

SPAIN REJOICING OVER ROYAL INFANT

Son Born to Queen Victoria at Madrid; Guns Boom Glad Tidings.

CROWD WAITED IN SUSPENSE

Title of Her Presumptive Transferred to New-Born Prince, and National Holiday Declared—People Fairly Dance With Joy.

MADRID, May 10.—The news that the direct male succession to the throne of Spain has been assured by the birth to-day of a son to Queen Victoria sent a thrill of rejoicing throughout the country, and to-night the happy event is being celebrated from one end of the land to another. Queen Victoria and the child are both doing well. The hurried departure of royal messengers from the palace at 10 o'clock this morning to summon the courtiers and the members of the diplomatic corps, gave the first indication that the birth was imminent. The usual gathering outside the palace courtyard was soon swelled by immense throngs of the excited populace, who watched the continual stream of brilliantly uniformed personages driving up to the royal residence, and tried to identify the individuals.

The crowd awaited in suspense until nearly 1 o'clock, when the thundering out of the first cannon shot signified that the royal accouchement was over. The reports were counted anxiously until the fifteenth, and then a complete silence ensued. The second appeared as hours until the sixteenth shot boomed forth, and the continuation until twenty-one had been first informed the public that the royal child was a son. The sixteenth report brought forth a ringing cheer and at the same time the royal standard was hoisted over the palace and it was known that no mistake had been made.

"Long Live the King."
The people danced with joy and embraced each other, shouting "Long live the King! Long live the Queen!" They then rushed from the spot, carrying the news to the furthest points of the city.

Soon after the royal salute the flags of Spain and Great Britain were hoisted over all the public buildings of Madrid. Many business houses closed for the remainder of the day as a sign of rejoicing.

In the meanwhile the solemn ceremony of presentation was being carried out inside the palace. The mistress of the robes, carrying a huge silver tray upon which was lying the newly born royal baby, accompanied by King Alfonso and Queen Maria, appeared in the ante-chamber, and the courtiers had assembled. The young monarch appeared full of joy as the premier, raising the drapery which covered the infant on the silver tray, said:

"Gentlemen, it is a prince."
Solemn Men Cheered.
The solemn dignitaries thereupon forgot all etiquette and cheered both the King and the Queen heartily.

The Minister of Justice, Marquis Figueroa, made the birth certificate, which was signed by all the prominent personages present. The gathering then broke up.

King Alfonso telegraphed the good news to the Pope, King Edward and the rulers of other States, and later the congratulations began to come in.

The accouchement was in every respect normal, and the Queen is making very satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Her Majesty proposes herself to nourish the infant prince, who developed signs of the utmost vitality. He has a strong voice, blue eyes and a fair complexion, like his mother's.

The Queen was the first to kiss the baby, and she was followed by the two grandmothers, Princess Beatrice of Battenberg and Maria Christina, the dowager Queen of Spain.

Decrees were issued to-night ordering a national holiday throughout Spain for Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The cabinet met this afternoon, drew up and later presented to King Alfonso for his signature decrees transferring the title of her presumptive from Prince Charles of Bourbon to the new-born prince.

Boy Not Yet Named.
It has been decided that the baptism shall occur on Tuesday at noon. In court circles it is desired to name the baby Carlos, but the matter of his appellation has not yet been definitely decided.

King Alfonso to-day, in honor of the event, decreed the pardon of thousands of prisoners, including eight persons who were condemned to suffer the death penalty. The press of Spain, without reservation, rejoices in the birth of the little prince.

Married Last May.
Queen Victoria, the mother of the royal infant, was married to King Alfonso at Madrid, on May 31, 1866, amid scenes of the greatest splendor, followed by the horror of a bomb-explosion which killed scores of people and narrowly missed the royal coach in which their majesties were returning from church.

In no monarchical country in the world is the ceremonial observed at the birth of the first offspring of the King and Queen so rigidly stated and formal as in Spain, and on this occasion, so significant for the Bourbon dynasty, when an heir to the throne was so anxiously awaited, nothing was omitted from the courtly etiquette.

From the moment when Queen Victoria was officially announced to be approaching the period of maturity the most careful surveillance was ex-

FAMOUS COMMAND CELEBRATES ITS ANNIVERSARY

BLUES CELEBRATE 114TH ANNIVERSARY

Brilliant Reception and Presentation of National and State Colors.

WASHINGTON GRAYS DONATE COLORS

State Colors Given by Blues Association and Presented by Dr. Thomas Nelson Page, Major Zane Presenting National Flag—Nearly a Thousand Attend.

The celebration of the one hundred and fourteenth anniversary of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues was signalled by the presentation to the battalion of a stand of national colors by its ancient friends, the Washington Grays, of Philadelphia, and of a stand of State colors by the Richmond Light Infantry Blues Association, at a brilliant reception at the Masonic Temple last night, attended by nearly a thousand people. A more brilliant social gathering or a more charming and beautiful scene have rarely been combined in any community. The brilliancy of the uniforms, including the historic blue and white of the Blues, and the handsome full dress of the regular service, with here and there a naval officer's uniform, and occasionally a gray coat, added richness and variety of color, which stood with the superbly evocative dresses of the ladies in this human kaleidoscope, ever shifting and changing, yet always more beautiful to the beholder. It was a joyous celebration, and every one shared the spirit of the occasion and entered heartily into it.

The military and social function thus united brought together a notable assemblage of officers and distinguished men and of charming matrons and beautiful young women. The brilliancy of the uniforms, including the historic blue and white of the Blues, and the handsome full dress of the regular service, with here and there a naval officer's uniform, and occasionally a gray coat, added richness and variety of color, which stood with the superbly evocative dresses of the ladies in this human kaleidoscope, ever shifting and changing, yet always more beautiful to the beholder. It was a joyous celebration, and every one shared the spirit of the occasion and entered heartily into it.

The presentation of the flags in eloquent and patriotic addresses by distinguished men was preceded and followed by music by the large and creditable band of the organization, and by dancing, in which the gallant young soldiers and the proud, happy debutantes and those more experienced in the whirl of social gaieties revealed until "taps" was sounded, and the anniversary passed into history, to be preserved as a treasured memory by the members of the Blues' Battalion.

Distinguished Guests.
Among the honored guests of the association and the Blues Battalion were Major George B. Zane and Lieutenant Reeve, of the Washington Grays Battalion, of Philadelphia, in full dress uniform; Governor Claude A. Swanson and members of his staff; Majors C. G. Bossieux and Thomas P. Bowen, of the Second Regiment, and the captain of the Huntington Rifles, of Newport News; Captain J. M. Wortham, First Battalion of Artillery; Dr. Thomas Nelson Page, charming storyteller, novelist and historian, who is himself a former officer of the Blues; Mayor Carlton McCarthy, members of the City Council and city officials generally, and many men prominent in the business life of the city. Four of the wartime members of the Blues were present to do honor to the command of to-day. They were Captain George W. Serviss, of the First Battalion of the Civil War for a portion of the time; Captain George W. Epps, and Messrs. Thomas Lyons and C. A. Gibson, of this city.

There were doubtless many other notable persons in such a throng, but none present knew all the names, and it was impossible to secure anything like a complete list. Ensign Lindsay Walker, U. S. N., was present in uniform, representing that branch of the service.

The Blues' Battalion was present in full force and appeared in their new uniforms for the first time, these being, however, an exact duplicate of the historic garb worn by the command for so many years, and which Dr. Page in his address explained was the uniform of the Swiss Guards. Colonel Sol Cutchins, the father of the battalion, which was formed thirteen years ago by the organization of a second company, and who is now president of the Blues' Association; Major E. W. Bowen, present commander, under whose command the third company was organized; Captains Russell H. Palmire, R. Page Burwell and J. Cloyd Kent, commanding the three companies; Lieutenants E. S. Hazen, T. I. Mahoney, David Leary, Paul P. Shafer, John Randolph Tucker, James H. Drake, Thomas G. Correll, T. B. Glasbrook and Surgeon J. M. Bright, all the commissioned officers of the battalion, were present, and every non-commissioned officer and private who could possibly be there was a proud participant in the celebration. Among the former captains, besides Captain Jarvis, were Captains Clarence Wyatt and W. H. P. Mayo, old commanders, and probably others. Several of the officers of other local commands of the grade of captain were also present.

Governor Swanson's Address.
After the presentation exercises had been concluded, His Excellency Governor Claude A. Swanson, who was an honored guest, was called upon by a Colonel Cutchins, and responded in a ringing address, which aroused unbounded enthusiasm among the millionaires. The Governor was accorded a fine ovation, and his enthusiasm was kindled to a high pitch as he pledged to the volunteers his cordial support and co-operation.

SUBMARINE BOAT BROKE ALL RECORDS

Octopus Dived Beautifully and Dipped Below Tug and Barges.

JUST MISSED COLLISION

Sank to a Depth of Twenty Feet in Four and One-Half Minutes.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10.—All American records for quick diving by a submarine boat were broken to-day when the submarine Octopus went through a series of extraordinary tests in Coddingtown Cove, in a nasty sea, with a thick fog that cleared at times, and a southwest wind that blew forty miles an hour. The principal test was to determine whether the Octopus, while afloat, would be able to get submerged quickly if an enemy should be sighted. Running at full speed on the surface, propelled by gasoline engines, the Octopus received a signal from the trial board on the tender Nina. Immediately the engines were stopped and power was furnished by storage batteries; the rudders were adjusted, and the submarine took thirty-seven tons of water into her tanks and sank to a depth of twenty feet. This was accomplished within four and a half minutes after receiving the signal. A second test reduced the time by about half a minute.

When coming to the surface from one of her dives the Octopus sighted in the lifting fog a tug and tow of barges. The submarine immediately dived and escaped the danger of a collision by going down so deep in the water that the tow could pass above in safety. At another time, when the Octopus was running awash at a speed of ten knots an hour, she dived and was completely submerged in 23 seconds.

Agreement Reached Which Terminates All Possibility of Trouble.

NOT TO EXTRADITE LIMA

State Department of Mexico to Publish Guatemala's "Bad Faith."

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—The Mexican Ambassador, Mr. Creel, to-night authorized the Associated Press to say that the trouble between Mexico and Guatemala, which for several days has threatened to terminate the diplomatic relations between the two countries, has been definitely and satisfactorily adjusted. Mr. Creel to-night received advices from his home government to this effect. As to the basis of the agreement, the ambassador declined to talk.

"You make a state, however," he said, "that the trouble is now over, and that a satisfactory agreement has been reached."

MEXICO CITY, May 10.—The Guatemalan affair has been settled. Mexico will not persist in her demand for the extradition of General Jose Lima and Colonel Onofre Bone, charged with complicity in the assassination of General Barillas. Diplomatic relations will not be severed. Senor Gamboa, Mexico's Minister to Guatemala, will be sent to Salvador. A Mexican consul will attend to the country's affairs in Guatemala. At the same time Mexico will not give Senor Ghon, Guatemalan Minister to Mexico, his passports, the idea being to humiliate Guatemala and express Mexico's resentment for Cabrera's conduct during the affair.

CLAIMS THAT MOYER WAS ONCE CONVICT

Burglary Charged Against Federation President Made in Chicago.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 10.—The Journal to-day prints a long story in which it is alleged that Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, now on trial at Boise, Idaho, served as a convict in the penitentiary at Joliet in this State in 1887 and 1887.

The date of his discharge is said to have been January 4, 1884.

According to the Journal, Moyer was sentenced from Cook county on February 4, 1886, to serve one year for burglary. The date of his discharge is given as January 4, 1887.

The Journal also prints a story under the date line of Boone, Ia., which is substantially as follows:

Frank S. Moyer, chief of police of Boone for four years and now a conductor on a street car line here, is a brother of Charles H. Moyer. He said to-day to a Journal correspondent:

"I heard that Charley got into trouble in Chicago once and was arrested. Probably the less said about it the better. I know that Charley went to Chicago in 1884 or 1885, and was gone about a year and a half."

"I did not hear from him during that time. Later, Charley went to Deadwood and then to Denver. I have often heard Charley speak of Sam Williams, but I never saw Williams myself."

DETECTIVES ON TRAIL.

It appears that the Pinkerton Detective Agency, soon after the arrest of Moyer, became aware that a man named Charles H. Moyer had been in the penitentiary at Joliet. Operatives were at once set to work to collect evidence as to the identity of the convict, Charles H. Moyer, for the purpose of introducing it at the trial of Moyer.

C., May 10.—According to a dispatch by the Canadian Australian Liner Manuka from Sydney, the North-German Lloyd steamer Sumatra recently called at the Sir Charles Hardy group in the South Seas and discovered that cannibalism was being carried on to a large extent among the natives of the group.
