MACHINISTS ORDER A GENERAL STRIKE

Louisville and Nashville Affected at Many Points in the South.

MANY QUIT WORK PROMPTLY Men Go Out in Different Shops Along the System When Ordered.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 29.—A general strike of machinists on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad was ordered at 8 o'clock this morning to become effective an hour later. There are between 800 and 700 machinists employed on the road, 245 of them working in the South Louisville shops. Vice-President Buckalew, who ordered the strike upon receipt of a telegram from President O'Connell, of the International Association of Machinists, claimed that eighty per cent. of the men would go out upon receipt of the order, and that they would be followed, if it became necessary by the blacksmiths, boiler-makers and other skilled mechanics in the different shops. Between seventy-five and a hundred machinists in the South Louisville shops walked out in response to Mr. Buckalew's orders. At Montgomery, Ala., thirty-five machinists went out and no work is being done in the machine shops. Seven machinists at New Orleans, sixty at Mobile, sixty-seven at Birmingham and about twenty at Pensacola, Nashville and Knoxville are not affected.

CONGRESS INVITED TO MEET IN ATLANTA

Harvie Jordan Conveys Message to Cotton Men in Vienna.

ONE HUNDRED WILL ATTEND

Growers of Staple Take Great Interest in Effort to Ship Cheaply.

VIENNA, May 29.—The International Cotton Congress concluded its sessions to-day. Resolutions were adopted expressing satisfaction with the promises of the American growers to co-operate in measures for cheapening the processes of the transit of cotton, approving that the utmost support be given to all countries engaged in extending their area of cotton production, and accepting an invitation to hold the next congress in France.

Harvie Jordan, one of the American delegates, said to-day that his colleagues were greatly gratified with the results of the congress. They thought the resolutions adopted would have a favorable influence on the American cotton business, especially the resolution in favor of compression at the ginners or at initial points, as this would help to avoid delays in transportation. Mr. Jordan invited the members of the congress in the name of the Mayor of Atlanta to participate in the International Cotton Congress to be held in that city in October, 1907. About 100 of the delegates accepted the invitation.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., May 29.—At 11 o'clock this morning the graduating exercises in connection with the 1907 commencement of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts was held, and diplomas awarded to fifty-two graduates. Before presenting the diplomas President Winston reviewed the work of the college for the year, saying that the graduates were the survivors of 40 men who entered the college four years ago, that their average age was 22 1/2 years. There have been no deaths or serious illness among students of faculty during the year. There are 104 students in agriculture, 101 in civil engineering, 71 in mechanical engineering, 108 in electrical engineering, 15 in industrial chemistry, and 27 in the textile department. Among the student body there are eighty-five counties of the State represented, and students from eleven other States. Students earned by extra work during the year $7,000, one member of the graduating class having the remarkable record of earning his entire five years' schooling—$738.80—without outside help. He said every graduate had earned money during his course, and declared that more college students are ruined by money than all other causes combined. It is the man that makes the dollar and not the dollar that makes the man.
