, was very satisfactory for the Americans, who came out of the match in much better shape than was expected when the game closed yesterday. The sensation of the day was Hampton's win from Ward after his position seemed to call for a draw. Two Americans, Hampton and Howell, won their games, while three Britishers, Atkins, Richmond and Wainwright, were victorious. The other five games resulted in draws. The results: American, 1-2; British, 3-1. Match 1: 1-2, Burne, 1-2; Barry, 0; Atkins, 1-3; Hodges, 1-2; Lawrence, 1-3; Vlogt, 1-2; Blackburne, 1-2; Morgan, 0; Richmond, 1; Fox, 1-2; Lee, 1-2; Ward, 0; Hampton, 1; Wainwright, 1-2; Holmes, 1-2; Howell, 1; Mitchell, 0; Robinson, 0; Wainwright, 1; American, 1-2; Great Britain, 5-1-2.

MANAGER PENDER ABSENT

Illness Keeps Him From Norfolk. NORFOLK, VA., February 23.—Manager Pender, of the Norfolk baseball club, has been delayed in his arrival here on account of the extreme illness of his wife at her home in Biloxi, Miss. There is no hope for Mrs. Pender's recovery, and the manager of the "Tercentennial" can do no more than wait the end, now no more than a few days off. Pender writes Mr. William Hannon that he will be here as soon as possible.

The welfare of the local ball club, however, has not been allowed to suffer as a result of the manager's bereavement. He himself has kept in touch with players, as has Mr. Hannon at this end, and a strong aggregation of players from which to select the team has been lined up. Players will soon be drifting in for the early spring practice.

TEAM PERSONNEL. Manager Baker, of Winchester, Announces His Team.

WINCHESTER, VA., February 23.—Manager Baker, of the Winchester baseball team, has about completed his line-up for the coming season. With the exception of a couple of players it will represent the same aggregation that won eighty-five per cent. of all games played last summer. This record included shut-outs for such teams as the Danville team of the Virginia League. The following will wear the Winchester uniform: Catchers, Woodruff and Noyes, of Washington; pitchers, Shine (Winchester), Cantwell (Georgetown University), Gallagher (Washington), Felsler (Marion Military Institute, Alabama); first base, McDonald (Washington); second base, Schiller (Georgetown University); third base, Parrish (Chambersburg); shortstop and captain, Baker (Winchester); left, Brown (Washington and Lee); centre, Dugan (Georgetown University); right, yet to be filled.
