WON'T DRAG OTHERS INTO THE THAW TRIAL

Jerome Ignoring the Mention of Craig Wadsworth and Men Evelyn Thaw Knew.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Of all those whose names were whispered in the course of the Thaw trial to the district attorney by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw as having been connected with different episodes in her life, Mr. Thaw is reported to be particularly round an attaché of the American Embassy in London, who was referred to as Stanford White by Thaw in his deposition.

It is felt, says the paper, "to suppose that the matter will blow over if something is not done at an early issue." It was rumored yesterday that District Attorney Jerome had received a number of names of persons who could give valuable information to the people at this juncture in the case.

THAW'S TRIAL TO COST BOTH SIDES $350,000

State's Share of This Sum Will Be Approximately $100,000. Experts Expensive.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Harry K. Thaw's fight to save the life of the State contents has been forfeited by the death of Stanford White will cost the young man close to a quarter of a million dollars, and the State will receive a sum of $100,000 from the State's attempt to send the wealthy defendant to the chair will be in excess of $100,000.

Perhaps the greatest expenditure incidentally is the hiring of experts. The men chosen on both sides in the Thaw trial are at the head of their profession. Besides large salaries, they have required a considerable amount of persuasion to bring them away from their regular work to submit to the examination concerning their qualifications.

Next in order, so far as expense goes, come the lawyers. Those who are retained in an advance of $100,000. The expenses of the Thaw case, however, out of the large array of counsel in court only one man will receive an amount out of proportion to the general fee given in a murder trial.

GRATIFYING IMPROVEMENT

So gratifying was the improvement to-day that the President and Dr. Lambert felt that they could safely leave the lad in the care of others, and they went away from the White House twice. At 12 o'clock this afternoon the President, accompanied by Dr. Lambert, went to Representative Longworth's residence, where they had luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, returning to the White House at 3 o'clock. At 4 o'clock the boy went out with Dr. Lambert for a long walk.

BASKETBALL

Three Teams Tied in Y. M. C. A. League.

The game Saturday night in the Young Men's Christian Association Basketball League, between the Spartans and the Celts, was a surprise party. In the first half the Spartans led by two points, but in the second half the Celts got after their opponents to the tune of 18 to 4. The final score was 22 to 10. This leaves the Britons, Greeks and Spartans tied for first place, the Celts having a chance for first place. Though the Romans and Saxons are out of the race for the championship, they will give the others something to do before the season closes. Both teams have lost a number of games by one or two points.
