WHAT TO DO TO WIN A T. D. C. C. MEDAL

Dear Children of the Club:
Several of you have asked me "What must I do to win a medal?" Well, you may win a T. D. C. C. medal just as you win everything else—by careful, painstaking work. The medals go each month to the boy and girl who do the very best work. That means that you must contribute frequently and well, so that whether you win prizes or whether your contributions are always published, the general merit of your contributions is taken into consideration.

Throughout the year, month I am on the lookout for careful, orderly and high-grade work, and then when the month is ended I go critically over the page for each week and select the two medalists.

Sometimes I have known boys and girls who begin by sending in the stories that were in no way extraordinary, but who improved so rapidly in neatness and general excellence that they won first a prize and finally a medal. It was just another case of care and persistence that I am always trying to impress upon you.

Those of you who have won the medals know that they are really beautiful pieces of jewelry and are well worth trying for. I hope I have answered all those who did not understand, and I say again, that the way to win a medal is to "keep on trying."

Hope that you will all do your best, I am,
THE EDITOR.

LEISURE TIME IN SUMMER.

I will tell the boys and girls how my two brothers and a number of us boys spend our leisure time during the summer. There is no new, but a creek running through about the center of our father's land. We go down to the creek and we have a hole to creek-bathe in. We have a dog named Shep who likes to go down to the creek with us. We first went by a brook which was on its banks covered with wild violets, and we stopped and gathered a large bunch and then took the dog and carriage and started off again, who just about that time the driver, who was called John, spied a sleeping rabbit and grabbed him hurriedly. While she was asleep she thought some fairies came to her, and the Fairy Queen asked her to go with her to Fairyland. While she was there she saw a beautiful fairy dressed in a gown spangled with beautiful stones, and on her head she wore a lovely crown of precious stones. She told Susan that she was the princess of Fairyland, and she asked her if she would stay in Fairyland a while, and she would stay awhile, but she said she would have to see her mother some time.

THE ADVENTURES OF A PIECE OF CLOTH.

I was first cotton, then I was put in an immense machine, and woven into cloth. I was carried for numerous miles abroad, until at last I reached a large wholesale store on Broad Street. I stayed there several months, everybody viewing my most beautiful appearance. So one day, Mrs. Lovebond, a very wealthy lady, came into the store and wanted some cloth. She looked at several pieces, but none suited her as well as I did. So I was purchased with a very high price. I was then taken home and made into a pretty dress. The lady said of all her apparel, I made the most beautiful display. One Sunday she slipped me on and started out to church. It poured down rain, she held me up, ran into the house, but it was too late. As she was putting me into a trunk, where I still am now, and this is my last adventure.

MY LITTLE CHICKENS.

I have five of the cutest little chickens you ever saw. There are two little brown ones, two little black-and-yellow ones, and one little gray-and-light-yellow one. They love to have their mamma find worms for them. They are very busy all day long, and at night they go to bed. As you know, they grow very fast, and after a while they will lay eggs and will set on them for three weeks and bring out little chickens just like they were once on a time.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A MORNING GLORY SEED

I was a round seed in a small paper package with by brothers and sisters. We never quarreled, but we had the nicest of times. One day a boy came for some morning-glory seed. A man took up the package that I was in and gave it to the boy. He put us in his pocket and went out hissing. After a while he went into a beautiful little garden and commenced digging away. Presently he said, "O, I've dug my garden!" And he heard the voice of a man talking to the boy and telling him how to plant us. The boy scattered us on the ground, and for the first time in my life I saw the sunlight, but I did not see it long, because the boy threw some dirt over us. It seemed that I never would be able to get out of the horrid old ground, but first thing I knew I was swelling, and in a few days I sprouted up out of the ground. I found some strings around and was
